ELECTION PREVIEW

EDITOR'S NOTE

Nebraskans will be voting on four issues when they go to the General Election polls on November 6. So that voters can better understand these important proposed changes to the state Constitution, the Nebraska Press Association in cooperation with this newspaper has prepared this report. This report briefly defines each issue, explaining

AMENDMENT 1

Candidates for office who commit a misdemeanor in pursuit of the elected position would be subject to impeachment if voters adopt this proposed amendment to the Nebraska Constitution. Lawmakers approved LR19CA to bring this matter to the voters in the aftermath of a highly controversial University of Nebraska Board of Regents race eight years ago. Current law allows for the impeachment of an elected official only for misdemeanors performed while in office. After newly elected Regent David Hergert was seated in 2004, it was discovered that he violated campaign finance laws by not reporting his spending in time to trigger automatic public funding for his opponent, incumbent Don Blank of McCook. A vote for this amendment would allow for impeachment for acts committed in pursuit of the office. A vote against would not authorize such impeachment

AMENDMENT 2

Hunting, fishing and trapping would become protected rights for Nebraskans if voters approve this proposed amendment to the state Constitution. The Legislature passed LR40CA to place the matter on the ballot. Proponents said it would help preserve the heritage of such activity for Nebraskans and serve as a viable means of managing and controlling wildlife. To answer critics, they pointed out that the measure would not modify any provisions of law dealing with property rights or trespass and would also be subject to other restrictions as prescribed by existing law. A vote for Proposed Amendment 2 would set forth a constitutional right to hunt, to fish and to harvest wildlife as a management tool. A vote against the proposal would result in the activities not being recognized in the Constitution of Nebraska.

AMENDMENT 3

State Senators would be allowed to serve three terms instead of two if voters approve this proposed amendment to the Nebraska Constitution. Term limits were adopted under Initiative 415 in 2000, a move that limited senators to two terms in office. Proponents of that measure clearly indicated a desire to remove controversial Omaha Senator Ernie Chambers who served longer than any other state senator (38 years). In the 2012 session, lawmakers approved LR358CA to allow for the third term to be added. This is the same Legislature that saw five committee chairs and a popular Speaker of the Legislature ineligible to run again under the current two-term limit. A vote for Proposed Amendment 3 would change the number of terms a member of the Legislature may serve from two to three. A vote against the amendment would leave the limit at two consecutive four-year terms.

AMENDMENT 4

The last time voters agreed to increase the salary of Nebraska State Senators was 24 years ago. That was 1988, and lawmakers saw their salary increase to $1,000 a month, or $12,000 a year with the beginning of the legislative session in 1989. That increase tripled the $4,000 annual salary that senators had received for years. Proponents of the new measure say that nearly a quarter century of economic change is long enough and senators should receive a raise. The Legislature passed LR373CA to increase the salary to $22,500 a year, beginning January 9, 2013, if voters approve. Sponsors of the bill had sought a $32,000 annual salary, but a committee amendment lowered the amount and lawmakers approved. A vote for the amendment would increase the salary for members of the Legislature. A vote against the constitutional amendment would result in no change in the salary.
