Hebron Christmas Fair...

The Hebron Chamber of Commerce will once again sponsor the annual Christmas Fair Nov. 20. Although it is about five weeks away, booth reservations are currently being taken.

As always, the annual celebration features pictures with Santa, entertainment, food, as well as craft and business vendors. Booths will be located in both Thayer Central gymnasiums.

For more information contact Chamber Director Tina Reed at 402-768-7156, or by fax at 402-768-6176 or by email at hebronchamber@hotmail.com.

Football contest...

Dave Klaumann, Hebron, takes the first place win this week after guessing closest to the point spread in the tie-breaker. In fact, everyone missed the same two games as Klaumann, but his guess of Nebraska over Michigan State by six points claims the first place spot. The actual point spread was 21.

Remember, the tie-breaker goes to the person who guesses closest to the actual point spread. It doesn't matter if the guess is over the correct points or not.

Claiming second were both Charley Whitehead, Davenport, and Dennis Johnson, Hebron, after both guessed four points in the point spread. And finally, third place goes to Nelva Deeke, Hubbell, after she guessed three points in the tie-breaking game.

This is the final week for the football contest and the grand prize of $150 remains unclaimed. You'll find this week's entry inside. Good luck and happy guessing.

Fall Achievement night...

Thayer County Family & Community Education Clubs and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension in Thayer County are working together to sponsor the Fall Achievement night.

Everyone is invited to join the group for a meal provided by the ladies of Trinity Lutheran Church in Bruning. Following the dinner, Les Hill will discuss the purpose and working order of the Alternative School in Hebron.

The public is invited to attend. The program and supper will be held on Nov. 7, at 6:30 p.m., at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Bruning. For more information or to make reservations, call the Thayer County Extension Office at 402-768-7212.

Glass block keepsakes...

The glass blocks recently removed from the upper story windows of the Thayer County Courthouse are currently available as keepsakes.

Etchings of the courthouse grace two of the three different sizes of blocks which are on display in the courthouse lobby. The largest block does not have the courthouse etched on it.

There is a fee for the keepsakes which must be ordered at the Clerk's office.

Hospital Foundation recognizes Guild's volunteer efforts

Over 300 people attended the Hospital Foundation Variety Show held at the Thayer County fairgrounds in Deshler Sunday night. The annual revue showcases local talent as well as brings in special musical talent. This year Duelling Pianos musicians Marc Doiron and George Winters brought a lively mix of piano entertainment using 176 keys of fun.

Included in the event, the Foundation each year recognizes an individual or group whose dedication and effort to Thayer County Health Services is unsurpassed. This year the "Volunteer of the Year" award was presented to the Hospital Guild for its efforts through the Things and Stuff shop located in Hebron.

Since 1950, the Hospital Guild has provided support in one form or another to TCHS. This active group of over 500 members from the 11 communities of Thayer County, was originally formed by a few who sought ways to support the local hospital. Initial assistance included mending hospital linens, visiting and reading to patients and canning garden produce for the winter months.

Topics to be covered include what livestock may be affected, guidelines for identification, health certificates, use of brands, and discussion of traceability activities in Nebraska and what effect the proposed rule may have on the Nebraska livestock industry.

Livestock producers, veterinarians and livestock market owners are encouraged to attend.

Similar meetings may be scheduled across the state throughout the next year. For more information on the NDA's Locate in 48 Animal Disease Traceability program, call 800-572-2473.

Step back to the golden age of radio

1940s radio revue dedicated to local veterans

By Jacque Rocole
Hebron Journal-Register

Back before there were televisions and computers, families of the 1930s and 1940s gathered round the radio to listen to their favorite programs much like happens today in front of the TV. Commercial radio with regularly scheduled broadcasts didn't really start until 1920, but quickly became mainstream in the next ten years. The world became closer as radio connected the continents bringing news and entertainment across the globe.

During the movement stars were born including Burns and Allen, Fibber McGee and Molly, Bing Crosby, Milton Berle, Amos and Andy, Ed Sullivan, Guy Lombardo, the Marx Brothers, Lucille Ball, Abbott and Costello, and of course, the unforgettable Bob Hope.

From soap operas to mysteries, big band music to local news, sketch comedy to game shows, radio entertained people at home, at work and at war.

My Thoughts Exactly

By Jacquie Rocole
Journal-Register News Director

Just some rambling observations this week:
The Thayer County Hospital Guild was recognized Sunday night for its dedicated service to the hospital through the Things and Stuff shop. (See Hospital Foundation Recognizes Guild's Volunteer Efforts on the front page.) Each Wednesday for over a decade, I've sat across the street from this shop and marveled at the business it takes in; more often than not there are people waiting for the place to open. But it was still a surprise to me that the business took in an astounding $25,000 each year. That's $25,000 from quarters and occasionally dollars because if you've ever been there, you know the items are priced mighty reasonably. The volunteers recognized Sunday deserve the pat-on-the-back award, if for anything, the intense amount of hours they put in sorting, organizing, repairing, and preparing items to be sold, let alone running the shop during business hours.

* * *

Tricked again! For the last three years my pumpkins have magically disappeared from my yard only to be found in different areas of the city splattered upon the street, guts stretched out for all to see. It doesn't take a rocket scientist to realize my pumpkins are particularly attractive to would-be hooligans in that my house sits on a corner lot and is lit up by a streetlight. It is exactly the type of yard I myself purloined pumpkins from when I roamed the streets as a youth on Halloween. The challenge is just too big to pass up. But, this year I decided not to finance this particular excursion and bought only gourds, because everyone knows, especially pumpkin snatchers, that gourds do not go splat and are, therefore, not worth the effort of rendering from yards. In my smugness I kept an eye on my neighbors' pumpkins just to see how many of their's would disappear, but alas, I was tricked again. Everyone's pumpkins gloriously decorated their yards the morning after Halloween. And I saw no smashed pumpkins on the streets of Hebron.

* * *

I can't remember the last time we had this beautiful of an autumn for this length of time. It sounds like it's coming to an end this week as we could possibly see our first snowflakes Wednesday, but up to now, it sure has been wonderful. Next week we'll take a look at the extended winter weather forecast. Meteorologists are predicting extremes due to La Nina, a climate pattern that occurs when sea surface temperatures across the equatorial central and eastern Pacific are cooler than normal. Generally speaking, though, it will probably be cold and snowy as usual.

Revitalizing Warm Season Pastures

Cheatgrass, downy brome, bluegrass, smooth brome and other cool-season plants have invaded many warm-season grass pastures and rangeland. This invasion shifts good grazing away from summer and towards springtime when most folks have plenty of pasture anyway.

Cool-season grasses take over summer pastures relatively easily because they develop rapidly during fall and spring when native grass provides little competition. Then they use moisture and nutrients during spring before warm-season plants have a chance to use them.

Heavy grazing this fall after hard freezes when warm-season plants are dormant and unaffected as well as early next spring will weaken and reduce summer competition from bluegrass and brome.

This can stop further invasion and slowly improve summer production. A prescribed spring burn also can do wonders for a warm-season pasture if you have enough fuel to carry a fire and can conduct the burn safely and legally.

An even faster approach is to apply glyphosate herbicides like Roundup now in late fall. Hard freezes turn warm-season plants dormant but weedy cool-season grasses remain green. Apply glyphosate when temperatures during the day are above 60 degrees and nighttime temperatures stay above 40 degrees for best results.

This will kill or weaken the green and susceptible cool-season grasses but not affect dormant warm-season plants. By reducing competition, warm-season plants will grow more vigorously next year and provide better summer pasture.

Don't settle for invaded native pasture. Transform them back to vigorous warm-season grasses for better summer grazing.

Reducing Yucca in Rangeland
Across much of western and central Nebraska, yucca has nearly taken over some pastures. While able to produce attractive flowers, dense stands of yucca can devastate grass production.

Yucca plants develop rapidly once established on drier rangeland sites. They produce a deep taproot that competes aggressively for the limited water in these soils. Since cattle rarely eat it during summer, grass production decreases while yucca thrives.

Herbicides like Remedy, Tordon, Velpar, or Cimarron Plus can control yucca, but only when each individual plant is sprayed directly. General spraying of rangeland is cost prohibitive, although small patches can and should be controlled before they expand.

When yucca covers too much land to spray, the only cost effective way to reduce its impact is to winter graze. During winter, yucca often is the only green plant around. Sometimes cows actually will get down on their knees, lay their head sideways on the ground, and chew through the base of the plant to get to the moist, tender parts. After several consecutive winters of grazing, yucca stands can be reduced so grass again thrives during summer.

Now that summer range is dormant for the winter, grazing will do little harm to your grasses. Ample summer rain also produced more grass than usual so grass is more plentiful than usual for winter grazing. This might be a good time to reclaim some of your rangeland back from yucca. Winter grazing is your best tool.

Message From The Governor

By Dave Heineman
Nebraska Governor

Protecting Nebraska's Natural Resources

For several months now, our state has had an ongoing conversation and discussion about the proposed Keystone XL Pipeline, currently planned to cross Nebraska's most precious water resource, the Ogallala Aquifer. As you can imagine, Nebraskans have very strong opinions on this issue, and I appreciate Nebraskans willingness to share their opinions with me.

There are many different opinions on proposed pipelines. Some interest groups are opposed to the pipeline because they don't want an oil sands pipeline in Nebraska. Labor organizations support the pipeline because of the short term construction jobs associated with the building of the pipeline.

Here is my position - I support the pipeline, but I'm opposed to a route that goes through the Sandhills and over the Ogallala Aquifer. I speak for myself and most Nebraskans when I say we do not want to risk an oil spill or leak over the Aquifer. TransCanada already has a pipeline route on the eastern side of the state. I would support the proposed pipeline being routed by the current pipeline.

The key decision on this pipeline is the permitting decision that will be made by the Obama Administration. That's why I have urged President Barack Obama and Secretary of State Hillary Clinton to deny the permit needed to be obtained through the U.S. Department of State. That will force a change in the route or the pipeline won't be built. The Obama Administration could also approve the permit, but only if TransCanada changes the route. Either solution would be acceptable to most Nebraskans.

I and other elected officials have asked TransCanada to voluntarily change the route, but they have said no. The Obama Administration has said they will make a permit decision by the end of the year.

One thing is very clear - the State of Nebraska would have a stronger legal basis for its action if it acted prior to the permit decision by the Obama Administration. In perfect hindsight, the State should have acted several years ago, but that's not where we are today and we need to move forward.

Recently, State Senator Mike Flood of Norfolk, Speaker of the Nebraska Legislature, indicated he would oppose a Special Session to enact State Senator Annette Dubas of Fullerton's proposal to establish a siting regulatory scheme. He cited concerns related to federal preemption and special legislation. His concerns are legitimate and justified.

This is a complex and serious legal issue, complicated further by the authority the federal government has for permitting pipelines and the safety of the pipeline. While the state may have some limited siting authority, it is not unlimited and absolute.

My staff and I have had many conversations with Speaker Flood and other Senators about whether the State of Nebraska could act at this stage of the permit process in a legal and constitutional manner. There may be alternatives, but it won't be easy.

Additionally, we recognize that this is a potential legal mine field. However, Nebraskans are expecting our best efforts to determine if alternatives exist.

That is why I have called a Special Session of the Nebraska Legislature to begin on November 1st. Our state legislators will have an opportunity to have a thoughtful and thorough public discussion about alternative solutions that could impact the route of the pipeline in a legal and constitutional manner. We are committed to protecting Nebraska's most valuable resource - its water.

I want to thank my fellow Nebraskans for sharing their views with me on this important issue. If you want to make a difference, please write President Obama and Secretary of State Clinton and share your views with them. Thank you.

Weekly Report

U.S. Senator For Nebraska

New EPA Rule Devastating for Nebraska

In what has become a familiar and devastating narrative across the country, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) continues to ignore much of the cumulative economic damage caused by their heavy-handed regulations. The most recent example is the Cross-State Air Pollution Rule (CSAPR), an impending EPA plan to regulate emissions in Nebraska and 27 other states mostly in the eastern half of the country. The CSAPR carries a massive price tag and demands drastic changes. Added to the litany of other regulations being imposed by Washington on the power-generating industry, it could be devastating.

We all support clean air. The problem is a troubling lack of transparency and an unreasonable timeframe mandated by EPA for reaching new standards. EPA has taken the unprecedented approach of setting draconian benchmarks in July 2011 and demanding that states meet those benchmarks by dramatically lowering emissions just five months later, by January 2012. As is often the case with sweeping federal regulations, smaller towns and rural areas operating their own generating facilities would be hit the hardest.

Hastings finds itself faced with the following grim outlook: Because EPA's final rule changed so much, the city is hiring an outside firm to help it analyze the rule's impact, which alone cost almost $100,000. The city figures decreased generation will hike operation costs by at least $3.8 million per year. Including costs of retrofits for this rule and two others in the works, and the total cost over 5 years is between $40 and $50 million. This doesn't include expected additional EPA fines. Fremont has indicated the CSAPR and two other EPA rules will cost customers about $35 million over the next three years.

As the only state in the country with 100 percent public power, Nebraska rate-payers foot the bill for the costs of generating and delivering power. CSAPR will cost the Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD), our largest electric utility, approximately $6 million next year in reduced revenue in addition to mandating approximately $40 million in costs before the end of 2012. These dramatic costs will inevitably be shifted to electricity users in counties across the state during a time of economic uncertainty.

Additionally, the new costs of the CSAPR Rule will be passed down to Nebraska farmers and ranchers, who would be hit doubly hard by higher energy costs to raise feed grains, oilseeds, and livestock. Utilities in Nebraska and across the country will have to abandon coal and be forced to compete for natural gas, driving up important agriculture input costs such as fertilizer. If you use electricity or natural gas in your home or business, look for your monthly bills to go up.

I am working on legislation in the Senate to delay this rule so it can be implemented on a more reasonable and affordable timeline. There is no debate over whether or not we want clean air; the debate is about how we best achieve this goal. Unreasonable timelines that put jobs at risk and cause electricity bills to skyrocket are not the answer. I will press EPA to apply common sense to the implementation of this rule or scratch it altogether for a more sensible approach.

November National Family Care Giver Month

November is National Family Caregiver's month, a time to honor, thank and assist family caregivers. The National Family Caregivers Association (NFCA) offers three steps that family caregivers can take every day to make their lives easier, improve the care they provide their loved one, and raise overall awareness: Believe in Yourself, Protect Your Health and Reach Out for Help.

According to the National Family Caregivers Association (NFCA), more than one quarter (26.6 percent) of the adult population has provided care for a chronically ill, disabled or aging family member or friend during the past year. Based on current census data, that translates into more than 50 million people.

Recent medical research indicates the stress associated with caregiving can lead to a weakened immune system and in some cases even premature death for the caregiver. The number of seniors over the age of 65 is expected to increase at a much faster rate than the number of caregivers.

Beyond the impact to family caregivers, U.S. businesses are also affected by employees providing care to loved ones. Family caregivers comprise 13 percent of the workforce with companies losing a combined average of $34 billion each year due to employees' need to care for loved ones.

The following are a few simple ways non-caregivers and support family or friends who are the caregiver for a loved one. This list includes realistic examples of how anyone can offer assistance to family caregivers:

- Call and ask how he or she is doing. Don't offer advice, just listen. Being able to vocalize the stress can be a tremendous stress reliever for the caregiver.

- Offer assistance. Family caregivers often feel like there is never enough time in the day to get the basics done. Offer to walk the dog, mow the yard, pick up groceries or make dinner.

- Send a note. A cheerful note or card out of the blue that just says you are thinking about them can help brighten their day.

- Invite them out. If the caregiver can leave their loved one alone for a few hours, invite the caregiver out – go to dinner, the movies, or for a cup of coffee – everyone needs a break.

- Offer the gift of respite. Volunteer to stay with the care recipient for a few hours to allow the family caregiver to take a break or recommend they research an agency with trained caregivers.

Without question, the topic of caring for a family member or a friend affects all of us directly or indirectly. Former First Lady Rosalynn Carter may have said it best when referring to the topic of caregivers, "There are only four kinds of people in the world: those who have been caregivers, those who currently are caregivers, those who will be caregivers and those who will need caregivers."

On December 7, 1941, at 2:22 p.m., in one of the most precedent-setting announcements to flash over the Associated Press wire, the news of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor was relayed by all four networks. The following day record audiences tuned in as President Roosevelt sent a message to a joint session of Congress that the United States was at war. For the next four years radio would play one of its most important roles in history as it brought World War II into American homes.

Programming reached out to families by capitalizing on the bravery exhibited by U.S. soldiers "over there" through sometimes somber, often heroic, but always heartfelt news. Mention of those brave men and women who fought to protect the U.S. was made in almost every show on the air through dedications, congratulations and recognition.

In celebration of this momentous era in history, local talent is currently putting together a radio revue much like what would have been heard in the 1940's. The show, dedicated to area veterans in celebration of Veterans Day, will feature the likes of Ricky and Lucy Ricardo, Abbott and Costello, Betty Davis, Marilyn Monroe, Burns and Allen and Bob Hope, played by local individuals. Add to these features special musical selections by local students and the show is sure to bring back memories to those who lived through the golden age of radio.

Produced by Jane Dodes, the 1940's Radio Show will be held at the Chester Auditorium, Saturday, Nov. 19, at 7 p.m., and again Sunday, Nov. 20, at 2 p.m. A free-will collection will be held to fund the purchase of new curtains for the Chester Auditorium stage.

Magdanz, Henry Exchange Vows In Lincoln

Anna Magdanz and Chet Henry of Longmont, Colo., recited their marriage vows on Oct. 15 at Country Pines in Lincoln. The entire event was held outdoors using fall colors and cycling decoration.

Pastor Eric Boston performed the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Wayne and Pam Magdanz of Lincoln and Allen and ReNee Henry of Daykin.

Grandmother of the bride is Virginia Nelson of Wayne and grandparents of the groom are Gertrude Dux of Hebron, and Wesley and Viola Henry of Daykin.

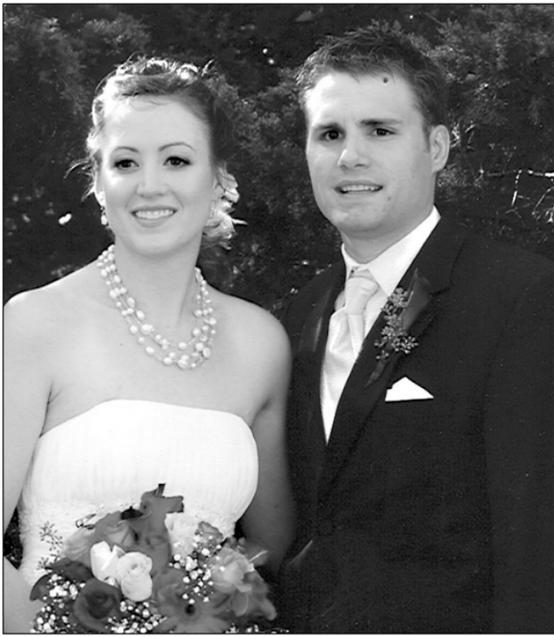

The altar flowers were in loving memory of the grandparents who have gone before and remain in the family's hearts always — W.G. Nelson, Gordana Magdanz, Norma Magdanz and Tarrah Magdanz, grandparents of the bride, and Marvin Dux, grandfather of the groom.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. She wore a beaded sterling silver heart bracelet, which was a gift from the groom's parents. Matron of honor was Jenika Florence, friend of the couple.

Bridesmaids were Jessie Phillips, Mikaela Sandhorst, friends of the bride and Kylie Magdanz, sister-in-law of the bride. Personal attendant was Laura Harris, cousin of the bride. Junior bridesmaid was Shaylynn Langan, cousin of the bride. Flower girl was Vera Magdanz, cousin of the bride. The girls wore apple red dresses.

The groom carried a special engraved silver pocket watch, which was a gift from his parents.

Best man was Nick Anderson, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Gavin Koehler and Matt Farnham, friends of the groom and

Anna and Chet Henry

Luke Magdanz, brother of the bride.

Ring bearer was Gabriel Henry, son of the bride and groom. The men wore dark brown tuxedos with red and ivory accents.

Ushering the guests were Branden Dux and Thomas Dux, cousins of the groom. Ben Magdanz, cousin of the bride, handed out bubbles and programs.

The scripture was read by Jordan Dux, cousin of the groom. Allen Henry, father of the groom, led The Lord's Prayer.

Vocalists were Rhonda Bostrom, friend of the bride and groom; Nick Calvin, cousin of the bride and Sarah McLaughlin, friend of the bride's family. Keyboardist was Noah Calvin, cousin of the bride and Kristen Works, friend of the bride's family.

The wedding reception was held at Country Pines. Host and hostesses were Dennis and Vivian Runnels, aunt and uncle of the groom and Alan and Kaye Mussman, friends of the groom's family. Kate McBride was the caller for the reception music.

Dena Skiles, friend of the groom's family made the wedding and groom's cake. The groom's cake was made using a cycling theme, since Chet is an avid cyclist.

The bride is a 2009 graduate of Southeast Community College in Lincoln with a surgical tech certification degree. She is employed in Longmont, Colo.

The groom is a 2009 graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln with a degree in computer engineering. He is employed in Boulder, Colo.

After a wedding trip to California, the couple will reside in Longmont, Colo.

USDA Announces Disaster Assistance Signup for 2010

Thayer County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Jay Van Westen today announced that the Supplemental Revenue Assistance Payments (SURE) program enrollment for 2010 crop year losses begins Nov. 14, 2011.

"Producers across the state experienced several natural disasters during the 2010 crop year that caused hardship and financial losses to many agricultural operations," said Van Westen. The SURE program provides assistance to producers when disaster strikes, so I strongly encourage producers with 2010 crop losses to contact the Thayer County FSA office to learn more about the program," he said.

To qualify for a SURE payment, the producer's operation must be located in a county that was declared a disaster for 2010 and have at least a 10 percent production loss that affects one crop of economic significance. Producers with agricultural operations located outside a disaster county are eligible for SURE benefits if they had a production loss greater or equal to 50 percent of the normal production on the farm.

The following counties received a disaster designation during 2010: Republic.

To meet program eligibility requirements, producers must have obtained a policy or plan of insurance for all insurable crops through the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation and obtained Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) coverage on non-insurable crops, if available, from FSA. Eligible farmers and ranchers who meet the definition of a socially disadvantaged, limited resource or beginning farmer or rancher do not have to meet this requirement. Forage crops intended for grazing are not eligible for SURE benefits.

For more information on SURE program eligibility requirements, contact the Thayer County FSA office at (402) 768-6520 or visit the website at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov/sure>.

Vorderstrasse Receives NHA Caring Kind Award

For 32 years, the Nebraska Hospital Association (NHA) has paid tribute to Nebraska's most caring hospital workers with the Caring Kind award.

Ranae Vorderstrasse of Thayer County Health Services, Hebron, was selected for this prestigious award as an outstanding health care employee who has demonstrated compassion for patients, cooperation with co-workers and dedication to excellence in her job responsibilities.

Hospitals across the state select one Caring Kind recipient from within their respective institutions to be recognized during the NHA Annual Convention.

Over 1,800 dedicated health care professionals have received this award since its inception in 1979. This year, 73 employees were honored at the 32nd anniversary of the Caring Kind Awards luncheon held on October 21 at the Embassy Suites in La Vista.

"The tremendous efforts these individuals put forth enable health care facilities to care for their communities 24 hours a day, seven days a week," said NHA President Laura J. Redoutey, FACHE. "Caring Kind recipients unselfishly take on the challenge and responsibility of meeting the needs of patients and delivering exceptional quality health care services every day."

Whistle Stop Group Meets

The Belvidere Whistle Stop train watchers group met Wednesday evening. There were only seven attending but they were happy to welcome a guest, Bill Linton of Hebron. He had learned of the group and came to see what is being accomplished. A financial report was given on the donations and sales of souvenirs from the Fall Festival booth.

There was not much to report this month as the contractor has not had time to draw up the plans for the station as yet.

Two very interesting news items were brought to the meeting by Linda Hume. They were copies of two items printed in the August 30, 1929, and October 24, 1929, Bruning Banner. The first stated as follows: "John Casper is hauling lumber and cement for his new house on his farm. During the storm Wednesday night the G.I. depot was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The heavy rain was all that saved most of Belvidere as the wind was in the northeast.

The railroad company brought in a small building Saturday to use as a depot. The car of lumber that was on the track by the depot was pushed out of the way of the fire. The report is that the lumber in the car was lumber for John Casper's house."

Then on October 24, 1929, the following item stated: "Tuesday morning contractors arrived and immediately began work on the Belvidere Union Pacific depot. It is to be a pretty one-story building of brick and frame structure, 26 x 64 -1/2 feet in size. There is to be a waiting room in the east, a room for the agent in the center and freight and baggage room in the west end and will have a fire proof roof. This is a good improvement for Belvidere and all will be proud of the new depot."

These items were of particular interest to the train station group as there has been a lot of discussion about the history of the old depot.

It was decided that there is no need for another meeting until there is progress made by the contractor or if any other business comes up that needs discussing. Members will be notified at that time.

Ken Cool, District Representative for ABATE District No. 7 and Margaret Cool presented Lisa Epp, representing Blue Valley Community Action a check for $5,746, a $100 Wal-Mart gift card, plus close to 200 toys.

The money and toys were raised from the annual ABATE District No. 7 Toy Run and Chili Feed to benefit the children for Christmas in the six counties the District covers, Fillmore, York, Thayer, Jefferson, Saline and Seward.

The Toy Run and Chili Feed was held October 15 at the Overtime Grill and Lounge in Geneva. The day started with a poker run leaving from two locations, there were 51 poker hands. Riders from the run and other chili feed attendees enjoyed soups and other food items prepared by District No. 7 members.

A raffle and live auction then followed. Music by Twisted Border was enjoyed later in the evening. The band played for donations for the charity event.

Items for the auction and raffle were generously donated by the six county businesses and individuals, plus cash donations were received. Most of the toys came from the chili feed as you could pay $5 or donate a new toy, some toys were donated by businesses.

All money raised that day was donated to Blue Valley, which will be distributed among the six counties.

Holiday Market Scheduled

Diane Schutt, journalism teacher and Frost Frolic coordinator, has announced the 21st Frost Frolic Holiday Market set for Friday, Nov. 5 in the Fairbury High School '89 Gym. The annual high school journalism fund-raiser is bigger than its ever been with over 130 occupied spaces for vendors selling homemade crafts, wood work, commercial products and one-of-a-kind gifts and décor.

In its 21st year, Frost Frolic began as a fund-raiser for the journalism program, but it has grown to so much more. Journalism adviser Diane Schutt does everything she can to "give the students a realistic experience," and to "be a positive light in the eyes of the community."

"I always make a point that the kids are really involved so people can see teens in a positive way," Schutt said.

Students have found putting together Frost Frolic beneficial, too.

According to Schutt, students are in charge of everything from set up and cleanup, advertising and marketing to dressing up as Frosty the Snowman and the overall execution of the event. "It's the most real world thing I can do for these kids," Schutt said.

The event is a way to bring youth and adults together for a day and to turn the tables for a change. Adults see the students hard at work, and students work hard to see their event succeed.

Although it's great to see fellow residents of Fairbury at the event, seeing new faces is always interesting and fun. "I ran into a lady in Lincoln saying she comes down every year from Crete just for Frost Frolic," Schutt responded.

Whether it be Frosty frolicking around the room producing smiles on faces of people, both young and old, or grandparents simply finishing up Christmas shopping for their grandchildren, Frost Frolic Holiday Market has something for everyone.

As Schutt pointed out, "Frost Frolic is an astounding way to bring together people near and far. Frost Frolic is a community gathering and a true holiday event."

Belvidere

By LaDonna Avers

Seven ladies met in Belvidere Thursday evening for the monthly TEC meeting. Present were Dee Camp, Marilyn Cook, Paula McGinness, Ila Currey, Ruth Yoachim, Audrey Else, Linda Hudson and LaDonna Avers. There were many topics discussed including who should win Dancing With the Stars and who shouldn't. One topic brought up was, why can't we get our dishes clean and white clothes white? To the annoyance of those present it was decided that the whole thing comes down to a lack of phosphate in our detergents. As usual a lot of time was spent on lack of memory and everyone's aches and pains. One thing everyone did learn from one of the "Betty's" was that the Betty Club had donated money to the museum. It is being used to buy a statue of a cow to be placed in a stall in the new red barn. The historical society has decided that when the cow is purchased it will be named Betty.

While in Hastings on Saturday, Randy and Dianne Waldmeier stopped at the Dennis and Nancy Vorderstrasse residence. After visiting for a while and having supper at a local restaurant they returned home.

Kirk and Wanda Yoachim spent the weekend with Ruth Yoachim. Sunday afternoon Ruth and Wanda attended the fall gathering at Grace Lutheran Church. Guest speaker was Bea Siala from Grand Island whose humor was very enjoyable.

Sunday afternoon a trick or treator came early to the home of LaDonna Avers. Wonder Woman (aka Calce Brown) was accompanied by her mother Kate and grandparents Audrey and Larry Mathiesen. She was rewarded with a number of treats and in turn entertained great-grandma with her antics. After having "tea" they proceeded to Eveline Mathiesen's home where she had more fun with another great-grandma.

Sunday evening Linda Hudson and LaDonna Avers attended the Thayer County Health Services annual variety show held in the ag hall in Deshler. There was a large group in attendance for the enjoyable dinner and entertainment. The Dueling Piano's incorporated a lot of audience participation that the guests found very entertaining. Doctor Tightwad sponsored the table where they sat and also crowned one of his table guests with a tiara because she was wearing a glamorous costume.

Logan and Paula McGinness received word this weekend that his brother Jim McGinness of Plymouth is home from a lengthy stay at Bryan LGH East hospital in Lincoln.

By 1960, mandated regulation for hospitals such as disposable and pre-sterilized medical supplies and food preparation did away with sewing and canning changing the group's focus. A new mission was adopted and the group began to find ways to garner financial support for the hospital.

In 1967, the Guild organized a county-wide rummage sale calling it a "things and stuff" sale. Success of the sale resulted in the Guild's continuation of the event which was held once a week in a donated space above a bank in downtown Hebron.

In 1988, the Guild decided to purchase a ground floor building on Lincoln Avenue in Hebron and opened the shop called "Things and Stuff." This business has since become the primary fundraising activity for the Guild and operates four days a week.

"Over the years, the Things and Stuff shop has become a true success story," said TCHS director of development and marketing Rita Loungo during the presentation Sunday night. "Their hard work makes it possible for the Guild to purchase over $25,000 in new equipment, supplies and other items for the hospital and clinics each year. Every employee and every patient at TCHS has benefitted from the hard work and efforts of the volunteers involved with Guild's Things and Stuff shop."

Children Need Social and Emotional Skills to Succeed in School

In early childhood, children start to learn their ABCs and numbers. But even more important than those skills are social-emotional skills because children who learn them are able to pick up other skills more easily.

According to the Nebraska Children and Family Foundation's 2010 data, 90 out of 93 counties in Nebraska reported that 20 percent to 63 percent of children entering schools are not ready to learn. These children are often not interested in learning because they don't have social-emotional skills and thus lack confidence in their abilities, which interferes with their learning.

Social skills involve knowing how to interact with other people, which includes knowing how to make friends with others, when to say please and thank you, sharing toys or treats with others and playing with other kids without fighting or arguing. While it is important to give children opportunities to interact with others, it is more important for adults to guide children through these experiences.

Research shows that a person's IQ predicts only a small part of career performance while emotional intelligence predicts about 80 percent of a person's career success. Emotional skills involve children familiarizing themselves with emotions and learning how to regulate them.

Examples are children knowing how to control and channel anger when they're picked on, expressing sadness in a healthy way and managing their frustration when their class isn't doing what they want to do. One of the most important emotional skills is emotional attachment, which happens from birth to 18 months. What this means is the emotions of a child are shaped by how the infant is nurtured in the early years. Adults can either help or hinder child development depending on how they interact and nurture their children.

For example, talking, singing, holding, comforting and playing with children is necessary to stimulate and form emotional attachment, but watching the TV is not the interaction they need at that stage.

Children also learn social-emotional skills through playing with other children because they learn to solve problems that come up. Adults play a key role in directing this problem-solving and they can help children develop problem-solving skills by asking for solutions, or sometimes by giving solutions and having children pick the best one.

For example, if a child steals a toy from another child, the adult can step in and propose a few solutions. After children agree to a solution—maybe the children agree to share the toy—the adult needs to observe the children to make sure the selected solution is carried out. Remember that if a child is emotionally out of control when the adult intervenes, the adult should take the child out of the situation until the child calms down.

By learning all these skills in guided early childhood experiences, a person is more likely to develop into a healthy and successful adult.

Thayer County Historical Society News

A visitor from Davenport, Leslie McVay, joined the group meeting at the museum annex Wednesday night. Before he left the train meeting Lance Johnson gave the museum a Hebron High School yearbook that had belonged to Helen Grey Chapman. It is quite detailed and anyone who knew Helen would be interested in seeing it.

President Steve Delay called the meeting to order and in the absence of the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. They were approved as read. Treasurer Lois Pederson gave the financial report and detailed the financial results of the Heritage Fall Festival.

She said that the day was very successful with attendance and finances being very close to the success of the 2010 Festival. There was some discussion about how well the day went over and the interest shown at the dedication of the new building. After a lengthy discussion a motion was made and passed to do away with the 50 cent admission charge next year.

In the absence of both curators, Steve read the report they had given him. They were pleased that 12 ladies from a Hubbell club took a tour of the museum one evening. They even had the school marm present in the old country school. Annette and Jackie served them lunch following the tour.

On Oct. 11 about 200 people attended the Parents Night at the Museum which was deemed a big success. The students served as hosts and guided the parents through the various display rooms explaining what each room was for as they went. Steve reported that he has spent a lot of time in the museum doing research on Hebron businesses.

Linda Hume is researching every cemetery in the county and is finding it a long and tedious job. The curators stated that they found that the residents at the Court Yard Terrace Assisted Living facility enjoy having the museum brought to them. So they have decided to continue this project by taking specific items to them to enjoy from time to time.

It was also decided that handicapped spaces and some golf carts need to be provided for the Fall Festival next year. This would make it easier for handicapped people to be able to come and enjoy the day.

Also discussed was the Highway 136 Junk Jaunt being planned for next fall. It will fall on the same weekend as our fall festival. There are concerns that it will interfere with the success of the day.

Steve volunteered to help Dixie Wharton with her duties in organizing the vendors and displays next year. She is recuperating from her fall on Saturday evening as she was getting ready for the next day's Fall Festival.

Steve expressed his appreciation to all who worked so hard to help make the day a success. A lot of time and work goes into the event every year and so many people are involved. The Boy Scouts from both Hebron and Deshler are very good with volunteering their help. Linda expressed her appreciation to everyone who donated food and other supplies for the dinner and to all the people who worked so hard.

The next meeting will be the annual Christmas party. It will be held on Nov. 30 at 6:30 p.m., at Toad's. There will be a white elephant gift exchange. A reminder of the event will be published later.

Titans

Thayer Central felt the pain last week as they fell to a solid Kearney Catholic team in the first round of the C2 football playoffs. Played on the Stars' grid, the Titans fell 21-68. The score was 55-14 at the half.

"Kearney set the tone for the night on the opening kick-off for a touchdown," said Thayer Central coach Josh Lanik. "They played an outstanding game and we knew going into the game we would need to limit their big plays and take care of the football."

Coach Lanik said his team did some nice things against the Stars, but they tend to take advantage of any mistake made, no matter how small.

In the three touchdowns for Thayer Central, quarterback Trenton Tietjen connected with Tyler Van Cleef on a three-yard pass in the first period, then hit Greg Dightman on an eight-yard pass in the second quarter. In the final touchdown, Tietjen hit Dightman again on a 47-yard pass in the final stretch.

The junior quarterback was good for 169 yards on 12 passes for the night. Dightman was good for 11 yards on seven receptions while Hergott collected 45 yards on three receptions.

Lead tackles included Brian Looijer with seven, four of those solos and Michael Feulner with six tackles, two of those solos.

"I told the kids that this game alone does not define our season," Coach Lanik added. "I am extremely proud of how our season went and grateful for the amount of work these kids put into it."

The Titans, finishing the 2011 season on a 4-5 record, look to lose seniors Brayden Hergott, Tanner Vodicka, Michael Feulner, Spencer Moore, Andrew Wilshusen and Colby Remmers to graduation next year.

Eagles

The BDS Eagles rolled over Omaha Christian Academy, 66-8, in the first round of the D1 state playoffs Thursday night in Shickley. The victory advances the Eagle team to the second round scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 2. The game will kick off at 6 p.m., as the Eagles (8-1) host the Freeman Falcons (7-2) at Bruning.

Using eight players to do the scoring in the first round, the Eagles kept their game to the ground amassing 360 yards in rushing while holding OCA to 94 yards.

"When it was 8-8 with about two minutes left in the second quarter," said BDS coach Mark Rotter, "we just exploded. We made some big plays and our spread lineman, Luke Christensen, Dylan Lauenstein, Omar Gines and Michael Houchin really played well."

Luke Christensen led the way with three touchdowns including a 55-yard punt return in the second period. In the third quarter, the junior scored on 52-yard and 46-yard runs.

Starting the Eagles' attack was Wyatt Schoenholz with a 21-yard run in the first period.

In the second period, Kendrick Holeman gave the team its second score on a 48-yard run before the half.

Ryan Tegtmeier connected with Michael Houchin for 24 yards in the third and in the Eagles' next possession, Grant Norder scored on an 18-yard run. Finishing out the third quarter, Dylan Lauenstein scored on a fumble recovery in the end zone.

"It was great team effort," said BDS coach Chris Ardisson. "Our offense, defense, and special teams took advantage of opportunities given to them. Backs, lineman, kickers, and returners all made big plays during the game."

The final period also saw scoring as Alberto Gamboa returned for 30 yards after completing a stellar interception, and Blake Stengel rounded out the night's points on an eight-yard run in the final moments of the game.

Tegtmeier collected 123 yards in rushing and 42 yards in passing on the night. Christensen had 98 yards rushing while Holeman put together 60 yards, NOrder had 22 and Schoenholz had 21.

Trevor Krehnke led in tackles with 17 while Houchin had 15 and Schoenholz had nine.

Houchin was also good for 24 yards in receiving while Holeman had nine yards and Schoenholz had five.

The BDS Eagles have already met Freeman once this season defeating the Falcons 36-0 in September during regular play. Coach Rotter said the battle should be a good one this week adding that the Eagles got all the breaks the first time around. He said he predicts the game will be much closer in the second match.

Freeman defeated Bancroft-Rosalie 63-28 in the opening round last week.

The Deshler Dragons gave it a solid shot in the first round of the D1 state playoffs, but could not pull out a win against undefeated Pender. The Pendragons won 54-40; the halftime score had Pender on top 28-24.

Deshler senior Luke Dlouhy ran for 174 yards on 27 carries scoring three times in the evening game. Those came on a 39-yard run in the first period, a 47-yard run and four-yard scamper in the second period.

The team put together 287 yards rushing on 49 attempts.

Josiah Burger provided a couple of scores, the first on a seven yard run early in the game followed by a one-yard spurt in the third.

Cyle Loupin added the final score for the Dragons after catching an 11-yard pass from Kyle Dlouhy in the fourth quarter. Dlouhy was good for 127 yards on 9-for-12 passing.

The Dragons, coached by Cletus Corman and ending the 2011 season on a 4-5 record, look to lose seniors Luke Dlouhy, Dalton Stouffer, Austin Cox, Charlie Buckles, Clay Jones, Cyle Loupin, Lane Baker and Josiah Burger to graduation next year.

VOLLEYBALL

Titans

The Lady Titans volleyball team finished its season Monday night after falling to Blue Hill in the first round of the C2-9 subdistrict tournament played at Sandy Creek. Blue Hill (21-7) went 25-15, 25-14, 25-18 in the win.

"We again struggled with serve receive and could not get into system throughout the match," said Thayer Central coach Kurk Wiedel. "Blue Hill did a nice job of getting into system and getting the ball to their all-state player."

Bridgette Baden led the Lady Titans with six kills and 12 digs. Allison Tietjen had four kills while Kinsey Tietjen had four ace blocks.

Claire Timmerman provided 13 assists and Ashley Petersen had two ace serves.

The Titans end their season on 18-8 and look to lose four seniors to graduation including Brittney Gress, Claire Timmerman, Kinsey Tietjen, and Claire Johnson. "Our seniors end their careers on a four-year 82-31 record," the coach said. "They are to be commended for their hard work and dedication to the Thayer Central volleyball program."

SNC

Thayer Central finished the Southern Nebraska Tournament in fourth place after falling to Heartland in a grueling consolation final Friday night. The Lady Titans went 21-25, 25-23, 15-25, 25-20, 7-15 in the game played at Milford.

"A major injury to Kinsey Tietjen in the beginning of the second set caused us to adjust our play," said Coach Wiedel.

Bridgette Baden led the team with 15 kills, three ace blocks and 26 digs in the game. Claire Timmerman provided 22 assists while Ashley Petersen had two ace serves.

In the first round held Oct. 23, Thayer Central defeated Superior, 25-16, 25-23. Baden led the way providing 11 kills and 12 digs in the contest.

"We played very well in the first set win with pin-point passing and effective hitters," said Coach Wiedel. "Bridgette played her best defensive game on the year."

Kelsey Long helped advance the team with two ace serves while Allison Tietjen had two ace blocks. Tarryn Tietjen added 21 assists in the effort.

In the second match of the SNC, Thayer Central faced a scrappy Fillmore Central falling to the Lady Panthers 15-25, 10-25 on Oct. 25.

"After a 10-10 tie in the first set, we struggled to maintain intensity and gave up runs of points in the loss," the coach said. "Their quick offense caused us to be late on blocks and thus not able to handle their hitters."

Baden managed three kills in the game while Claire Timmerman had seven digs, Kinsey Tietjen had one ace block and Ashley Petersen had one ace serve. Tarryn Tietjen helped out with five assists.

night in the D1-2 subdistrict volleyball tournament played at Fillmore Central. The win put them in contention with D-1 No. 1 Exeter-Milligan on Tuesday night. It is the fourth time the two teams have met. Details of the subdistrict contests will be right here on the sports page next week.

BDS triangular

The Lady Eagles won their own triangular prior to the subdistrict competition last week finishing out their regular season. BDS defeated Palmer 25-23, 25-23, and Lawrence/Nelson 25-15, 25-17.

In the game against Palmer, Makaleigh Yantzie led the attack with 10 kills. She was backed by Shelby Garland and Matyson Kleinschmidt who had seven and six kills respectively. Those two also provided a couple of ace serves for the offense while Taylor Houck had four blocks on defense.

"In this rematch of an earlier game in the season," said Coach Sorge, "we jumped out to an early 15-2 lead only to see the Tigers fight back. It was a good win against an upstomped Tiger team."

Christy Swartzendruber led in digs with 13 and Whitney Walters provided 13 assists.

Against Lawrence/Nelson, Yantzie again led at the net with a stellar 14 kills while Garland provided seven.

Houck again controlled blocking with two aces while Kleinschmidt had four ace serves.

"In the final game of the night we knocked off the D-2 state rated Raiders," said the coach. "Our aggressive serving and strong net play kept them out of their defense."

Swartzendruber was again the dig leader with 16 and Ashley Hinrichs helped out with 20 assists.

Dragons

The Deshler Dragons ended their season Monday night after falling to Bruning-Davenport/Shickley in the D1-2 subdistrict tournament. The Dragons fell to the D-1 fourth-ranked BDS team 10-25, 15-25, 14-25.

The team, coached by Heath Birkel, finishes the season 7-18 and looks to lose four players to graduation this year including Ashlee Fielding, Dana Dlouhy, Ashley Hillman, and Kelsey Durlfinger.

TC Health Services Guild Assists Hospital With Equipment

Thayer County Health Services Guild president Julie Rhoades opened the October meeting with provocative thoughts on types of decisions we make. Obviously those board members in attendance chose to attend albeit busy schedules for everyone are definite this time of year. She pointed out the many consequences that appear when the quality of our words, thoughts and actions surface in one's decision making. So choose wisely, whether it be between a chocolate sundae or a chef's salad, the smooth-talking tele-marketer proposal or just reading the fine print or the amount you'd choose to donate to a worthy cause as opposed to a gift for yourself. Indecision is a major timewaster, so just get on with it.

Minutes of the September meeting and a comprehensive treasurer's report were presented and approved. The membership chairman announced a slight increase over last month's total, but more would be welcome. Make a decision to stop by the thrift shop, "Things & Stuff," Wednesday through Saturday to help.

Marketing and Development Director Rita Luongo reported on quilt ticket sales at the Heritage Festival and the success of the well organized flu clinic held in the hospital lobby. The easy access to the service was a timesaver for the public. Also, the idea of the "dress swap" was conceived so as to assist potential guests in finding the perfect outfit to wow the public and the judges at the "Belle of the Ball" variety show on Oct. 30. It will most likely be held next year with some adjustments. The profitability of the thrift shop is maintained because volunteers make the decision to give of their time. Much effort is needed before donations received reach the showroom. Those steady volunteers in the "north end" make the decisions to receive and ready donations to be offered for sale. Open hours of the shop Wednesday through Saturday are made possible by county women who believe volunteering for worthy causes is a necessary decision. Income from all of these efforts enabled guild members to make the decision to match net profits realized at the Foundation Variety Show up to a point. A project that will benefit from this decision is the funding of ultrasound equipment for the radiology department. Michael White of the emergency area of the hospital presented information on the AutoPulse system, which will be employed in the case of patient cardiac arrest. It will be housed in the emergency room of the hospital or in the ambulance during transport of a patient. Purchase of this was approved by the board.

A portion of the proceeds from quilt raffle ticket sales may be used for swaddle cloths in blue and pink plus a bathwater temperature gauge as gifts for newborns as they leave the hospital. Lights of Love donations are being accepted now—only five dollars is needed to place each honored one's name on a Christmas ornament on the lobby tree. Profits from this may be used to assist in the purchase of a larger flat screen monitor to be used in the cardiac rehab area, making it possible for several of the staff to view ongoing procedures at the same time.

Holiday items and gifts will be available in the hospital booth at the Christmas Fair to be held in November at Thayer Central High School and the gift shop in the hospital lobby.

So, snap decisions are a necessity at times, but those made with considerable thought and then accompanied with appropriate words and actions usually bear the test of time. Choose wisely for the benefit of yourself or others. Perhaps most valuable is realizing we shouldn't judge the actions of others. Read this little verse with a bit of caution.

Sometimes my neighbor's in the right, And noble in his thinking. More often he is in the wrong, His power and prestige shrinking.

Now I concede he has his right. At least, I always try to. But the times when he is thinking right—is when he thinks as I do.

The next meeting will be on the Wednesday after Thanksgiving, Nov. 30, at 9 a.m.
