•The community discussion held May 2 about future options for a bowling alley. Background: Nine inches of snow in January opened up a mirage of structural problems for the viable business, a staple on Lincoln Avenue in Hebron since 1958.

•In terms of location, the group has looked at buildings adjacent to Brand X; considered using the Blue Valley Bowl structure and rebuilding; and leveling the structure to make room for a new one.

 Drawings of a bowling alley are forthcoming for a feasibility discussion. Background: Blue Valley Bowl's owners, Dale and Janice Klaumann, have voiced their support for the community talks on the future of the sport in Hebron, and are giving their input at the meetings. Hebron Mayor Doug Huber led the first meeting and continues to encourage the community.

After a second meeting uled for May 23, 7 p.m., at the Hebron Activity Center. All are invited to attend.

At the first meeting, Pat Kenner laid out what financing the operation might look like in several scenarios, including wages, and Bryce Mammen told the group he has checked prices for lanes and operational equipment.

About 20 people were in attendance May 2 with a few trickling in after the meeting began. The first order of business was a commitment to continue brainstorming for the sport that brought people together as a community.

Ideas flew — birthday party rooms for revenue; decrease the number of lanes from eight to six to fill leagues; fundraisers; mailings to solicit support; and the structure itself were packed into discussion.

"It's fantastic you are trying to carry this on," Dale Klaumann said.

At the time of the meeting, May 26 was the end date for insurance on the Blue Valley Bowl building.

the current campus

"It is a big transition from eschool to kindergarten and a lot more academic than it used to be," she said.

Her students benefit from the contact with the older elementary students, something they didn't have much of at the primary building. She has also observed how cohesive elementary staff are because they're together.

Her philosophy in the classroom is to get the most out of students.

"I think the thing I try to do best is look at every kid, no matter what their abilities are, and let them know they have a place to come and talk to me," she said.

She pulled the extra mile out of the Hebron High pep club and cheerleading team for the first 17 years she taught in the district.

"The kids love that book. They learn some days are terrible, but tomorrow could be the most wonderful day," she said.

Jacobson wants an education system that looks at each individual child to see their needs are met.

"I feel so blessed I was able to teach in this school system, and my kids were able to go through it and become successful people," she said. Her son is a choir director and music teacher at Lincoln Southwest High School.

The district has also been progressive in technology, which Jacobson said is the most expansive change since she began her career.

Jacobson and the faculty and staff at Thayer Central are lucky, she said.

"To have this beautiful facility and the peer relationships and staff cohesiveness, we are lucky," she said.

Meyer's history in teaching shows the progress she started under the card catalogue system and now participates in the eBook consortium librarians in the Educational Service Unit 5 area. Librarians from Thayer County and beyond gathered to develop the consortium because the OverDrive software used by public libraries was too expensive.

Meyer, who is the district representative of school librarians in Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming for the American Association of School Librarians and the American Library Association, secured grant funds for library remodeling and internal computer wiring through the innovative education grant for Excellence in Education.

She teaches because she loves it

"Thayer Central overall is an excellent school system. They are always on top of the game. It's a wonderful place to educate your kids," Meyer said. Her son, Spencer, was a Hebron Bear. Her daughter, Cassandra, was a Thayer Central Titan. She and Steve have two grandchildren.

For the future, Meyer wants the library to keep expanding and meet the ever changing needs of students.

Once she retires, Jenna Pachta will move into her position, and Meyer thinks she'll be an excellent re-

This weekend brought a beautiful weekend to Thayer County. All because of graduation day on Saturday in all the schools and Mother's Day on Sunday. Residents were busy scurrying to one event after another. There was a whisper of excitement in the air as there always is on graduation day.

Many people had the same thing in common from one corner of the county to the other. It shows you just how important education is in our neighborhood. Something about the blooming of the lilac and the spirea bushes that tells you that the annual ritual is here. Not only for graduation, but it always seems the white spirea are in full bloom for what we used to call "Decoration Day."

It was indeed a Happy Mother's Day for LaDonna Avers living at Hearthstone in York Her room was busy with relatives coming and going. Daughter Audrey Mathiesen came from Lincoln in the morning. After lunch, Russ, Bonnie, and Jennifer Priefert visited her along with Tom, Angie, and Landi Priefert. Late afternoon visitors were Jeff and Ardys Dunsmoor and their daughters, Chelsea, Annie and their children.

Gina and Bill Hudson entertained at a graduation party at their farm home for daughter TaraLee who graduated from Bruning-Davenport on Saturday.

Elaine Davenport of Lincoln didn't disappoint again this year as she once again gifted all the women at the United Church of Christ with a Mother's Day plant.

The Community Center was busy with several graduation parties hosted there on Friday and Saturday. Almost made a small traffic jam in the village!

Bruning-Davenport will have their eighth grade graduation this week at Davenport. Not all schools have this anymore. It indicates a transition from middle school (junior high) to high school. The idea of this probably originated in the earlier days as many young adults had to quit school after the eighth grade to help make a living or work on the farm, thus a ceremony was held to send them out in the world. The practice of having a County eignin grade exam administered by the County Superintendent was common.

A little bit of a musical era ended on Monday evening with Rodney Drews leading middle school chorus and band at B-D. He had returned to teaching music after many years at Henderson. Before that he had worked as a music professor at the University. What a resume this Hebron grad of 1961 has. With retirement, this "Hebron boy" will enjoy life without a job. He said he had experienced a job ever since he was 13. Here I am sitting by this white haired, white bearded man and realized I remember his parents well, as his dad, Rick Drews, was County Treasurer and his mother, Naomi, operated the store, Drews Fabric. My mother being the seamstress that she was worked for her along with Alice Wilken. They were a busy store as sewing was popular and they also made many drapes at that time. Certainly the years have a way of passing rapidly leaving us nothing but memories. Anyway, this Drews man is a great "music" man. Many lives have been touched because of his love for music. He truly will be missed!

It has been entertaining hearing of shopping experiences last Sunday as it was the last day of a box store in Superior. Oh, the people of that area will miss that store. Seems to be a sign of the times. Customers shopping on that last day experienced as much as 95 percent off the given price. It was almost down to the store paying you to take the merchandise. A friend kept me in mind and purchased several Christmas storage boxes. A wreath box was marked like $40 and I think she said she paid 80 cents for it with all the discounts. It really does pay to have friends that keep you in their mind. Some of the last hour shoppers filled cart after cart. One man piled children's clothes in them and he said what his kids couldn't wear he would give to Things and Stuff. That certainly is a win-win situation.

One of the beautiful ladies of the county passed away this past week. Esther Larsen was 103 and a half years old. Interesting that her husband Arnie lived to be exactly the same age. As a couple they were married an incredible 80 years!

An interesting fact this week is that the Train Watching Station had an unusual visitor on Monday. Not the usual watcher as he was from Belgium.

A graveside service will be held Thursday morning at 11 a.m. at the Belvidere Cemetery for Duane Powell. He lived in Texas but was a faithful Alumni Banquet attendee. This year he will be missed. He lived in Belvidere in his early years and now has no known relatives. He served in the military so there will be military services at his graveside.

The last week of school is upon us. And with that comes the State track meet in Omaha this Friday and Saturday. Belvidere had two athletes perform well enough to compete at state level. Damian Stewart will be running representing Thaver Central and TaraLee Hudson won their district throwing the discus for Bruning-Davenport. The wind a couple of weeks ago played havoc with the Little Public Library in Memorial Park. Our good friend from the south, Henry Laber used his carpenter skills to mend it and therefore it is as good as new. Bliss glass shop donated the Plex glass for it. Carol Aude cleaned it and returned the books to it. She also reported that a lady from Byron had called her and wanted to donate some books to it. Nothing like having caring people in the county. It is now ready for the Gravel Grind riders to sit a spell and enjoy a book in the gazebo park. Couldn't finish this week without making mention of the death of singer Doris Day at age 97. Many people of our age, younger and older, remember all the songs that she sang seem so familiar from 1945 to the late sixties. How about "Sentimental Journey" or "Anything You Can Do, I Can Do Better." She also starred in several Gravel Grind: Only a few days before the bicycle riders come pedaling into town. The excitement is building as the welcome group gets ready. Toad's place of business will be open all day Saturday. The Woman's Club will be serving Walking Tacos and pie and the Thayer County people at the Museum will have the doors open. The church will be welcoming the riders as they come into town from the south. This is just not for bikers so come to Belvidere, meet new people. eat and enjoy the day!

Several More Things: 1. Pray for no rain on the Gravel Grind. There is an alternate route. 2. The last time we had a 90 degree day was in October 2018.

3. Make plans to come to Alumni and Friend banquet on May 26. Make reservations with Kenny Else.

4. I promise this won't be so long next week.

Belvidere Woman's Club

Belvidere Woman's Club clean up-flower planting is planned for the club on Thursday, May 16. Members are urged to bring gardening tools, weed pulling hands, and some flowers to plant.

Starting time will be 4:30 at the Gazebo area and the garden at the Whistle Stop. Members will also try to plant the wagon on the Museum grounds (flowers that is, not the wagon).

Even if you are not a member, please come help as our numbers are growing smaller and we do not have enough people to help us plant. The group will then celebrate the end of the club year with a cold one at Toad's.
