Author presentation...

"Death Zones and Darling Spies: Seven Years of Vietnam War Reporting" author Beverly Deepe Kever will have a presentation and slide show at the Hebron Courtyard Terrace Activity Room at the Hebron Assisted Living Facility on Monday, March 9, at 2 p.m.

Kever, a farm girl from Thayer County, traveled to Vietnam as a 26-year-old war correspondent in 1961.

She was the longest-serving American correspondent covering the Vietnam War and earned a Pulitzer Prize nomination.

Kever is professor emerita at the University of Hawaii.

The public is welcome and is encouraged to carpool. Additional parking is on the west and south side of the facility. People may enter through the chapel door.

Daylight Savings...

Daylight savings time will begin Sunday, March 8. At that time, all clocks should be adjusted one hour ahead.

Annual Chamber Meeting...

The Hebron Chamber would like to invite you to their annual meeting on Thursday, March 5, at the Hebron Activity Center.

The evening begins at 6 p.m. and light refreshments will be served. New ideas and strategies will be discussed on how the Chamber can improve and move forward.

A growing Hebron is the key to a strong Chamber, and the Chamber board members would like to hear input from community members.

Working together can unlock Hebron's future growth potential. Hope to see you on the 5th!

Opportunities for community revitalization made possible through Certified Leadership Community Program...

By Amanda Push

At the March Hebron city council meeting, council members chose to move forward with the leadership certification process as part of the Certified Leadership Community Program.

Jeremy Voss, Thayer County Economic Development director, as well as several ECAP volunteers presented the opportunity to the Hebron city council as well as to officials from Bruning, Chester and Deshler.

At the time of this week's publication, both Bruning and Hebron chose to move forward with the application process.

According to the Nebraska Department of Economic Development website, the purpose of the program is to "provide a solid framework for communities to identify capacity, stimulate focused planning, and utilize technology to provide a strong foundation to meet the challenges of the future."

If communities finish the application process, it will open doors for them to apply for grants for projects that could help to revitalize their towns.

Currently, there are only four communities that have received the NDED Leadership Community Designation: Central City, Madison, Neleigh and Tecumseh.

"The [application] process is rather intense, but we have been planning on achieving this for awhile, so we have set up ourselves very well," said Voss.

First, a community assessment is needed. This was done last year in a county wide ECAP survey.

Next, a current comprehensive plan and strategic plan must be made. In the past, some communities paid an outside organization to create these plans.

"We are proposing that we, as a county, can do this without any cost as long as we have the volunteers, an intrepid organization, and the authority and assistance from the applying city or village," said Voss. "We have the volunteers and TCEDA will fill it out. We just need the support from the communities."

Last, there must be a write up of the specific services the community provides.

Once each task is completed, the community will be designated as an NDED Certified Leadership Community and will be presented a certificate. A press release will also be issued.

According to the NDED website, the designation is good for five years as long as the community website and information is kept up to date.

There is also opportunity to be awarded up to 75 extra points when a community applies for the Downtown Revitalization CDBG program through NDED. This will also strengthen other applications with the community's strong citizen participation as a result of the Leadership Designation.

The criteria for the four communities (Hebron, Deshler, Chester and Bruning) in Thayer County encouraged by TCEDA and ECAP volunteers was based off the ECAP survey results. Those with the highest percentage of responses were asked to participate because the application requires a mandate from the public and these four towns provided enough responses to have such a mandate.

"We hope that this program will extend into the other communities later, but we will have to draw up another community survey for them," said Voss.

ECAP volunteers, all from different towns, have also been active in planning for this opportunity.

"The ECAP process has shown a need for some infrastructure and main street revitalization. After several public meetings the group felt as if the best way to get these done is with State grants," said Voss. "And the best way to get these grants is to become a Leadership Community. So, the ECAP participants have given this as the direction they would like to go. Additionally, they will be assisting the communities and TCEDA in speaking to the councils, the write-ups, and information gathering. The great thing about this group is that they represent several communities and will be working on the projects for all the communities, not just their own."

As for the projects and planning to come from this process, the goals are ultimately up to the communities.

"Some of these grants have been used for subdivision infrastructure, water systems and highway development," said Voss. "Others have used them specifically for main street rehab. It is really up to the community, but the funds are more likely to be awarded if we get the Leadership Community Designation."

A jury passed a 'not guilty' verdict in the case of Nicholas Thiemann, 33, on Friday, Feb. 20.

From Feb. 19 through Feb. 20, a jury heard the case of Thiemann, a man accused of burglary, a class three felony, and theft, also a class three felony.

Thiemann waived his right to remain silent and took the stand Friday to present his side of the case.

After the 'not guilty' verdict, Thiemann, as well as his bond, were ordered to be released.

Thiemann was accused of breaking into the a Thayer County residence around Dec. 22, 2012.

The home was occupied by Monnie Fischer, who lived with Daniel Thiemann, Nicholas's father who passed away in October 2012.

Thiemann lived with his father and Fischer for a time until shortly after his father's death.

According to the case summary, Fischer asked Thiemann to find a new place to live after his father passed away. After he moved out, she changed the locks and asked Thiemann not to return.

The case summary also stated that Thiemann informed Fischer that all of his father's business and things in the house were his since his father had lived there.

While Fischer was out of town for the Christmas holiday, she received a phone call that her home had been broken into.

Fischer reported several items missing to the Thayer County Sheriff's Office.

The items were found at the residence Thiemann was then living at and the 33-year-old was charged with burglary and theft.

Daniel Haines, 36, was arrested Sunday, March 1, in Deshler by the Thayer County Sheriff's Office after a 911 caller reported a domestic dispute.

The female caller claimed she was threatened by a male subject who brandished a firearm and pointed it at her, according to the Sheriff's Office Facebook page.

The caller also reported that the man said he would shoot any law enforcement officers who attempted to contact him.

The 36-year-old was taken into custody without incident in the 600 block of 2nd Street.

Haines is being held in the Thayer County Jail for terroristic threats.

Weapons were recovered at the scene.

The current inmate count is eight.

Gas prices on the rise nationwide...

At the beginning of the year, the nation enjoyed low gas prices. In Nebraska, prices even dipped below the two dollar mark for regular gas. Lately, however, gas prices have slowly climbed up. Current gas prices in Thayer County are an average of $2.35. The state average is $2.401 and the national average is $2.45 according to gasbuddy.com. According to an Omaha World-Herald article, these changes are occurring partly because refineries are starting to make the switch from winter-blend to the more expensive summer-blend fuel and the number of active oil wells were down 25 percent due to the low prices. The current price of a barrel of crude oil is around $50.60. In an article with CNN, Tom Kloza, chief oil analyst for the Oil Price Information Service, predicted that prices would top out at about $2.50 to $2.70 a gallon. However, by this summer or early this fall, he believes gas will return to below $2 in many areas.

Colors to wear to a job interview

Color has a lot of power says Stephanie Vozza on Fast-company.com. Colors red and orange can excite you. For example, fast food restaurants use vibrant and warm colors to stimulate the appetite. Can color help you get a job?

To get a job, you will need the right qualifications and perhaps even previous experience. Vozza says that color may help you start off on the right foot during an interview according to a recent study by Harris Interactive for CareerBuilder.

Carol Davidson, New York image and style expert, says "That out of all of the elements of your wardrobe, color speaks first." Wearing the right clothing to an interview is as important as polishing your resume.

Human resource professionals understand the influence of color. For example, black conveys leadership and the color red gives a perception of power and assertiveness. Wearing a gray suit during an interview conveys the sense of being rock solid, wise, dependable logical and analytical.

Depending on the industry you are seeking employment in, it might be wise to add a bit of brighter colors with gray. For example, if you are interviewing for an advertising agency, you might want to add a red scarf, or yellow tie, so show a bit of personality or flair.

If you are applying for a job that requires analysis, then perhaps stay away from green, yellow, orange and purple which are associated with creativity and optimism. The opposite perception is also true, if you are applying for employment that requires creativity, wear vivid colors and not the traditional black, gray and navy.

Navy sends a message of being enterprising, trustworthy, honest, and credible, says Davidson which is a great choice for industries like law or finance. Navy is considered too conservative if you interview for a creative position.

Black is an extremely strong color and is highest on the authority scale. Davidson also states that if you are interviewing for a position where you would be in charge or if you're demure in your appearance, black could be a great choice.

Polar opposite to black, can be brown which conveys that you can be slow to change. In fact, Davidson doesn't recommend wearing this color to an interview in any industry, especially if it is fast-paced and innovative.

The 'value' of color - the lightness and darkness of color also has meaning. Dark colors are perceived as formal and authoritative, while light colors make the wearer appear more friendly and approachable. Bright colors convey confidence while muted colors are conservative and less threatening.

Red can be risky to wear because it comes across as bold, assertive and domineering, so Davidson advises against wearing it for an interview because it can come off too strong.

In contrast to red, white is a reassuring color that can convey a feeling of new beginnings, impartiality, cleanliness and purity. If you choose to wear white, be sure it is a crisp white. A white shirt is appropriate for any industry.

Green is a color often associated with a sense of calm and wellbeing, as well as wealth and prosperity. Davidson says it's a good choice for an accent color as it will not only put the interviewer at ease, it will send a message of possibility and growth.

Orange, however, topped the CareerBuilder list for the worst color, with 25 percent of employers saying it was the color most likely to be associated with someone who is unprofessional.

Dress in Blue Day on March 6

March is National Colon Cancer Awareness Month and this Friday, March 6, is "Dress in Blue Day." Patients, survivors, caregivers and advocates are asking all of us to join them in wearing blue to help raise awareness for the fight against colon cancer. It is also important for us to talk to our friends and family about getting screened for colon cancer.

Colon cancer affects men and women of all racial and ethnic groups, and is most often found in people 50 years or older. It is the third most common cancer in the United States, behind only lung and prostate cancers in men and lung and breast cancers in women, and it is the second leading cause of cancer death.

The American Cancer Society estimates that 132,700 Americans will be diagnosed with colon cancer in 2015 and that 39,610 Americans will die from colon cancer this year. But the truth is, it doesn't have to be this way.

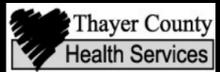

If everyone 50 years or older had a regular screening test, as many as 80 percent of deaths from colon cancer could be prevented. Colon cancer screenings save lives.

Screenings detects precancerous polyps and allows them to be removed before turning into cancer. Screenings also help find colon cancer at an early stage, when it is highly treatable and can often lead to a cure.

Colon cancer first develops with few, if any, symptoms. It is important to not wait for symptoms before talking to your doctor about getting screened. However, if symptoms are present, they may include:

-- A change in your bowel habits, including diarrhea or constipation or a change in the consistency of your stool

-- Feeling that your bowel does not empty completely, rectal bleeding, or blood in your stool

-- Finding your stools are narrower than usual

-- Persistent abdominal discomfort, such as cramps, gas, pain, or feeling full or bloated

-- Losing weight with no known reason

-- Weakness or fatigue

-- Having nausea or vomiting

These symptoms can also be associated with many other health conditions. Only your doctor can determine why you're having these symptoms. Usually, early cancer does not cause pain. It is important not to wait to feel pain before seeing a doctor.

On average, the lifetime risk of developing colon cancer is about one in 20 (five percent); however, this varies widely according to individual risk factors.

The risk is slightly lower in women than in men. About 72 percent of new cases arise in the colon and about 28 percent in the rectum. The severity of a person's colon cancer is rated by stages based on how advanced the colon cancer is. Stage I is the earliest stage of colon cancer, stage IV is the most advanced stage of colon cancer.

If you are over 50, have a family history of colon cancer or have any of the symptoms listed above, make an appointment with your healthcare provider to get screened.

Feeling like you paid too much in taxes this year?

This year, evaluate whether you can benefit from:

1. Tax-advantaged investments. If appropriate, consider tax-free municipal bonds to provide federally tax-free income.*
2. Tax-advantaged retirement accounts. Consider contributing to a traditional Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or 401(k) to help lower your taxable income.
3. Tax-advantaged college savings accounts. Contribute or gift to a college savings plan for your children or grandchildren.

*May be subject to state and local taxes and the alternative minimum tax (AMT).

Notice to All Great Plains Communications Customers

Assistance for Qualifying Low-Income Customers:
The Nebraska Telecommunications Assistance Program (NTAP) can provide reduced rates on monthly charges for basic telephone service to qualified low-income subscribers. To be eligible, you must participate in one of the following: Medicaid, Food Stamps, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Federal Housing Assistance, Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program, or the Kids Connection (SAM, MAC or EMAC).

If you have any questions or would like an application, contact your local Health and Human Services agency caseworker or the Nebraska Public Service Commission at 1-800-526-0017.

Assistance for Qualifying Customers on Tribal Land:
The FCC can also provide assistance to low income customers on tribal lands for federal telephone assistance. This assistance provides a discounted amount per primary connection for qualifying tribal residents. The FCC requires that all qualifying low-income individuals living on tribal land pay a minimum monthly rate of $1.00 for basic local telephone service. This program also allows for assistance on service connection charges.

Qualifying Great Plains Communications customers living on tribal land would receive a discount on their telephone bill that would reduce the basic local service rate to $1.00 per month. The connection charge would be waived up to $70. If you believe that you qualify, please call Great Plains Communications toll free at 1-888-343-8014 to request an enrollment form or contact your local Bureau of Indian Affairs office.

Public Service Commission: PO Box 94927, 300 The Atrium, 1200 N. Street, Lincoln, NE 68508-4927

*The telephone assistance rates quoted in this notice are subject to change according to future FCC filings or changes in the local service rates and service connection charges by Great Plains Communications. A348000015

Read Across America...

Betty Meyer, Thayer Central Library Media Specialist, invited the students of the Thayer Central National Honor Society to be guest readers to celebrate Read Across America day on March 2. They read to Thayer Central preschool and elementary students and handed out Read Across America book marks. They told the students about themselves and why reading was important in their lives. The students presented the guest readers with certificates thanking them for reading, and the guest readers received pictures of themselves reading to the students. Started in 1998, Read Across America, which the National Education Association sponsors, has become a national tradition as a way to promote reading while celebrating Dr. Seuss's birthday on March 2. Pictured above are National Honor Society members who participated in reading to students. Back row: Peyton Schmitt, Tyler Hergott, Jay Cottam, Thomas Feulner, Caleb Krupicka, Front Row: Sydney Cottam, Haley Huhman, Mary Rickers, Rachel Heitmann. Not pictured is McCall Madsen.

Werner travels with Lead 34 on national study/travel seminar

Sarah Werner of Davenport was one of thirty Nebraska LEAD 34 fellows who recently returned from a 10-day national study/travel seminar conducted by the Nebraska LEAD Program.

Terry Hejny, director of the Nebraska LEAD Program, served as group leader for the study/travel seminar to Kansas City, Washington, D.C., and Chicago Feb. 4-13.

The fellows met with business, industry and government leaders. Highlights included visits to the Kansas City Federal Reserve Bank and Environmental Protection Agency Region 7 offices in Kansas City; the National Cattlemen's Beef Association, National Pork Producers Council, American Farm Bureau Federation, Embassy of New Zealand and the Nebraska Congressional Breakfast in Washington; and the Environmental Protection Agency Region 5 offices, the CME Group, and the Chicago High School for Agricultural Sciences in Chicago. Fellows also met with Nebraska U.S. Senators Deb Fischer and Ben Sasse. Also included in this year's experience was a briefing and factory tour of John Deere operations in Moline, Ill.

A major objective of the national study/travel seminar is to provide participants with the opportunity to meet leaders who help shape local, state and national policy in agriculture and related areas and to create first-hand exposure to varied social and economic conditions/issues that exist in the United States.

The mission of the Nebraska LEAD program is "to prepare and motivate men and women in agriculture for more effective leadership" and is designed to speed up the leadership process.

The Nebraska LEAD Program (Leadership Education/Action Development) includes men and women active in production agriculture and agribusiness. It is a two-year leadership development program under the direction of the Nebraska Agricultural Leadership Council and in cooperation with the University of Nebraska's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources. Program content essential to leadership focuses on economics, government, human relations, communications, international trade, sociology, education, the arts, social-cultural understandings and agriculture.

For more information, or to request an application for Nebraska LEAD 35, contact the Nebraska LEAD Program, 318 BioChem Hall, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Lincoln, NE 68583-0763 or telephone 402-472-6810. For more information about the selection process or to request an application, go to <http://www.lead.unl.edu> Application deadline is June 15.

T.C. Senior Of Week – Cottam

Thayer Central Senior of the Week is Sydney Cottam. Sydney is the daughter of Kevin and Jani Cottam.

Her favorite class at Thayer Central is being a Teacher's Aide because she loves helping the third graders. Sydney's favorite foods are mashed potatoes and veggie burgers. Her favorite pastimes are reading and writing.

At Thayer Central, Sydney has been involved in National Honor Society, cross country, track, and basketball Student Manager.

Outside of school, Sydney is involved in Girl Scouts and is active at Grace Lutheran Church in their youth group and as a lector.

Her advice to underclassmen is, "Be kind to everyone because you don't know what they are going through. Work hard at everything you do."

Sydney Cottam

Following graduation in May, Sydney plans to attend Northeast Community College and major in Veterinary Technology.

Bruning

By Lola Johnson

Frank and Mary Bruning visited Loren and Audrey Else in Hebron on Sunday.

Lola Johnson and Deanna Dirks of Hastings spent the Feb. 14 weekend with Denise, Sam, Mollie and Oliver Packard of Lincoln for Oliver Packard's second birthday on Saturday. Joining them were Grandma Nancy Packard, Uncle Dan, Aunt Katie Packard and family, Great Grandma Arlene Hanthorne of Sutton, an aunt and uncle from Illinois and neighbors and friends of Lincoln. Also there were Uncle Dean and Aunt Chelle Dirks of Bruning and grandchildren Mallory Bechtold of Kansas and Tayvin Dirks of Beatrice. He had a construction site party with a cake, pizza and fruit in dumpster trucks, etc. Lots of fun.

Last weekend Lola Johnson spent the from Thursday until Sunday in Lincoln at Sam, Denise, Mollie and Oliver Packard's. She and Grandma Nancy Packard attended The morning with Mollie at The preschool Muffins With Grandparents day on Friday.

The Bruning Woman's Club will meeting on March 10 at Betty's Place at 11:30 a.m. for lunch and the meeting.

BDS Fine Arts Night March 10

Bruning-Davenport high school students will be showcasing their talents at the annual Feed the Groove: Fine Arts Night and Pops Concert to be held on March 10.

Art displays and speech events will begin at 6 p.m., offering parents and patrons the opportunity to see and hear a vast variety of student-created pieces and performances.

The annual Feed the Groove Pops Concert will begin at 7:30 p.m., immediately following the speech events, and is accompanied by an array of desserts, coffee and tea, and, of course, a casual coffee-house atmosphere.

The band and choir will be performing works by artists such as Queen, Taylor Swift, and The Blues Brothers. With the addition of a few solos and duets, it is hoped everyone will leave the evening full of spirit and, hopefully, full of dessert as well.

Many who have attended the event in the past expressed how much they enjoyed the atmosphere of the evening and the quality of all the fine arts represented.

Bruning Ladies Birthday Coffee

The Bruning Ladies Birthday Coffee for January, February and March was held Monday.

The birthday celebrants who attended were Jeri Rippe, Doris Philippi, and Doris Wilken for January, Peg Smith for February and Lorraine Heinrichs for March.

We had guests from Ohio, Darlene Most and Carol Kapperman. There were 13 total.

A delicious apple coffee cake and muffins were served by our hostess Olive Van De Walle.

The April Birthday Coffee will be held on April 6 with Mary Heinrichs as hostess.

Heinrichs visits UNMC with LEAD program fellows

Brad Heinrichs of Bruning was one of the Fellows from the Nebraska Leadership Education/Action Development (LEAD) program who visited the University of Nebraska Medical Center on Feb. 27-28. The group was learning more about UNMC's rural initiatives, outreach and educational efforts as part of the LEAD program.

Housed at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, LEAD is a statewide agricultural leadership development program designed to increase knowledge and understanding of economics and social changes affecting agriculture and rural areas. It is now in its 33rd year.

Each year, LEAD provides up to 30 of Nebraska's most promising adult men and women agriculturalists an opportunity to participate in an intensive two-year educational program designed to enhance the leadership development essential for the long-term future of farming/ranching and agribusiness in Nebraska and the nation.

ALA Unit #329 Meets

The Carleton Legion Auxiliary Voss Unit #329 of Carleton met on February 17, 2015, at 2 p.m., for their regular meeting. The President called the meeting to order. The colors were advance, opening prayer was given and the members joined in reciting the Pledge of Allegiance and the Preamble. The roll call was taken showing six members.

The secretary's minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was read and approved. Under old business, it was reported that Melany delivered the food that was collected to the Blue Valley Community Action Bank in Hebron. The Legion birthday party was discussed. It will be held on March 16 at the cafe in Carleton. Lucinda will send out invitations to the Legion and Auxiliary members.

Under new business, Nancy reported that she received a Girl State application and letter. The members present voted to accept the application as our Girl State representative. The name will be announced at a later date. The Easter egg hunt was discussed. A motion was made by Lucinda and seconded by Carol to co-sponsor the event with the Carleton Businessmen's Club. Motion carried. It will be held on April 4. We will donate prizes and help fill the eggs.

Memorial Day services at the cemetery will be on May 25 at 10:30 a.m. A motion was made by Cris and seconded by Lucinda to have coffee and cookies at the Community Hall after the service.

Having no further business, a prayer for peace was given by Rosalie and Judi retired the colors. Our next meeting will be on April 21 at 2 p.m. The meeting was adjourned. Rosalie had the program on Americanism and Lucinda served lunch.
