

Ice storm melts away, didn't cause expected damage

Thayer County officials and Norris Public Power were feeling pretty lucky Monday and Tuesday because the expected massive outages from the ice storm didn't come to fruition.

"We were pretty lucky compared to other places," Sheriff David Lee said. "The roads were as bad as they said, but people didn't get out and if they did, they were cautious."

Tree branches were down in the Carleton area, but Emergency Manager Bill McPherson said they were easily removed from the roads.

"It's the same situation in Bruning with four to five-inch branches," McPherson said.

Approximately 65 people were without power Tuesday morning. The online Norris Public Power outage map showed several zip codes, south of Hebron, between Gilead and Hubbell and north near Bruning.

"We've been having a few outages. Nothing that terrible yet," Norris Manager of Operations Trevor Wehrer said Monday morning. He said the melting was causing power to flicker off and on in some areas.

A transmission line at the Carleton substation with a scorched wire caused a few outages, Wehrer said.

"We're feeling pretty lucky right now," Wehrer said Monday morning.

Lee said wind would have made the situation worse than the 12 calls for electrical service reported to his deputy.

The sheriff's department accident count was low as well, with a few vehicles sliding into ditches. One accident involved two semi tractor trailers on Highway 81 near the scales.

The semis were in the southbound lanes and jackknifed.

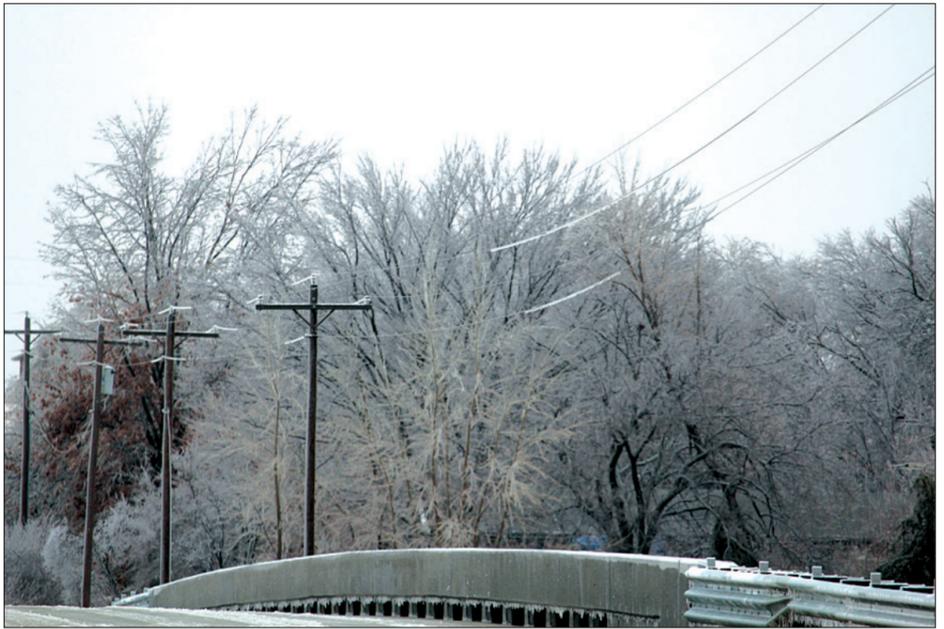

Schools and several businesses shut down Monday. Thayer Central students were back in school Tuesday with a 10 a.m. late start.

McPherson said ice accumulation was estimated at .35 in Carleton, but slightly more for Hebron.

He had advised people to avoid travel Monday morning.

He said the ice was hazardous because it had a thin layer of water on top, causing more slippage than if it was frozen.

McPherson added he submitted a status report to Nebraska Emergency Management Agency in case they needed to prepare for incidents caused by the ice storm.

Wires and poles at the Spring Creek bridge on 1st Street dripped melting ice Monday afternoon after ice rained and froze Thayer County over two days. Below, small branches caked in ice littered a yard at 9th Street and Union Avenue Monday. Not too many branches fell from the ice storm that was predicted to cause possible havoc.

Area schools, businesses and organizations were closed Monday because of ice accumulation.

Deer disease nets less than one percent

Area conservation officer, for Nebraska Game and Parks, Matt Taylor, said a sampling operation for chronic waste disease in deer was recently conducted in the southeastern part of the state.

Chronic waste disease attacks the brain of an infected deer and elk, causing emaciation, listlessness, excessive salivation and death.

The disease may be transferred through body fluids.

It was the first time for the sampling, which is on a four-year cycle.

Taylor said the sampling will not be conducted for another four years.

The region had one confirmed case of the disease, less than one percent of the total sampling.

"The disease is incurable. All the states around us have bigger issues with it," Taylor said.

Although present in Colorado and Wyoming for several decades, chronic waste disease was first discovered in Kimball County in 2000. Since 1997, commission staff have tested nearly 49,000 deer and found 296 to be positive. The disease has been found in 34 Nebraska counties, but no population declines because of the disease have occurred.

The samplings were conducted at deer check stations from the November 2016 firearm deer season. In all, the commission found four positive samples out of 753 deer in Thayer, Saline, Cass and Polk counties.

Taylor said the incurable disease seeps into the soil and transfers to different species.

"If people see and think there are issues, we will come out and see if it is a sick deer," Taylor said. "There is no indication that it can pass to humans. I advise people to be cautious. If a deer looks sick, don't eat it. Field dress it and dispose of the carcass."

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, no person is known to have contracted the disease.

Livestock and other animals not in the deer family, do not appear susceptible to the disease.

Taylor encourages citizens to contact him with any issues at 402-200-9597.

Smith deep in health care repeal

By Nancy McGill
Hebron Journal-Register
hebronjournalregister.com

Third district Rep. Adrian Smith is in the midst of a historic move — the repeal of the Affordable Care Act known as Obamacare.

"Our country has become divided because of a forced health care bill that wasn't bipartisan," Smith said from his Washington office last week. "It was forced on people who didn't want it or need it and now we see a great deal of pain resulting from Obamacare."

Smith referenced a woman in western Nebraska, who lost her health insurance coverage four times and eventually went to Blue Cross/Blue Shield, which decided not to participate in the government's marketplace in 2017.

The move was because of a $140 million loss in the three years since the marketplace's 2013 inception.

The woman lost her coverage yet again, and Smith said that is why he introduced a bill to skirt the mandated penalty Americans have to pay for not joining the marketplace. The bill passed in the house last year, but didn't clear the senate.

More choices in health care will drive affordable premiums, Smith said.

The repeal of ACA will be a transitional process to ensure Americans do not lose coverage.

"We have to be thoughtful and very aware people have been experiencing pain for several years. We want to reverse that," he said.

In a hearing on Capitol Hill last week, it was revealed democrat representatives quickly met in 2014 to divvy out $7 billion to insurance companies to cover losses.

Smith, who is chairing the Ways and Means committee, where the issue came to light, released a statement after the hearing:

"The Obama administration chose to mislead Americans by quietly spending billions of unauthorized taxpayer dollars to prop up its collapsing health care law. This abuse of executive power is unacceptable, which is one of many reasons I voted for the budget resolution to start the process of repealing and replacing Obamacare."

In the hearing, the democrat representatives pressed for Congress to "move forward," instead of focusing on the past.

Smith wants to move forward as well, but not for the same reason. "I cannot stress enough our next president to bring our country together," he said.

He said he is involved in rural health care issues, specifically hospitals and providers wallowing in bureaucracy while the country faces a $19 trillion debt.

Looking at the fraud in the tax code will provide some relief, Smith said.

In addition, Smith said poverty programs, such as temporary financial assistance, will be discussed to help those in need become more independent.

"We've had some plans in place throughout the last year, such as 'A Better Way' to fight poverty," Smith said.

A Better Way would provide individuals with opportunities instead of trapping people into receiving welfare. It would also tap into intellectual capital to grow the nation's economy.

"The federal government holds people down. My responsibility is to ensure opportunities, rather than fixate on certain outcomes that denies individuals potential," he said.

On another issue, Smith said the crumbling infrastructure is critical and also swimming in bureaucracy.

"It will be a healthy debate moving forward in discussing how do we properly pay for infrastructure. We don't want to throw money at something that drives inflation. If we throw the money, we'll just have more of the same," he said.

The shovel-ready projects from the Obama administration delivered nowhere near the stimulus promised because it was bogged down in political objectives, plus the bureaucracy, rather than the outcome.

For example, veteran and Rep. Tulsi Gabbard introduced a bill to stop American tax dollars from funding terrorism. Terrorist groups funded by tax dollars are named in the bill.

In her speech to Congress, Gabbard said funding terrorists is against the law and the US government has been breaking the law for years.

The cost of a seemingly perpetual war is weighing on the country. "We can't afford to fund perpetual involvement," Smith said. "We can't let politics drive the Pentagon or our military. We need to stand with our friends against terrorism and make sure we are not channeling resources to terrorists," Smith said.

On the incoming president, Smith said Americans should give Donald Trump a chance.

"He spoke on election night in a unifying way. I can't emphasize enough he understands strategy, unity and what that can deliver to the economy — bringing people together results in economic dividends. Every day I serve I think how important it is to focus on the solution," Smith said.

Smith also serves subcommittees on trade, health and social security.

The scheduled murder trial of Rosemary Harris has been moved back from the original Jan. 24 trial date to March 14, according to court appointed attorney Joe Murray. Harris is accused of first degree murder in the death of her common-law husband, Herbert Crane. Crane, a long-time resident of Chester, was found by authorities (after Harris reported the body) on July 6 in a barn near the outskirts of Chester. On July 7 in a probable cause statement filed by Thayer County Attorney, Duane Hubbard, the cause of death was alleged to be a bullet wound to the head. The statement also alleged the body was moved some distance after the shooting death to the barn where the victim's body was examined by Thayer County Sheriff Jim Johnson and members of the Nebraska State Patrol. Since that time, Harris has been held in the Thayer County jail awaiting the trial proceedings. In other action in relation to the Harris case, Murray said that a motion to suppress Harris' confession will be filed in District Court before Judge Orville Coady Jan. 20. Murray, along with court appointed attorney David Cording, will try Thursday to get Harris' confession declared inadmissible as evidence during the trial.

Free Farm Finance Clinic

Farmers and ranchers are invited to attend a free clinic. The clinics are one-on-one, not group sessions, and are confidential. The Farm Finance clinic gives you a chance to meet with an experienced Ag law attorney and Ag financial counselor.

These clinic staff specialize in legal and financial issues related to farming and ranching, including financial planning, estate and transition planning, farm loan programs, debtor/creditor law, water rights, and other relevant matters.

Here is an opportunity to obtain an experienced outside opinion on issues that may be affecting your farm or ranch. Bring your questions.

A local clinic will be held in Fairbury on January 20.

To sign up for a clinic or for more information, call Michelle at the Nebraska Farm Hotline 1-800-464-0258.

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture and Legal Aid of Nebraska sponsor the farm finance clinics.

Four positives for CWD found in recent testing of deer

The presence of chronic wasting disease (CWD) in deer has been detected for the first time in southeastern Nebraska, according to findings by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

The Commission conducted a CWD sampling operation in its Southeast District deer check stations during the 2016 November firearm deer season. Four samples tested positive for CWD. Those samples were taken from deer harvested on private land in Thayer, Saline, Cass and Polk counties.

There were 753 deer sampled in three deer management units: Wahoo, Blue Northwest and Blue Southeast. No extensive sampling for CWD had taken place in these units until 2016.

The goal of this sampling effort is to assess the spread and prevalence of the disease through periodic testing in each region of the state, which in turn helps biologists predict when and if future effects on deer numbers may occur. Testing will take place in the Southwest, Northwest and Northeast districts in the next several years.

Although present in Colorado and Wyoming for several decades, CWD was first discovered in Nebraska in 2000 in Kimball County. Since 1997, Commission staff have tested nearly 49,000 deer and found 296 that tested positive. CWD has been found in 34 Nebraska counties, but no population declines attributable to the disease have yet occurred.

CWD is prion disease that attacks the brain of an infected deer and elk, eventually causing emaciation, listlessness, excessive salivation and death. It is generally thought that CWD is transmitted from animal to animal through exchange of body fluids, but other modes of transmission may exist.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, no person is known to have contracted CWD; however, hunters should cautiously handle and process deer and avoid consuming animals that test positive or look sick. Livestock and other animals not in the deer family also do not appear susceptible to CWD.

Hunters can help prevent the spread of CWD by using proper carcass disposal methods. CWD prions, the infectious proteins that transmit the disease, can remain viable for months or even years in the soil. Hunters should field dress animals at the place of kill, avoid spreading spinal cord or brain tissue to meat, and to dispose of the head (brain), spinal column and other bones at a licensed landfill.

Your Guide To A Perfect Wedding

BRIDAL BOUTIQUE

'I do,' take two: Guide to a second marriage

Couples are returning to the altar in increasing numbers, as second and third weddings are becoming ever more popular. Pew Research Center indicates that, as of 2014, 64 percent of divorced or widowed men have remarried, compared with 52 percent of previously married women.

Lavish second weddings were once uncommon, but that trend is also shifting. Couples who are taking another crack at marriage are tying the knot with renewed vigor and with weddings that may rival some first-timers'.

Men and women who are remarrying after divorce or being widowed may not know how to approach planning their upcoming nuptials. The following are some guidelines to making the wedding sequel a success.

Wardrobe

Couples who have been married before often find that they have more leeway with regard to their wedding wardrobes than they did when tying the knot for the first time. Brides may choose something less traditional than a long, white dress. In fact, this can be a time to let loose and select something that is festive or even funky. This also may provide a great opportunity to choose clothing styles from different cultures or ties into one's heritage. This freedom also allows brides to broaden their horizons with regard to where to buy their wedding wardrobes.

Grooms may opt for something more casual than a tuxedo or coordinate with their brides-to-be so they are on the same creative page. Colored tuxedos and vintage suits are acceptable, even though such attire might have raised a few eyebrows the first time around.

Guest list

The guest list doesn't have to be a source of anxiety. Others will understand that there may be a mélange of people at a second wedding. Children from previous marriages as well as divorced spouses or former parents-in-law are not out of the question. Even if exes will not be included, make sure they know about the nuptials in advance of others. It's common courtesy, and it can help head off feelings of ill-will.

Some couples choosing to tie the knot again scale back the size of the wedding this time around, feeling something smaller and more intimate - with only the closest of friends and family - is more suitable.

Registries and wedding gifts

Considering couples who have been married previously likely have many of the housewares and items for daily living that first-timers may not, registering for these gifts is not necessary. What's more, some of the same guests may have been present at first marriages and gifted them. In lieu of gifts, couples may ask guests to donate to a specific charity or forgo gifts altogether.

Vows

Couples can use experience to draft vows that have personal meaning to their unique situations and make the wedding ceremony even more special.

People getting married again can impart their own personalities into the ceremony and party to follow. There are no hard rules governing second weddings, so couples can plan their weddings with good times in mind.

Area students on UNK Dean's List

The University of Nebraska at Kearney announced names of students who earned a place on the dean's list for the fall 2016 semester.

Students who are on the dean's list must have completed 12 credit hours or more of classes with a 3.5 grade point average or better on a 4.0 scale. Students earn a 4.0 for an "A," 3.0 for a "B" and a 2.0 for a "C." Courses taken on a credit/no credit basis – such as internships and student teaching – aren't included among the necessary 12 credits.

Dean's list students will receive a certificate from their respective deans.

Area students include: Cassidy Bentley of Bruning; Theodore Degner of Davenport; Nathan Pavelka of Davenport; Mikaela Hansen of Deshler; April Maschmann of Deshler; Rachael Fangmeier of Hebron; Rachel Johnson of Hebron; and Alexandria Kluna of Shickley.

Area students on Hastings Dean's List

Hastings College has announced the Dean's List for its fall 2016 semester. For the semester, 359 students from 18 states were named to the Dean's List, with 216 students achieving a 4.0 grade point.

To be eligible for the Dean's List students must achieve a grade point average of 3.7 to 4.0 on a 4.0 scale and be registered for full-time coursework.

Area students named to the Dean's List include: Luke Christensen of Davenport; Russell Heitmann of Hebron; and Mikaela Schroeder of Hebron.

Area students on Morningside Dean's List

Morningside College Provost Dr. William C. Deeds recently announced the students who were named to the Dean's List for the fall semester of the 2016-2017 academic year.

The Dean's List recognizes students who achieve a 3.67 grade point average or better and complete at least 12 credits of coursework with no grade below a "C-."

Area students named to the list include Ryan Tegtmeyer of Davenport and Ashley Petersen of Hebron.

Area students on honors lists at CCC

Central Community College has announced the names of full-time student who earned spots on the President's and Dean's lists for the 2016 fall semester.

Todd Nelson of Hebron was named to the President's list.

Those being named to the Dean's list include:

Thomas Swoboda of Alexandria; Robert Lindsey of Chester; and Terry McBride of Davenport.

LOUD therapy program helps Parkinson disease patients

The American Parkinson Disease Association (APDA) reports that 89 percent of patients suffering from Parkinson's disease have speech problems that make it difficult or impossible to speak for themselves. LOUD is a speech therapy program that uses the clinically proven Lee Silverman Voice Training (LSVT) method to improve voice and speech in individuals with Parkinson's disease.

LOUD is an intense four-week, sixteen session speech therapy treatment program. It uses exaggerated vocal exercises to train patients to monitor and control the volume of their voices. The program addresses all three causes of speech problems:

- motor problems such as slow or jerky muscle movement;

- sensory processing disorders that may make them unable to hear that their voice is soft;

- inability to cue themselves to speak louder.

LOUD helps patients make themselves understood. The program doesn't teach them to yell but rather to speak strongly and forcefully. LOUD is effective in any phase of the disorder but works best during the early or middle stages. Pre-LOUD efforts that using speech therapy with Parkinson's disease patients showed they made progress, but then lost the improvements quickly after treatment.

However, there have been a number of clinical studies that support the effectiveness of LOUD treatment program. Research supported by the National Institutes of Health and the National Institute for Deafness showed marked improvements for as long as two years after a patient received the LOUD therapy treatment. Furthermore, imaging studies showed physical improvements in the brain after LOUD therapy.

It is common for individuals with Parkinson's disease to have difficulty being loud enough for people to hear, run out of air when talking, and/or to avoid groups of people and conversations. The LOUD program strives to increase patient's success with communication by improving the patient's voice and speech function. The LOUD program is designed to increase the loudness of one's voice and improve speech clarity through repetitive tasks with varying complexity.

LOUD improves vocal loudness by stimulating the muscles of the voice box (larynx) and speech mechanism through systematic exercises. Treatment focuses on a single goal "speak LOUD!" Treatment uses loudness training to bring the voice to an improved, healthy vocal loudness with no strain. The treatment not only simulates the motor system but also incorporates sensory awareness training.

LOUD therapy has been shown to provide the following benefits:

- Improved respiratory, laryngeal and articulatory function to maximize speech intelligibility.

- Improvement in the common problems of disordered articulation diminished facial expression and impaired swallowing.

For patients in Thayer and Jefferson County, Amy Nash, is a speech-language pathologist, certified in the LOUD program. Contact your local healthcare provider for a referral if you think you or a family member may benefit from this program.

Obituaries

RaVae Bowman

RaVae Joyce Bowman, 86, of Bruning, passed away on January 10, 2017, in Geneva. She was born on February 14, 1930, in rural Bruning to Martin and Etta (Edzards) VanWestern.

RaVae was baptized, confirmed, and married at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Bruning. She remained a lifetime member.

RaVae married Wayne Bowman on May 1, 1949. From this union were born, Connie, Terry and Craig. They were blessed with 65 years of marriage.

She worked at the Bruning Drug Store during her high school years. She also worked at the Bruning Post Office, Geneva Hospital and was a bookkeeper for Hinrichs and Son Hardware.

RaVae was active in American Legion Auxiliary, Circle, 4-H Extension Club and was a member of the Chit-Chat card club for many years. She enjoyed gardening, flowers and camping. She played softball and was a loyal LA Dodgers and KC Royals fan. Most of all she adored spending time with her family. She found much joy attending her grandchildren's activities and cheering them on from the side lines.

RaVae is preceded in death by husband, Wayne; parents, Martin and Etta VanWestern; brother, Donavon VanWestern; sister-in-law, Anna Marie VanWestern; brother-in-law, Lenoard Mammen; and sister-in-law, Margaret Bowman.

RaVae is survived by sister, Ardene Mammen of Geneva; brother-in-law, Don Bowman of Mesa Ariz.; daughter, Connie (Gale) Albers of Omaha; sons, Terry Bowman of Bruning and Craig (Tammie) Bowman of Geneva; grandchildren, Christina (Martin) Albers of Ruskington, U.K., Nathan (Jamie) Albers of Waterloo, Brittany (Trevor) Wit of Chester, Broderick Bowman of Bruning, Witney (Dana) Lauber of Geneva, Josh Bowman of Geneva, and Madison Bowman of Peru; great-grandchildren, Coryn and Ava Albers, Oliver and Lucy Lauber, and Trindon and Brinley Wit; and many nieces, nephews and friends.

Funeral services were conducted from the Trinity Lutheran Church in Bruning, on January 13, with Pastor Stuart Sell officiating. Janice Fintel accompanied the congregation who sang "What A Friend We Have In Jesus," "Borning Cry" and "How Great Thou Art."

Casket bearers were Christine Albers, Nathan Albers, Trevor Wit, Dana Lauber, Josh Bowman, Broderick Bowman and Madison Bowman.

Honorary bearers were Brittany Wit and Whitney Lauber.

Interment was in the Trinity Lutheran Cemetery with Farmer & Son Funeral Home in charge of the arrangements.

Memorials are directed to the Trinity Lutheran Church - Youth Programs.

Violet Miller

Violet Ruth Miller was born to Lloyd and Katie (Ulm) Goodman near Belvidere, on January 16, 1924. She passed away on January 4, 2017, at Heritage Crossings Nursing Home in Geneva, at the age of 92 years, 11 months, and 19 days. She was one of six children born in the family.

In her youth, Vi enjoyed being outdoors, spending time with her cousin Lois and riding her favorite horse, Lady.

Violet's upbringing was not without grief, though, as her mother passed away when Violet was four years old. Vi's father couldn't care for all the children and they were divided amongst other family members. Vi ended up being raised by her uncle and aunt, Henry and Sophia Eden, and she came to know them as her parents.

Vi was baptized and confirmed at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Bruning. She attended County School District 49 for eight years before entering Bruning High School and graduating with the class of 1941.

Soon after graduating high school, Vi was doing housework for Earl and Pauline Hawks when she met a farmer from the Carleton area named Albert (Ab) Miller. They were married on January 16, 1942. Three children were born to this union, DeRoy, Sharon, and Betty.

Ab and Vi made their home on the family farm north of Carleton raising crops and livestock. She was an active person and she wasn't afraid to get her hands dirty on the farm. She kept the house and family in order, worked a large garden each year, and would help on the farm when asked. She also enjoyed bowling on a league team in Hebron for many years, horse race excursions to Fonner Park, cooking and sewing, and many bus trips and vacations with Ab in their later years. Many dinner and dance outings were also enjoyed at the American Legion in Hebron. Although she didn't care for water, when the family was younger, weekends during the summer months were often spent with the family at Lovewell Lake.

In 1998, Vi and Ab moved off the farm and bought a home in Shickley. Vi welcomed the conveniences of close friends near by, the Methodist Church and a grocery store in Shickley. She took pride in her home in town and maintained her yard just like when she lived on the farm.

Vi enjoyed volunteering her time in the church. She was a former Sunday school teacher and helped with Bible school. She was a member of the Shickley United Methodist Church, and a past member of the Bethel Church, the Carleton Legion Auxiliary, and Order of the Easter Star.

Vi loved her family dearly and she enjoyed sharing news about them with everyone she visited with. If you ever stopped by her house, you could look on the refrigerator and see a collage of pictures and news articles detailing their activities.

Vi had an all around good sense of humor. She loved to share a joke and have a good laugh. It's her wit and sense of humor that will be missed most by her family and friends.

Vi is preceded in death by her parents; husband, Albert Miller; son, DeRoy Miller; great granddaughter, Tyler Brooke; sisters, Velma, Dorothy, and June; and brothers, Norman and Lowell.

She is survived by her daughters, Sharon and Tom McDonald of Lincoln and Betty and P.R. Farmer of Geneva; grandchildren, Dan and Sarah Miller and their daughters Hannah and Hailey of Carleton, Ryan and Lesley Miller and their daughter Reagan and son Beau of Cortland, Nathan and Liz Farmer and their son Liam of Elkhorn, Shaun and Heidi Farmer and their daughters Ashlyn and Leah of Geneva, Tyler and Megan Miller and their son Mason of Lincoln, and Paige and Drew Weedin and their daughters Delaney and Henley of Aurora; dear cousin, Lois Fangmeier of Hebron; and nieces and nephews.

A funeral service for Vi was held on January 11, at the United Methodist Church in Shickley. Pastor Charleen Cross was the pastor. Marti Alfs played the prelude and postlude music and Karl Brinkman performed "Precious Lord, Take My Hand," "To Where You Are" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Pallbearers for the service included Dan Miller, Ryan Miller, Nate Farmer, Shaun Farmer, Tyler Miller, Paige Weedin and Drew Weedin.

It was Vi's wish to be cremated following the service. Her cremains will be interred in the Carleton Cemetery next to her husband, Albert, and son, DeRoy, at a later date.

Memorials are directed to the United Methodist Church in Shickley.

Farmer & Son Funeral Home conducted the services.

Online condolences may be left at www.farmerandsonfuneralhome.com.

Joyce Zucker

Joyce Ardith (Stuehmer) Zucker, the youngest daughter of Arthur and Theresa (Schulz) Stuehmer, was born at home near Scribner, on December 15, 1928. She departed this life peacefully with family by her side at Parkview Haven in Deshler, on January 11, 2017, at the age of 88 years and 27 days.

Joyce was baptized on April 12, 1929, at St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church (Ridgely), rural Scribner, with her parents as her sponsors. She was confirmed on April 18, 1943, at Ridgely. Her confirmation verse was John 3:16.

She attended District 12 country school until tenth grade. She finished her high school education at Scribner High School graduating in 1946 with a class motto: "Out of school life, into life's school."

On April 27, 1947, Joyce was united in marriage with John Henry Zucker at United Lutheran Church in Scribner. To this union were born Ardythe Joyce, Mary Jo, Jane Terese, David John, and Paul Jeffrey.

John and Joyce were blessed to celebrate fifty-four years of marriage before his death on March 2, 2002.

Before marriage, Joyce worked at the Scribner Bank. During her married life, John and Joyce raised their family in Scribner and in Mitchell and Madison, South Dakota, before moving to Deshler in October 1960.

She supported her husband in various businesses: hatchery, construction, grain bin erection, and bookkeeping for each business venture. Her most important work, however, was raising her family.

Joyce found enjoyment in observing nature, reading, and working crossword and jigsaw puzzles. Her creative and artistic outlets included sewing, altering, and counted cross-stitch. In her lifetime she made thousands of cookies for her family and their friends.

She grew up during the Great Depression and learned "to make do with what one has;" therefore, she became an "Original Repurposer!" She had a great love for America, but her greatest passion was to drop whatever she was doing and push up her sleeves to help her children with their many and varied projects.

She is preceded in death by her parents; husband, John; sister, Dolores Bergland; brothers-in-law, Dwain Bergland, Leander Walter and Ray Zucker; sisters-in-law, Jeanette Zucker and Jo Anne Zucker; and great-grandson, Evan Zucker.

Joyce is survived by daughters, Ardythe Dunn (Donald) of Deshler, Mary Jo Hofts (Stanley) of Deshler, and Jane Bartling (Glenn) of Deshler; sons, David Zucker (Deborah) of Deshler, and Paul Zucker (Julie) of Austin, Texas; grandchildren, Matthew Hofts of Lincoln, Jennifer Owens of Wagoner, Okla., Andrew Bartling (Sarah) of Kearney, Timothy Bartling (Chelsea) of Kearney, Jeffery Zucker (Kristi) of Lincoln, Michael Zucker (Nicole) of Omaha, Katherine Zucker of Austin, Melanie Mikkelsen (Ryan) of Rusk, Marsha Ehlers (Ted) of Chapman, Kan., and Tanya Lynch (Brandon) of Hickman; great-grandchildren, Whitney Owens, Macie Bartling, Madelyn Bartling, Carly Zucker, Joseph Zucker, Alyssa Zucker, Johnathan Zucker, Benjamin Zucker, Chase Ehlers, Nash Ehlers and Cannon Lynch; sister, Donna Jean Walter of Fremont; brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Paul and Kathy 50 years service...

Belvidere Firemen gathered Sunday at the Community Center to honor one of their faithful members, Ken Else, now of Hebron. He has served the Belvidere Fire Department for over 50 years. His dedication and interest has gone far beyond the normal," said Randy Waldmeier, Chief of the Fire Department. "We have been so fortunate to have Ken's services." The Sunday dinner was prepared by the fire department and their wives. Ken was presented a clock with a plaque thanking him for his years of dedication. Ken is pictured with Randy Waldmeier.

Belvidere

By Linda Hudson

The trees are white, heavy with ice and limbs are breaking. Thanks to all who have to go out and serve the public. What a warm feeling it is to enjoy the comforts of home while the weather is being relentless. From the views on TV, stores were attacked by shoppers getting ready for the storm. How fortunate to be warm, have food and heat.

With the coming of the new year, it is time for license plate renewals. The plates for the 150th Anniversary for Nebraska are not exactly the bright beautiful ones one would think the state might have for such a special celebration.

This past week brought the Mudecas basketball tournament in Beatrice. Eight schools participated including BDS in the oldest tournament in the state.

The games are played in the Beatrice City Auditorium which was built in 1939-1940 by the PWA (Public Works Administration). It was a New Deal project which built civic facilities and the idea was to help put people back to work after the depression.

Many towns benefitted with these types of projects such as roads and water systems for towns. Belvidere gained the convenience of town water instead of individual wells. The gravel road going east from Fairbury is named for this Public Works Project.

It is interesting to note that several auditoriums were built in the area using the same Art Deco style. The York City Auditorium seems as though it is similar to the Beatrice one. It is good that these towns have chosen to keep the buildings in good condition and put them on the National Register of Historic Places.

Chester and Ohioa both have smaller but similar buildings. Chester's was built in 1938 at a cost of $29,340. Much of the work was done by hand. All of this to benefit the rural people but yet giving people a chance to make a wage to survive. If anyone wants to know more about the Chester Auditorium, Mary Tipton of Chester is a good source of information.

The United Church of Christ did not meet on Sunday due to the icy conditions. The Annual meeting will be held this Sunday after church.

Wally Morrison and his wife stopped briefly in Belvidere this past week. He was interested in the restorations that had been done to Toad's Place.

Fast approaching is the 51st Super Bowl. Last year they changed the number to 50 because of the special anniversary. This year the Roman Numerals have come back again. So it is referred to as Super Bowl LI. This

LBNRD to host area workshops

The Little Blue Natural Resources District (LBNRD) is hosting a series of Profit and Efficiency Workshops in the district in the coming months.

The LBNRD would like to update the producers on current conditions within the District. The sessions will provide information from experts on proven practices or new technology to improve efficiency with the management of the water and soil.

On January 26, at the Davenport Community Center from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. the general topics will include "Current Conditions/General Rules" and "Soil Health & Cover Crops." Guest speakers, Chuck Burr from UNL will present on "Pumping Plant Efficiency & the Use of Meters" and Darrel Martin from the UNL Extension will cover "Cropping BMPs" (Best Management Practices).

There will also be an Operator Training workshop at the Stastny Community Center in Hebron from 9:00 – 11:00 a.m. on February 8. In addition to the general topics, guest speaker Mallory Irvine, wildlife biologist, will present on "Pheasants Forever" and local NRCS personnel will also cover "Improving Recharge on the Land Surface."
