Tidbits

Mother Nature rings in spring storms

Nebraska missed a slam from Mother Nature last week, despite an EF-0 tornado with a peak wind of 70 miles-per-hour touching down 2.5 miles northeast of Chester for one minute May 1, according to the National Weather Service.

A stationary landspout tornado (EF-0) had a two-minute touch-down eight miles northwest of Aurora that same day.

Chester's touchdown did not cause significant damage as it moved through an open field. The tornado was captured on video by a local farmer.

Aurora's tornado overturned a center pivot. The touchdown was witnessed by several people.

But in Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration logged tornado reports and high wind speeds. In Pratt, Kan., winds were swirling 92 miles per hour. Hail stretched across all four states.

Additional information is available on the NOAA's website, which reports a myriad of daily weather events.

Council approves pool study

The Hebron City Council approved a study for the pool with the city's share costing approximately $10,000.

City Administrator Chris Fangmeier said the study will review the existing facility for current issues such as leaks, disability regulations and the pool structure itself.

Within the next five years, the pool will need larger repairs — the deep end of the pool has been patched over and over and the electrical system is corroded, Fangmeier said. Grants for larger repairs will want the results of a professional review.

In other business, Diode Communications will turn its cable system and wire services over to Glenwood Blue Hill. A Diode representative said Glenwood provides sound services and will make the transition as seamless as possible. Glenwood will be at the June council meeting to discuss specifics.

Near accidents at the intersection of 9th Street and Duffield Avenue prompted the council to authorize another stop sign. The three-way stop does not require those traveling east on Duffield to stop before crossing the intersection. The three-way stop will now be a four-way stop.

In other business, the council set June 16 as the cleanup day, one week after the city-wide garage sales June 8-9. A time for the cleanup day has not been decided, however, it will most likely be held during the morning hours.

The council again has a list of nuisance properties to mull through, including the barricaded stretch on 4th Street.

Entrance was granted for the corner building at 4th and Lincoln Streets.

Fangmeier said the foundation seemed sound structurally and the upstairs could be renovated into living spaces.

Moving toward the Bottle Shop, Alan Johnson's building at 117 N. 4th St., was briefly discussed. Johnson is clearing the building out, but the structure has settled enough and demolition is recommended, however, the council isn't open to financing the project, which could run from $60,000 to $160,000.

"Those are loose numbers," Fangmeier said.

City Attorney Ben Murray said the council should take the process through district court.

"I don't think we have any other choice," Councilmember Kurt Wiedel said. "We have to rectify the problem. I don't think the city needs to take it over."

Johnson said he had hopes the city would decide the building's fate.

The matter will be on the June agenda.

Regarding other nuisances, Dale Bowman was present to discuss his cleanup at 250 S. 13th St. Bowman has worked on the property and continues to make adjustments.

"I think he's done well," Mayor Shane Day said.

Progress was also made at 212 S. 13th St. The cleanup will be finishing up in the next 30 days.

At 140 S. 13th, progress was reported and the cleanup should be finished in 30 days. The Wayfarer Hotel is next on the owner's list.

In general discussion, Jeff Friesen approached the council with the Oct. 20 date of this year's Oregon Trail Run and requested the city once again sponsor the event.

The run will be on the June agenda.

Fresh look

Roosevelt Park's facelift has begun. Workers said Monday they should be finished with installation by Thursday. The City of Hebron Parks Board purchased the equipment in December for a locked-in price of $120,000 raised via donations from organizations and fundraisers, including Thayer Central Elementary students, who also contributed time and effort. The Hebron City Council said Monday it has plans for several pieces of Roosevelt's old equipment. The parks board will continue to evaluate Hebron's parks. Board secretary, Lori Werner, said the board welcomes comments on the future of Willard Park.

55-mile zones to be revisited

By Nancy McGill

A Wednesday morning Hebron Chamber coffee talk gathering May 2 featured three representatives from the Nebraska Department of Roads, Wesley Wahlgreen, Dist. 4 engineer, Daniel Waddle, traffic engineer and Jason Prokop for NDOR communications for a lengthy discussion on the speed limit on Highway 81 around Hebron, Chester and other communities north along the route.

The discussion came at the tail end of this year's legislative short session that saw lawmakers pass bill 1009, tacking five miles onto the speed limit for state highways and expressways - from 65 miles an hour to 70.

Highway 81 is an expressway of the state highway system and falls under the 65 mile-per-hour state statute based on a uniform concept for safe travel under ideal conditions.

Interstate 80 will stay at 75, Waddle said.

A 2014 study zeroed in on four communities along 81 — the 55 mile-per-hour scoops around Chester, Hebron, Geneva and McCool Junction — and recommended the speed be raised to 65 because drivers in the 85 percentile along the route felt more comfortable driving above the 55 limit at 61 or higher.

"We did the study upon request from the drivers who asked us to look at it and even highway commissioners were asking us," Waddle said. He added drivers at that time were already driving above 55.

The study was data taken from radar under conditions absent of inclement weather.

Waddle said NDOR doesn't conduct studies under congestion or snow or rain because the speed limits are the maximum driving limits under "free-flowing" conditions.

"We were getting a good size sample with radar guns," he said.

Wahlgreen said the 85 percentile figure comes straight from the drivers themselves.

"There are 10,000 miles of roads in Nebraska that we maintain," Prokop said. "We studied 4,000 of them and based on that, it reflects the speed limits people are actually driving."

A result from the 2014 study led Hebron to a 10-mile increase in 2015, but Chester, Geneva and McCool Junction didn't bite.

The other three communities did not concur with the study," Waddle said.

The roads department will, however, be tasked with once again studying those communities and deciding on whether the limits will be raised, Hebron included.

"If we were to raise the limit to 70, we would anticipate a small increase, but we don't anticipate it being a full five miles per hour increase," Waddle said about speeds drivers are comfortable at. "If 70 is the maximum, it is the maximum."

Expressways were designed for driving 70 miles per hour, he said.

"Intersections should be in compliance with that design speed," Waddle said. Rural traffic isn't affected by driveways or businesses as much as city traffic. "The decision to raise the speed limit in those four communities will be Next Sunday, Father Boll will give service at Campbell. Father Alpin will take his place in Hebron and hear English and French confessions.

The wisdom of "making haste slowly" is being manifested in the coal-prospecting proposition. Its novelty was such that even if it could have been carried with a rush, such a course would have been unfair to those who are slow in making up their minds. The coal meeting next Monday bids fair to be well attended. No precinct should be unrepresented. Many of the strongest supports of the coal proposition are found in Hubbell.

On Tuesday morning, the town was thrown into considerable excitement by the news that the United States Express Company's safe in the C.K.&N. depot here had been blown open by burglars and all the contents of value taken. The report proved true, and a visit to the depot revealed how thoroughly the "crooks" had done their work.

Later: Elsewhere will be found the account of the burglary of the safe in C.K.&N. depot. Our readers will be glad to learn that the burglars have already been captured and are now the unwilling guests of Sheriff Green in the Thayer County jail.

The Hebron Band, under the management of Prof. Mitchell, gave a band concert and musical entertainment in the elegant new Bruning Opera House Thursday night, to a large and well pleased audience.

Everybody is on the move. Some are building new houses, some are repairing barns, out buildings and fences, and some are conducting a genuine cleaning up. Others are contracting for great "chunks" of Bruning real estate, which is selling higher than a kite.

One deal was transacted last week whereby Gerd Leenerts came into possession of the three lots back of Henry Damm's new house where the barn stands and Henry Leenerts, his son, came into possession of the three lots and beautiful new house of Henry Damm's which he built, this last winter, the whole consideration being $2,650, which was $100 more than what the house, barn and lots cost Mr. Damm.

Blazing wood and coal were blown all over the kitchen, but extinguished by the flood of water which poured from the sixty gallon tank.

Smart Moves

Health News

Smart Moves is a lifestyle change program that helps participants learn to live healthy. Thayer County Health Services is offering their third session of a successful program to bring about lifestyle changes beginning May 30 from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Smart Moves is a year-long program designed for those who are at risk for diabetes and want to change their lifestyle to avoid getting diabetes. A free no-obligation informational session will be held at 5 p.m., Wednesday, May 23, in the Bruning Conference Room located in the lower level of the hospital. You may enter through the Korf Fitness and Wellness Center and staff will be there to direct you.

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) estimates more than 84.1 million U.S. adults are now living with a condition called prediabetes, a condition that if not treated often leads to Type 2 Diabetes.

The report confirms that the rate of new diabetes diagnoses remains steady. However, the disease continues to represent a growing health problem: Diabetes was the seventh leading cause of death in the U.S. in 2015. The Medicare Program alone spends more than $104 billion every year in treating patients with this preventable disease.

Diabetes is a serious disease that can often be managed through physical activity, diet, and the appropriate use of insulin and other medications to control blood sugar levels. Individuals with diabetes are at increased risk of serious health complications including premature death, vision loss, heart disease, stroke, kidney failure, and amputation of toes, feet, or legs.

To help prevent Type 2 Diabetes, the CDC developed the Diabetes Prevention Program called Smart Moves. Smart Moves is a lifestyle intervention program designed to help people at risk for Type 2 Diabetes make lasting changes. This program offers great lifestyle support and emphasizes that even small changes can have a large impact on a person's health.

The Smart Moves program is made up of two parts. The first part of the program consists of group sessions that meet weekly for 16 weeks. The second part consists of group sessions that meet monthly. The Smart Moves program covers a full year.

During the year, participants are given positive encouragement to make real lifestyle changes: eating healthier, adding physical activity to their daily lives, and improving problem-solving and coping skills. This evidence-based program is facilitated by a trained lifestyle coach. The results show participants are able to make changes in their lives to prevent diabetes.

DDP lifestyle coaches complete a two-day lifestyle change training session for Smart Moves, which is recognized by Centers for Disease Control and Prevention as a successful diabetes prevention program.

To help determine your risk for Type 2 Diabetes, a diabetes risk assessment tool is available online at <http://thayercountyhealth.com/smart-moves-program/>. For further information about the upcoming Smart Moves class, contact Kathy Retzlaff, Registered Dietitian/Nutritionist, 402-768-6041, Ext. 160 or kretzlaff@tchsne.org.

Accident report

April 24, 8:01 p.m. - Two 15-year-old girls, Katelyn Poppe, of Bryon and Sena Petersen, of Carleton, were taken to Thayer County Health Services after Poppe took her eyes off the 5200 Road near Highway 136 and Deshler. Poppe was placing a drink in the cup holder when she realized the vehicle she was driving, a 2006 Pontiac TOR, was headed off the road into an embankment. The vehicle, which was listed as totaled, also hit the corner post of a barbwire fence - the fence had an estimated damage of $500.

April 25, 4:50 p.m. - Elizabeth Harder, 21, of Lincoln, was on Roads U and 6300 near Belvidere when she hit loose gravel and lost control of her vehicle, a 2006 Pontiac Torrent, which went into the east ditch, hit a culvert and rolled over, coming to a rest on its top. No injuries were reported. The Pontiac was listed as totaled and the culvert had an estimated $50 in damage.

LBNRD receives grant from Nebraska Environmental Trust

Little Blue Natural Resources District announced today that it will receive $95,865 from the Nebraska Environmental Trust for the "Little Blue NRD Oxbow Reconnections for Groundwater Recharge" project.

An important aspect of this project is the quantification and evaluation of benefits for each site. Project evaluations will also be used as a basis for determining replicability across the basin. Specifically, the NET funding would support aspects of the project related to wetland restoration and installation of twelve monitoring wells and equipment.

Constructing these projects helps the LBNRD work towards several goals that are documented within the 2015 Little Blue Basin Water Management Plan.

The LBNRD intends to utilize each site as an opportunity for the public, in addition to other NRDs and resource agencies, to see firsthand the multiple benefits and functionality of an artificial groundwater recharge project.

The Nebraska Legislature created the Nebraska Environmental Trust in 1992. Using revenue from the Nebraska Lottery, the Trust has provided over $289 million in grants to over 2,000 projects across the state.

Anyone – citizens, organizations, communities, farmers and businesses – can apply for funding to protect habitat, improve water quality and establish recycling programs in Nebraska. The Nebraska Environmental Trust works to preserve, protect and restore our natural resources for future generations.

Speed

Community members piping into the discussion disagreed with the NDOR study:

"If they're going 70, they're going to go 75. That's just people."

"These intersections are dangerous when you're going that fast."

"The concerns of the people is not who is driving through on 81. The concerns of the people are those of us who live here and are turning onto 81."

"I don't buy the survey. We're the ones who live here."

They also gave their visual takes.

"We can't see around those hills," Rev. Keith Brozek, who also drives a school bus, said. "I have had two funerals for people who were crossing 81 and didn't make it."

Brozek said he has to cross 81 at several different locations six times a day, and make left and right turns.

He said if the buses have to cross the highway, they aren't allowed enough time to gather speed.

"These trucks are right on you," Brozek said. "As you try to cross, you're not sure what's coming up over that hill or curve. There's not a lot of room to maneuver." Brozek said Road 6200 is a good example of seeing sudden traffic round the curve.

Bus coordinator, Denny Fangmeier said the 70-mile speed limit would be "excessive."

From the north or the south of Hebron, Fangmeier said the curves are difficult to see around. Bus drivers north of the Stastny, making a left hand turn toward Geneva, cannot see which lane oncoming traffic from the south is in.

Fangmeier prefers a lower speed limit for more time to react.

The curves and hills obstruct a clear line of sight, Hebron resident, Dave Corliss said.

"If you come into the north entrance on what we all call the hook road, you can see traffic coming from the south. They pop up over that hill," Corliss said. He also called attention to Hebron's seven entrances.

Resident Crystal Fangmeier agrees with a uniform speed limit, such as 65, because she and her family are driving based on how fast other drivers are going.

"We expect that driver to be coming at the speed limit. Lowering the speed limit bothers me," she said.

"If the limit is lowered, you are going to increase your variance as to what drivers are driving," Wahlgreen said. "The safest condition is when we can get everyone driving the same speed."

Hebron City Council-member Larry Fangmeier said he understands uniform speed limits.

Resident Wes Tracy said the state should decide on a uniform speed limit.

Like Brozek, Tracy and his wife, Judy, experienced a funeral - their daughter, Rebecca Tracy, who died at the intersection of Highways 81 and 136.

She was 17 years old and the fifth fatality since the intersection at Highways 136 and 81 had opened in 1996. Seventeen accidents had been logged at the intersection.

Shortly after her death, 135 people met in the Hebron High school gymnasium to discuss safety. The department of roads took steps to decrease the accidents.

"You closed the turning lanes off when Rebecca was killed. I applaud you for that," Tracy said. Wahlgreen responded with condolences, but Tracy said Rebecca wasn't a loss.

"We know where she's at and we can't wait to get there ourselves," Tracy said.

Whether the speed limit is 55, 65 or 70, the sheriff and his deputies will enforce it, Thayer County Sheriff David Lee said.

But almost immediately, Lee described how he has come to dread accident alerts.

"Shane and I are both on the fire department as well as our two other deputies," Lee said. Deputy and Hebron Mayor, Shane Day, was also at the coffee gathering. "You hated to hear the tones. You almost knew where you were going. It was going to be 81 and 136."

Lee said after the turning lanes were removed, the number of accidents and fatalities dropped, but on speed, he couldn't determine a significant decrease in accidents.

"The turning lanes were a big issue," he said. "We've had fatality accidents when the speed is 55. We've had them out there when the speed is 65. We're going to have accidents, no matter what the speed is."

It's nothing to see drivers zooming by at 83 or 86 miles-per-hour, he said.

"I get complaints the deputies are sitting in the median. Good, complain all day to me," Lee said. "These people from Texas feel comfortable driving 85, 90 on our roads because they do it down there every day."

He said there are days he can't buy a stop on 81 with 68 as the average speed. Drivers will go five miles over the limit and tell Lee they figure he'll give them a break.

The sheriff's office is open to suggestions on the speed limit around Hebron, however, Lee personally dislikes the 55 zone around Geneva.

Karla Joe said NDOR needs to consider John Deere recently bought a parcel on the east side of 81, south of MetalQuest.

"Farmers are going to be pulling equipment in and out. People will be doing business on that side of 81. It's something you need to consider because you will have another business at the crest of the hill," Joe said.

A call to Landmark Implement wasn't returned.

Fangmeier suggested signage to raise awareness to limited visibility.

"If they're raising it," Lee said, "we are going to need something like slow moving vehicles ahead." If we set it at 65, they want to run 70. We set it at 70, they want to run 75."

Joe asked if residents need a petition. "We have a lot of people in this community who are concerned."

The Hebron Journal-Register requested a copy of the 2014 study from NDOR last week. The study had not been received as of press time.

Drivers turning left onto Highway 81 from Road 6200 south of Hebron, must judge oncoming traffic from the north.

The "button hook" on Highway 81 is the first of a series of curves around Hebron and further south. Thayer Central school bus coordinator, Denny Fangmeier, said several of the curves make it difficult to see oncoming traffic.

Awe! How lovely it is! Did you take the time to touch the morning? How lovely it was! Such a few days in the year that you can have the doors and windows open that the bugs and flies aren't buzzing. With that comes the song of the red cardinal. He sings and sings and sings...then you are reminded what a good day it really is!

A busy week ahead! District track meets--last chance to qualify for State Track.

Mother's Day is Sunday and Saturday is graduation. You almost could guess that if you happen to smell the sweet lilacs and see the plum bushes blooming! These were always a hint of graduation approaching as almost mistakenly they would be on the graduation stage along with the graduates.

Isn't it funny how the scents of some flowers spark a memory of your growing up years? There was a sidewalk hill that created a fun place to roller skate and as you skate the special smell of petunias would come floating through the air. So guess what? That smell today makes me want to grab a skate key to tighten those skates! Then zooming freely down the hill I would go! Oh, to be able to do that today, but all that is possible is to dream of that memory.

The weather has held and most farmers have gotten their corn planted, and the cattle moved to pasture. But now the next important question is, "When is it going to rain?" Still so dry. And yet the rain kept coming during the Kentucky Derby. As they played the song "Old Kentucky Home," it rained and rained.

They said they received over three inches and the horses and jockeys at the back of the race would hardly be visible. It established a record for the day of the Run for the Roses. Such beautiful animals they are and the money they are worth. Someday it would be fun to wear one of those big flowered hats and sip on a mint julep. But the nursing home seems to be looming more all the time. Be more like sitting with an old hair net and sipping on a can of Ensure!

Things are "a changin'." Turned on the channel 10

May baskets...

Residents at the Care Home were busy making May Day baskets to share with other residents and staff. It was a very fun surprise for staff to receive the baskets from the residents. Pictured are staff members, Brady and Martha, with Care Home resident, Ron, delivering May baskets.

Commerce announced a massive tariff on paper used to print newspapers. This tariff against Canada will hike the price of paper imported for newsprint. He maintains that our rural newspapers tell the story of our state. It is an important way we believe to keep our areas going. Many think it is not important, but there is a chance that many people look forward to the county news coming in the mail.

Granted messages are sent electronically but there is something to be said about holding that paper and reading important and unimportant news. It is a way of life out here in the "boondocks." (Is there such a word?)

You probably read the story from Council Bluffs. A mother was shopping in the Walmart store with her almost one year old girl when the little girl stopped breathing. The mother frantically yelled and two nurses came to her rescue that were shopping there too. One was a pediatric nurse and the other one worked in the Emergency room. They immediately started CPR and saved the little girl's life. So this week let's honor our nurses. If you happen to see one, be sure to thank them. And by the way, thanks to our schools who educate them!

Ken and Jeanette Else attended their granddaughter's, Brittany Waller, graduation from the University of Nebraska this past weekend. After six years of study she earned a Master's Degree in Speech Language Pathology. She will be working in Preschools for the Lincoln Public Schools. She is the daughter of the late Cindy Else.

Angie and Ben Barrett visited Angie's mother, Linda Hudson, on Sunday. They enjoyed a trip to Cheryl Christensen's Petal Patch.

Be certain to mark your calendars for Sunday, May 27, at 9:00 a.m. Belvidere's Memorial service in conjunction with the UCC Church will be the place to be. After this service, a 10:30 Sunday morning brunch will be served till 1:00 p.m.

Thoughts to the victims of the interstate accidents. There have been far too many! Just heard that only 80 percent of Nebraskans buckle up.

If you watch Net TV at all, you are aware of story teller, Ken Burns. He has traveled the world and along with his travels he has collected quilts from many areas. In 1997, the University built the International Quilt Study Center on the campus. Ken Burns has selected this place to display his quilts! A big plus for the International Quilt Center.

When a youngster, one thing I remember my mother always telling my sister, "Get your nose out of that book" and get something done. She loved to read and one of her favorite stories was "Little Women."

It is a story of four sisters growing from childhood to adulthood. Just a reminder this awesome story by Louisa Mae Alcott is told on NET 1 Masterpiece. It will be a premiere on Sunday, May 13, at 8:00 p.m.

After you watch this story, you will indeed be wanting to sing the song, "Take the Time to Touch the Morning" by Don Gibson. "Have you ever loved somebody, that you will never see again?" TAKE THE TIME BEFORE IT SLIPS AWAY

Acreage reporting requirement deadline

Thayer County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Jay A. VanWesten is reminding area producers that accurate and timely reporting of acres for all crops and land uses is an FSA program eligibility requirement. He is encouraging Thayer County producers to communicate with the FSA office as soon as spring planting is complete.

"Acreage certification is our busiest time of year," CED VanWesten said. "It is important that producers connect with our FSA office shortly after they get done with their field work."

CED VanWesten said Thayer County producers should contact the FSA office as soon as their planting is complete. County office staff will set an appointment time with the producer to report their acres and complete the required paperwork.

"Office appointments are essential in order for our county office staff to get all

A dinner was held for Takelynn Hergott on Sunday at the Belvidere Community Center to honor her for her confirmation at Grace Lutheran Church. Have you had an opportunity yet to see the "3 Crosses?"

Warm weather means the water can be turned on so the bathrooms at the Whistle Stop Station will be ready for use.

Mike Carr, son of Jan and Dick Carr, had surgery last week in Omaha. His parents drove to Omaha from Texas to spend time with him. The surgery was serious, but they hope the problem has successfully been corrected.

On Wednesday afternoon Representative Adrian Smith and his aide visited the Thayer County Museum. Representatives of the Historical Society visited with him about the Humanities program. The Museum used one of their programs for their spring dinner. The Humanities program is an affiliate of the National Endowment.
