Fire safety taught through zero visibility

As this issue of the Hebron Journal-Register goes to print, Thayer Central Elementary students are a little wiser when it comes to fire.

Fire Prevention Week is Oct. 9-15.

Members of the Hebron Volunteer Fire Department were suited up and in action at the school Monday and Tuesday for a drill.

"Get down, get down," firefighters were overheard telling students as they crawled through a locker room full of smoke.

"The kids practice crawling through zero visibility with flashlights," Firefighter Justin Johnson said.

After, the students saw the fire trucks up close and tried out the fire hose. Older students were trained on fire extinguishers.

"We found as we started this many years ago, kids remember from year to year," Johnson said.

He said for the third year, students received information on smoke detectors, among other instructions.

"We go through the importance of listening and feeling as far as fire goes and why they shouldn't hide," Johnson said.

On Monday, fire fighters taught fire safety to second through sixth grade students, and Tuesday, they guided preschool, kindergarten and first grade students.

The Journal-Register's salute to Fire Prevention Week and Thayer County's volunteer fire departments may be found on pages 8-9.

Bruning business owner looks to future

By Nancy McGill

That rustic-looking, fairly new building on Bruning's main street was specifically designed to mirror 1880s Bruning's main street.

"I'm a huge history buff," Heather Ramsey, a commodity advisor with the ARC Group, and the owner of the western-style building with tin lining the inside walls.

"That tin is from three generations ago," she said.

Bruning was settled by immigrants from Woodford County, Ill., where Ramsey is from.

Her grandmother, who is in the county historical society back home, gave Ramsey some names, like Kiburz, that are tied to Illinois.

"Our spelling is different. Kybruz," she said.

Her picture of 1880s Bruning was shaped by a visit to Bruning State Bank, which displays a large collection of historical photographs.

Ramsey worked out of her home before she thought of coming to main street.

"I am super lucky my husband supports whatever hare-brained idea I have," she said about Mitch Ramsey, who works at Cargill in Carleton.

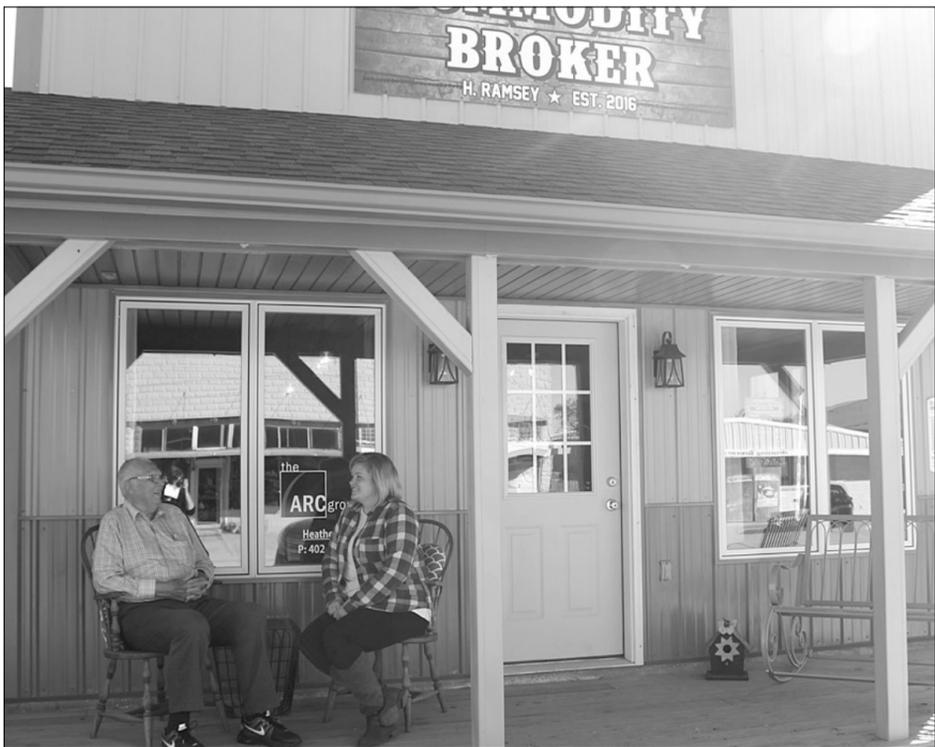

The lot her building sits on was owned by her neighbors and Ramsey was interested.

"I mentioned it to my husband and I think he thought I was joking," she laughed. "The deed showed up in the mail on our fourth anniversary June 11, 2015."

And a year later, Ramsey held an open house for her new office. She had a simple request for the open house from someone who knows Bruning's history well — Frank Bruning.

"I told Frank, 'All I want you to do is wear your cowboy boots and sit on the front porch,'" she said. "I always tell Frank things I've learned," she said about their history connection.

Ramsey graduated from UNL in 2009 with a bachelor's in agricultural business emphasizing commodity marketing. She interned at Cargill in Blair and then worked in Lincoln's Frank Bruning and Heather Ramsey trade quips on the front porch of Ramsey's new office, which is designed to reflect history. Inside are two desks with a reception area, storage and a small kitchenette. Ramsey enlisted the help of the community by bidding on three Bruning-Davenport FFA members at the alumni auction. Hope Wachtel, Emilie Schardt and Morgan Lowery painted the inside walls that are partially covered in tin.

Cargill elevator. After graduation, she transferred to the Ord location for a little over a year.

She also spent a year in grain operations and then gained experience in grain merchandising at the Fairmont ethanol plant.

But in May of 2014, Ramsey was looking for a change.

"I really wanted to be on the farmer's side of it," she said. "We're really trying to get them the best bang for their buck. If you don't have a plan to take advantage of the market today, you're probably going to miss it."

Her first two clients, a father and son from York County, believed in her as well as her family.

She was choosing the worst part of the year to leave.

"I quit my job and went out on a limb. I hoped someone wanted to work with me," she said.

Two years later, Ramsey supports 45 clients in Nebraska and two in Illinois.

"I'm very hands on. I'm in the field. I always feel like if something frustrates you, that's what you pay me for," she said.

The ARC Group was started about 12 years ago by farm kids," Ramsey said. One of the owners is from Fillmore County near Grafton.

"They were working with a brokerage company that didn't have the farmer's best interests in mind," she said.

Ramsey said the group figured out how to hedge grain for the farmer to limit risk and lock in good prices, maximizing the harvest.

In addition to trading grain and raising her three-year-old son, Gage, Ramsey is the vice president for the Thayer County Economic Development Alliance.

She said her peers are invested in the county, and there is an influx of 30-somethings coming back to live, work and raise their families.

"We want our children to think Thayer County is a great place to come back to," Ramsey said.

Wettstein making the rounds at businesses

New executive economic director, Diane Wettstein, has scouted Nebraska over the past year for a job.

"I've been looking to move out this way. I really love Nebraska," she said.

From Metamora, Ill., Wettstein has a daughter, Heather Ramsey, in Bruning and when she saw the Thayer County Economic Development Alliance online advertisement, she called Ramsey.

"She thought it would be great," Wettstein said. "I'm such a people person and I like to help."

Admittedly, Wettstein's background isn't in economic development, but teaching. Her background, however, is in agriculture.

"I raised three children in agriculture," she said.

She taught seventh and eighth grade science and horticulture and then became a student service coordinator, assisting students with housing, funding and other services at a technical school.

One of her worries was she didn't have a background in grant writing, but she has seminars to attend.

"I have a good support group and plenty of people I can go to for questions," she said.

A sad accident occurred at Ruskin Tuesday, when little Arthur Sykes, three year of age, fell into a pail of boiling water. The little fellow was so badly scalded that he was rushed to the hospital here, but he was so badly burned that he died that night.

Some miscreant without proper regard for the dignity and rights of Hebronites, "touched" Charles Gottschalk for his pocket-book, at the state fair. It was his wife's pocket book, which made the incident all the more regrettable. He happened to be with W. D. Galbraith, who loaned him money as needed, but added provoking discretion to his generosity by letting him have only a dollar at a time.

W. C. Monohon was badly bruised on the nose, ear, arm, knee and other parts of the body when his rural mail wagon was demolished by an automobile driven by Ed. Galbraith, Tuesday afternoon. The accident occurred near Mrs. Krenke's place on the road between Hebron and Deshler.

Women's Health Night

Statistically, women are still the primary caregivers. They take care of their loved ones; husbands, children and often parents. Usually women are so busy taking care of others, they don't focus on their own health. However, research shows that when women take care of themselves, the overall health of their family improves.

That is why on October 20, Thayer County Health Services will again be hosting their annual Women's Health Night. This year's event--"Busting out for Breast Cancer," will be held at the Ag Hall in Deshler starting at 6 p.m. Over 35 health, fitness and fun vendors will be showcasing what they have to offer. Guests can browse through the booths while enjoying some appetizers, gourmet popcorn, and some of the different wines from Superior Estates Winery.

The staff at Thayer County Health Services will also be hosting a friendly competition between this year's entries in "Bras for a Cause." Bras decorated by individuals, businesses and organizations will be on display for guests to help select the winners. The proceeds from this fund raiser will go to Susan G. Komen Foundation of Nebraska. If you would like to enter a bra, contact Amy Kreikemeier, at 402-768-4336, to see if you can still get in on the fun.

During the evening, there will be several presentations on topics relating to women's health. There will be three different "Make-and-Take" sessions for guests that pre-registered. The three sessions are: Soup in a Jar, Homemade Body Scrub, and making a cute Scarecrow craft. To register for one of the sessions, contact Marissa Bonger at 402-768-6041.

Thayer County Health Services is providing this event FREE of charge. However, there is a small charge to do one of the Make-and-Take sessions. Every guest in attendance will receive a complimentary gift bag filled with goodies. They will also be eligible to win one of the 30-40 door prizes provided by the evening's vendors. Items included in the door prizes are: certificates to area businesses, fitness membership, promotional items, gift baskets and much more.

Thayer County Health Services invites all women in the local area to join them for what promises to be a fun filled evening. They hope all women in the local communities are able to take time out of their busy schedule for a little "Girl Time." It is important to not only take care of your loved ones, but also take care of yourself. This event is a great way to have fun while also raising awareness for the fight against breast cancer.

Thayer County Health Services' goal for Women's Health Night is to help women find ways to stay healthy and be physically fit. The best way to get healthy or to maintain your health is through diet and exercise. Women need to know their risk facts, get their regular exams and make their health and fitness a priority.

For more information about Women's Health Night call 402-768-6041.

Scott Corliss

No number of words can truly do justice to as wonderful a man and as beautiful a soul as Scott Alan Corliss. Scott meant the world to an incredible number of people, and he filled their lives with positive light. Nearly every person that knew him would say that he had truly changed their life, even those who he only knew for a short while. His joy and zest for life were contagious, and he brought out a new way of living in everyone around him.

Scott was born in Hebron in 1955 to Bob and Vi Corliss. Through-out his life, Scott honored his parents and deeply cherished their love and wisdom. He loved making them a part of his life every day and seldom went more than a day without speaking to them. Scott moved to Greeley at a young age, growing up and attending school here, eventually graduating from Greeley West High School in 1973.

Scott always set goals for himself, and with his thirst for knowledge and love for completing a challenge he always achieved them. Scott knew that he wanted to be a doctor, and he graduated from CU Medical School in 1985.

He had a rich career caring for others while working as a family medicine doctor. He brought so many new lives into the world that he had long since lost count. Scott was loved by his patients, not just as a doctor, but as a positive influence in their lives.

Scott later transitioned into preventative healthcare as a life coach for Take Shape for Life. He loved helping others, and as a life coach he had many people say that he brought hope into their lives at times when they had none. At the same time, he took on a new educational path, and when he was 59, he began towards his master's degree in aerospace biomedical engineering. He loved sharing the results of his latest exams with his family. Like anything Scott dedicated himself to, the results of his exams were nearly always over one hundred percent.

Scott's list of hobbies was never short, and no person ever gave themselves to something as fully as Scott did. He was an avid reader, hiker, bicyclist, skier, outdoorsman, runner, scuba diver, rocketeer, and a man with a true passion for learning and for sharing his knowledge with others. Scott was known as the "rocket-man" to the elementary schoolers who looked forward to his coming to their classrooms and sharing his love of space.

He had recently achieved his Level 3 Certification from the National Association of Rocketry, designing and hand constructing the pride and joy of his rocket collection, a massive, ten foot tall rocket he lovingly named "The Spirit of Colorado."

He had climbed an incredible number of Colorado's 14'ers, as well as Mount Rainier, and Kilimanjaro, and he had summited Longs Peak numerous times before. He loved being outdoors and sharing the experience with anyone who felt like coming along with him.

Scott also loved sharing his experiences with his family, whom he supported in whatever they felt like trying, and tried it right alongside them. He played hockey with his sons Ben and Luke, rode horses with his daughter Kelsey, skied with his siblings Jim and Jan, searched for rocks with grand-daughter, Sydney, and enjoyed watching grand-daughter Nevaeh perform.

One of Scott's proudest accomplishments was having the magic touch to cradle his newest grandson to sleep when no one else could. That grandson, James Alan Corliss, proudly shares his middle name with both his dad and with Grandpa Scott. Scott never missed a game, competition, or trip.

His siblings thought of Scott as their leader, since he always had a wonderfully detailed plan for every outing, and he was always most concerned with looking out for everyone around him.

Scott had the greatest and silliest sense of humor, and he always had a hug, a joke, and a smile for anyone that needed it. He loved making the most obvious puns, and he would get so excited at his own goofy jokes that no one could help laughing, less even at the joke itself than at Scott's excitement at having made it.

There are few people that could brighten a room or a mood the way Scott could. Scott always knew what it truly meant to be a friend, and his sons, his brother, his partner Bill, his oldest friends Kip and Karen, and countless others counted him as the very best of friends.

Peggy Corliss was the love of Scott's life, and loved her husband more than any words could ever explain. The two shared 33 beautiful years of marriage together and were an amazing example of love, caring, and dedication to their children. They met nearly 40 years ago when the two were working to enter nursing and medical school and Scott decided that he would do anything he could to pursue the woman he loved more deeply than anyone. Once again, Scott succeeded.

Peggy and Scott loved each other from the very beginning, and the two were married in 1983. Scott always went out of his way to leave signs of his love for Peggy, often writing wonderful sentiments and leaving them for her, whether in flowers, in her bag for work, or anywhere conspicuous that would catch her eye and make her smile. Scott and Peggy will always love each other, and continue to inspire the love of those around them.

Scott passed on the morning of October 1st on Long's Peak in Rocky Mountain National Park at 61. Despite the incredible loss of someone who meant so much to so many, Scott's family takes great solace in knowing that Scott passed doing what he loved most in one of his very favorite places. Scott was always full of vibrancy, and he truly lived life to its fullest, even unto his last moments.

No list of the family members Scott is survived by could ever be long enough to include all those that he cared for. He is survived by Bob and Vi, his father and mother; brother, Jim and his wife Kim, and their sons Matt and Andy; his sister, Jan and her husband George, and their daughters Jordan and Tori; and his own family, wife Peggy, son Ben with granddaughters Sydney and Nevaeh, son Luke and his wife Brittany with their son Jac, and his youngest daughter Kelsey. Their lives are all richer for having the pleasure of knowing him.

Scott left this world a better and more beautiful place with all that he did in it. A truly unselfish man, there could be no counting the number of lives that he touched. He took an immense amount of joy in bringing joy to others.

A celebration of Scott's life was held on October 8, at the First Assembly of God Church in Greeley, Colo. To celebrate the brightness that Scott brought to everything that he did, the family encouraged everyone to wear yellow, his favorite color.

Donations may be made, care of Stoddard Funeral Home, 3205 West 28th Street, Greeley, Colorado 80634, to the Planetarium at Denver Museum of Nature and Science to honor Scott's love of learning and outer space.

Eagles battle ranked teams at net, record 10-7

The Bruning Davenport Shickley Lady Eagles played two non-conference matches Oct. 8 in Henderson.

They faced Class D-1 ranked Cedar Bluffs (No. 8) in the first match and started slow, but Megan Grote fired from the service line and brought the Eagles within two points from a Cedar Bluffs 13-7 lead. Courtney Kamler picked up the battle at 22-21 to finish off the next three points.

The Eagles continued their intensity in the second set and pushed points to gain a 17-9 lead. They dominated again with Grote serving 10 points with two aces and Kamler adding five points with one ace. Jadyin Kleinschmidt chipped in six points and two aces.

Kleinschmidt and Carley Elznic committed seven kills each. Regan Alfs had three, and along with Kleinschmidt, had one ace block.

Kamler came away with nine set assists. Kleinschmidt had four.

The Eagles went on to play the No. 5 ranked Heartland Huskies. They went point-for-point, but fell behind, 24-21. Caitlin Mosier pounded a serve to put the Eagles up 25-24. The ladies didn't hold onto the lead. Heartland took the win, 29-27.

Coach Kari Jo Alfs said the girls were determined not to give in and their early lead of 11-6 demonstrated that spirit as Kleinschmidt shot six points for a score of 18-12. Elznic's attacks helped finish the set, 25-21 in favor of the Eagles.

The third set didn't go as well and the Huskies capped the win at 25-14.

Kleinschmidt contributed eight points and three aces; Kamler almost doubled her set assists from the Cedar Bluffs game with 16. Kleinschmidt had three set assists and Alfs, three. Leading the attack was Elznic with 10 kills. Kleinschmidt followed up with eight and Alfs, five. She and Mashaya Dierking each had an ace block.

Grote was 14-33 on digs. Morgan Lowery went 6-12.

"These two matches showed the Eagles are very capable of playing with the best," Coach Alfs said. "We have to learn to start each match and push hard until the end."

A conference triangular Oct. 4 in Osceola saw the Eagles top Osceola 27-25 and 25-15.

Although they were down 7-2 early, they played a tough defense and passed well off serve receive. As the score reached 24-21 with the Eagles down, Mosier plugged points from the service line to give the Eagles their first lead of the night. They took Mosier's lead and won the game, 27-25.

Mosier was 12-12 on serves with nine points; Kleinschmidt, 10-12 with seven points; and Alfs, 7-8 with three points.

Kleinschmidt led the defense 7-10. Grote went 5-11 while Elznic was at 3-4.

On the setting offense, it was Kamler going 30-38 with 11 assists. Kleinschmidt was 8-9 and had five assists.

Elznic attacked 26-28 with 13 kills, along with five blocks and one ace. Kleinschmidt went 9-12 with five kills. Alfs added four blocks with one ace.

The second match against East Butler was in the Eagles' favor with 25-9 and 25-6 wins.

"This was a great match for everyone," Alfs said. "The Eagles kept their intensity and never dropped off their level of play."

Alfs was 22-22 with five aces and 20 points. Grote was 11-12 in serving with nine points and two aces.

Kleinschmidt went 8-8 with four aces and six points. She led the setting with seven assists while Kamler picked up five.

Elznic led with seven attacks.

The Eagles jumped their record to 10-7 and will face Cedar Bluffs in a four-way tournament in Heartland Oct. 15.

Runners compete in district meet this week

The Titan boys earned the Southern Nebraska Conference title after defeating Milford, the five-time defending champions.

The SNC cross country meet was held in Geneva Oct. 6.

"This was a significant meet for the boys as we head into the district meet and hopefully, state competition," Coach Andy Long said. "It should give them some momentum going into their two final meets."

The boys had run the Hidden Hills trail in Geneva the third week of their season. Long said all of the boys have improved their times since that meet.

Aubrey Fangmeier was the first Titan in. He placed third in 18:32.7. Damian Stewart was sixth in 18:55.3. Dylan Fischer was eighth in 19:03.1. Next came Keegan Casey in 19:11.8; Evan Fuglestad, 19:50.9; and Collin Fink, 20:12.6.

The girls finished third.

"I was very proud of how they competed on such a cold and blustery day," Long said. "All of our girls improved their times on this course. They will compete in a very tough district, but this meet should give them some confidence."

Kylie Pachta was seventh to lead the Titan girls in a time of 22:50.6. Taelyn Virus was 11th in 23:09.6; Cambrie Cottam, 12th in 23:11.0; Mackenzie Johnson, 16th, 23:46.6; Cienna Friesen ran the course in 27:39.5; and Sophia Slope, 27:39.8.

The Syracuse meet Sept. 30 saw the Titans competing against six, Class B, four Class C and two other Class D schools at the invite. The boys tied for sixth place as a team.

"That gives a good indication of how competitive they are and should boost their confidence. Our four top runners were separated by just 25 seconds and all runners improved their times from a year ago," Long said.

Fangmeier ushered his teammates in at 24th place in 17:47.58; Fischer was 30th with 18:05.9; Stewart came in 31st place at 18:10.02; Casey, 32nd, 18:10.87; Fuglestad, 19:27.53; and Fink, 19:47.13.

On the girls side, Virus was 36th in 23:18.28; Johnson, 42nd, 23:45.67; Cottam, 44th, 23:56.09; Pachta, 46th, 24:28.19; Slope, 54th, 25:44.62; and Friesen, 28:00.79.

The Syracuse junior high run saw Andrew Landsmann in 15th place, 8:12.71; Wyatt Wiedel in 45th place, 9:01.43; and Cooper Casey, 46th, 9:02.67. Sydney Escritt was 11th for the girls in 8:47.11. Audrey Landsmann was 33rd in 9:50.45.

At the University of Nebraska-Kearney run Sept. 26, the Titan boys finished third out of 31 teams.

Evan Fuglestad

Long said four runners were within 49 seconds of each other.

Collin Fink

"Running this close helps them push each other and also helps us keep our team score low," Long said. Keeping the runners close and the score low was Long's focus as the team headed to the SNC meet and prepares for the district meet in McCool Junction Oct. 13.

"Collin Fink and Evan Fuglestad have been improving each week and have been solid runners for us. We were one of four teams to have our top six runners finish in the top 100 runners," Long said.

Dylan Fischer came in at 17th place with a time of 18:40.37. Next was Fangmeier in 22nd place, 18:50.57. Casey was 28th, 19:10.39; Stewart, 35th, 19:29.16; Fuglestad, 20:23.79; Fink, 21:20.69; Friesen, 27:15.39; and Pfingsten, 30:26.10.

The girls placed eighth out of 17 teams.

"The Lady Titans did a fantastic job competing at such a big meet, 17 teams and 149 runners," Long said. "I was very excited to have three runners who have never competed at this meet do so well. I think all of them should be very excited for finishing in the top eight as a team out of 17 schools."

Virus led the girls' pack with 42nd place in 24:12.00. Pachta was next in 45th place at 24:18.30; Johnson, 58th, 24:53.64; Cottam, 25:41.71; Slope, 26:52.16; and Friesen, 30:00.59.

Titans shoot Flyers down

By Jerome Jones
Thayer Central Football

Sometimes when you're facing a lot of changes, it takes a while to find your comfort zone.

Something as simple as having fun and keeping it simple can help in those situations. That is something the Thayer Central Football program tried to focus on this week as we headed to take on the Franklin Flyers.

The Titans began the game with the ball and appeared to be held to a three and out on their first drive, but a face mask penalty on Franklin extended the drive, and then Max Madsen hit Connor Mumm on a 45-yard pass to get Thayer Central inside the red zone.

Dietric Kenning finished up the drive with an 11-yard touchdown run, and then Madsen hit Mumm on the conversion to give the Titans an 8-0 lead.

The teams then traded three and outs and then, when it appeared Franklin might get a first down on their next drive, the Titans' Tim Schulte sacked the Flyers' quarterback to force another punt.

On the first play of their next drive, Madsen hit Mumm on a 34-yard touchdown pass to extend the lead to 14-0.

Franklin went three and out on their next drive, giving the ball right back to Thayer Central.

This drive was much more difficult for the Titans, as they had to convert both a third and 20 play and a fourth and 8 play, the latter a 26-yard pass from Madsen to Mumm for a touchdown.

Madsen then completed a conversion pass to Seth Mumford, and after a quarter, the Titans led 22-0.

Franklin started the second quarter with a big kick return and a long quarterback scramble that led to a first and goal from the Thayer Central two-yard line.

This time, however, it was the defense's turn to come up big, as they put together a goal line stand that began with a great tackle on first down by Kenning.

Thayer Central was able to pick up a first down on the ensuing drive but then was forced to punt it away.

Franklin had a 4th and 6 on their next drive, but then were sacked by Schulte and Brenden Fangmeier to give the ball back to Thayer Central.

The Titans next drive was slowed when starting quarterback Max Madsen was knocked out of the game, although he would return in the second half.

Freshman Jackson Feulner was unable to get the team moving and the Titans punted it back to the Flyers.

On the next possession, Hank Harris got a big sack on third down to force another punt.

It was then the freshman quarterback's turn to make a big play, as Feulner hit Mumm for a 27-yard touchdown pass. Feulner then ran in the two-point conversion play to give Thayer Central a 30-0 lead at the half.

The second half started with Franklin being held to a three and out, and then punting it way to Mumm, who broke a number of tackles and returned it 64 yards for a touchdown to make it 36-0.

The second half didn't see much offense by either team, but the Titans defense made a number of big plays including interceptions by both Preston Reece and Elliot Epstein. Final score: Thayer Central 36, Franklin 0.

The Titans were led offensively by senior Connor Mumm, who caught 10 passes for 178 yards and three touchdowns.

The 178 yards is a new school record, breaking Greg Dightman's 137-yard record from 2012.

Mumm also tied the school record for receiving touchdowns in a game.

Madsen was 10/20 passing for 167 yards and two touchdowns. Freshman Jackson Feulner was 2/5 passing for 37 yards and a touchdown and also ran for 29 yards on four carries.

Junior Seth Mumford caught two passes for 26 yards, senior Dietric Kenning rushed for nine yards and a touchdown on eight carries, while senior Preston Reece rushed for seven yards on three carries.

Defensively, Schulte led the way with eight tackles and three sacks.

Feulner had four tackles, while Mumm and Mumford also had three tackles.

Senior Elliot Epstein had three tackles and an interception, while senior Ryan Koch had three tackles and a sack. Junior Brenden Fangmeier and senior Hank Harris both had two tackles and a sack, while Harris also blocked a punt.

Other defensive contributors were sophomore Isaiah Keilwitz (two tackles), senior Kyle Kugel (two), senior Preston Reece (two tackles, one interception), Kenning (two), freshman Carter Miller (one), and sophomore Jarod Hergott (one).

This was a great win with all three phases of the game making big plays.

The offense threw for over 200 yards and scored the most points we have all season.

The defense held Franklin to -5 yards rushing and 58 yards of total offense. We also had six sacks and two interceptions, both season highs.

And on special teams, Kenning pinned the Flyers inside the 20-yard line four times on punts, while Mumm had the first special teams touchdown of the season on a punt return.

Most importantly, the entire team played with great confidence and energy for all four quarters.

This week, we host the McCool Junction Mustangs for the 2016 Homecoming game.

The Mustangs come into the game at 1-5, losing last week 60-0 to Kenesaw.

The Mustangs have a very good running back and will be a tough matchup for us, but hopefully with a big, loud, energetic crowd, we will be able to extend our winning streak.

Speaking of loud and energetic crowds, thank you to all of the fans that made the trip to Franklin last week, especially the Thayer Central Volleyball team who brought more energy and noise than any high school crowd I've seen in awhile.

Until next week, Carry Your Shield and Go Titans!

BDS picks up 36-12 win over Falls City Sacred Heart

The Bruning Davenport Shickley Eagles stuck together and had each other's backs in the Falls City Sacred Heart game Oct. 7 and that is why they came from behind on the Shickley gridiron.

"It didn't look good," Coach Mark Rotter said.

Coach Chris Ardissono said linebackers John Christensen and Josh Hinrichs were two of the players leading in tackles. They respectively had 14 and 15 tackles.

"We've always said we need our linebackers to be involved somehow in stopping every running play. John and Josh combined for a lot of tackles," Ardissono said.

In addition, each defensive back, Kale Kleinschmidt, Garrett Schardt and Caden Norder, had an interception.

Kleinschmidt rushed for two touchdowns; Thomas Mick and Schardt each caught a touchdown and extra point; Norder caught one touchdown; and Holden Stengel, an extra point.

In rushing, it was Kleinschmidt with 151 yards; Norder, 21; and Schardt, seven.

Kleinschmidt had 187 passing yards. Norder had 31.

Norder received for 89;

Mick, 42; and Christensen, 35.

Norder also had the most tackles at 17. Schardt made 13 tackles; Kleinschmidt, 11; and Noel Gines, 10.

Kale Kleinschmidt caught two touchdown passes against Falls City Sacred Heart.
