Tidbits

TCHS Variety Show...

The Foundation for Thayer County Health Services will host its annual variety show Sunday, Nov. 4, at the Agricultural Hall on the Thayer County Fairgrounds in Deshler.

Pink Cadillac, a six-piece musical group featuring a wide range of music, will be the guest entertainers for the annual fundraiser. The show begins at 7 p.m., following a social period at 6 p.m., and the meal at 6:30 p.m.

For more information see the ad inside this issue or contact 402-768-4632.

Vendors wanted...

If you would like to be a vendor at the 25th annual Hebron Chamber of Commerce Christmas Fair, now is the time to make arrangements by calling Chamber Director Tina Reed at 402-768-3146.

The Christmas Fair will be held Sunday, Nov. 18.

Honoring Veterans...

Thayer Central Community Schools will honor all veterans from the county on Monday, Nov. 12, at 2 p.m., in the High School gymnasium. Refreshments will be served following the program.

Football Contest...

The Hebron Journal-Register's annual football contest yielded three contestants with exact entries resulting in a three-way tie for the cash. All three missed the same two games and all three guessed the same point spread on the tie breaker.

Nelva Deeke of Hubbell, Janice Klaumann of Hebron, and Fred Maschmann of Ruskin, will each receive $10 splitting the top three placements evenly.

There's only one week of fun football guessing left and inside you'll find the final set of games as well as complete instructions on how to compete. Good luck and good guessing.

Remember, entries are due at the office by Friday at noon, or must be mailed on Friday of each week.

Committee on track to save Majestic

Film industry switch from 35mm film to digital dumps hefty cost on theater owners

By Jacque Rocole
Hebron Journal-Register

Carla Gebers doesn't want to do it, but a potential $60,000 to $100,000 upgrade is forcing her to lock the door to Hebron's only movie house. It's simply a matter of time.

The movie industry announced last year it will no longer distribute films in celluloid format, meaning cinemas will either go digital or go dark. Gebers, who also owns the movie theater in Superior, said in the case of Hebron, she's afraid the change means closing the Majestic Theatre for good.

At the time of the announcement, the film industry added that the switch to digital movies could save studios a hefty $1 billion annually; shipping costs of up to $2,000 for heavy containers of up to five reels of film would be replaced with a small hard drive about the size of a VHS tape. Eventually, movies will most likely be streamed directly into theaters by satellite or online, eliminating the need for shipping altogether.

Unfortunately, while the industry saves a boat load of cash, movie theater owners such as Gebers will shoulder the cost of the change by needing to replace the old celluloid projector with a new digital projector at a cost of approximately $75,000 per projector. And in a small, rural theater, it's a burden she most likely would never get out from under, she said.

In Superior, the city's economic development department is looking into saving the theater there.

Here in Hebron, a grassroots group of interested individuals have taken on the task of attempting to keep the movie theater's doors open. According to a newsletter distributed by the "Save the Majestic Theatre" committee, at present the group is looking for committed individuals who would be willing to serve on the board and create a volunteer organization. Thayer County Economic Development Alliance (TCEDA) temporary co-director Deb Craig said in the letter, "A great deal of investigation has already been done by the committee regarding costs, equipment, funding options, legal issues, and non-profit status."

Last winter, members of the Thayer County Healthy Communities Coalition (TCHCC) conducted a survey among county youth of the importance of the movie theater in the rural area. In the study the members also shared information about a tour taken to Belleville, Kan., to see how a non-profit group was keeping the theater open there.

TCHCC director Megan Hinrichs said the members conducted the survey to collect data to provide useful information to any non-profit organizations interested in purchasing the theater. "If the theater were to operate as a non-profit," Hinrichs stated, "there would be significant opportunities for grants."

Gebers said the Majestic Theatre also has maintenance issues such as the need for new coating for a leaky roof. "Cinema Two is not in use because the roof leaks onto seats in the theater," she said. Also, the theater is not up to today's fire codes and changes will need to be made to satisfy the state fire marshal's office.

Gebers said she is more than willing to help anyone take over the Majestic Theatre and is full of suggestions for making the entertainment facility attractive such as removing the wall between the two Carla Gebers, owner of the Majestic Theatre in Hebron, has expressed concern at keeping the town's only movie house open after the film industry announced it will begin releasing all major movies in digital format only beginning January 2013. The new format requires a new projector which could cost anywhere from $60,000 to $100,000.

cinemas to create one large theater thereby allowing room for a larger screen for one theater instead of one new small screen for the digital projector. "A new screen, sound system and digital projector are all part of a digital package," she said. "And a bigger screen is a bigger draw."

In the local area Geneva, Oxford, Gothenburg, and Kearney as well as the Kansas villages of Belleville and Mankato are examples of communities who have worked together to create a strong volunteer board to run theater programs. Craig said. Some of the businesses are owned by the volunteer organization, others are owned by the city and operated through a volunteer board. "Individuals, families, and organizations such as Lions, Rotary, Scouts, FCCLA, FBLA, 4-H, FFA, church groups and youth groups help staff the movies on a rotating basis," she said.

If anyone is interested in joining the movement to save the Majestic Theatre, contact Deb Cossart at 402-440-5975, or send an email to savethemajestic@diodecom.net.

"Retaining businesses in Thayer County is instrumental to economic development and strong communities," Craig said. "Please help us retain the Majestic Theatre."

General Election Tuesday, Nov. 6

Special issues will be voted on by voters in Thayer Central School District and the Hubbell Community Board District.

The General Election will take place Tuesday, Nov. 6, and one of the biggest issues facing local voters is Proposition A, an $11 million bond request by Thayer Central Community Schools. Throughout the summer TCCS officials and the school board have held townhall style meetings and walking tours with question-and-answer sessions in an effort to spread information about the proposed improvements requiring the requested bond.

A second $4.8 million bond issue will also appear on the ballot, but is contingent on the passage of the first request. If Proposition A does not pass, Proposition B will become null and void. But if the issues are passed, says TCCS Superintendent Drew Harris in the district's November newsletter, the school would generate funds through the sales of the bonds to do the improvements at one time and repay those expenses over the next 20 years.

"If the bond issue fails," he noted, "the district will increase the levy to its general fund and building fund to do improvements as able and required over the coming years." That cost could reach $4.4 million, he told patrons in August.

Information regarding the improvement plan is available at www.thayercentral.org; however, Harris said a final walking tour with a question and answer session will be available to the public Sunday, Nov. 4, prior to the election. Also, inside this issue, find detailed information on page 8.

County voting polls will be open Nov. 6 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Up to election day, voters have until Oct. 31 to request an "early voter" ballot by mail and Nov. 5 to cast an "early voter" ballot in person at the County Clerk's Office.

Inside, find sample ballots on page 14.

Winter for 2011-2012 quite mild

Winter Weather Awareness Day - Nov. 8

The National Weather Service will use Nov. 8 to get the word out about the hazards of winter weather during Winter Weather Awareness Day. And although there is no doubt that the 2011-12 winter season was definitely drier and warmer than normal, weather officials continue to use this time of year to educate the public should severe weather occur.

This week, mega-storm Sandy is tracking its way along the eastern seaboard causing billions of dollars in damage, leaving millions without power and threatening to delay the upcoming election nearly a week away. As the cyclone gets ready to meet a winter low, the storm will turn into a nor'easter bringing blizzard conditions to the northeast.

Blizzards can last for several days and can include high winds, freezing rain or sleet, heavy snowfall and dangerously cold temperatures. People can become marooned at home without utilities or other services, and heavy snowfall can trap motorists in vehicles and make walking to find help a deadly effort.

The aftermath of a winter storm can impact a community or region for days, weeks, or even months, including steep economic costs.

In South Central Nebraska, the warmer weather of 2011-12 remained in the headlines through much of the winter period, with only a few winter storms to note.

The first widespread snow event of the season happened in early December when a strong, but quick-moving upper level disturbance swept across the Plains. The majority of the area measured between 3-6 inches of snow by the time the system pulled out late in the afternoon; Thayer County received anywhere from one to three inches. Counties west of here received closer to six inches.

Another quick moving system brought an additional 2-4 inches of snow to the area on December 8, mainly east of Highway 281.

According to the NWS annual winter weather summary, there were really no long stretches of extreme warmth during the winter of 2011-12; it was more of a steady above normal trend. During the first days of December, the above normal monthly average temperature was below normal on several days with snow, but starting on the 11th, the trend reversed itself featuring above-

Trojan horse makes stop in Hebron...

Scott Tillman (l) and Gwenn Aspen stopped by Hebron pulling a Trojan horse Wednesday to campaign against an amendment that would increase term limits for Nebraska state senators. State Senators would be allowed to serve three terms instead of two if voters approve this proposed amendment to the Nebraska Constitution. Term limits were adopted under Initiative 415 in 2000, a move that limited senators to two terms in office. Proponents of that measure clearly indicated a desire to remove controversial Omaha Senator Ernie Chambers who served longer than any other state senator (38 years). In the 2012 session, lawmakers approved LR358CA to allow for the third term to be added. This is the same Legislature that saw five committee chairs and a popular Speaker of the Legislature ineligible to run again under the current two-term limit. A vote for Proposed Amendment 3 would change the number of terms a member of the Legislature may serve from two to three. A vote against the amendment would leave the limit at two consecutive four-year terms.

130 Years Ago

Prairie schooners are numerous now-a-days. All are headed westward.

Amos Clover of Gardner, Ill., a friend of Alfred Carrier, has located in this county.

The walls of the new hall are almost up, and ere long the building will be enclosed.

Eugene Armstrong has erected one of the best sheep houses in the county, it being one hundred feet in length, with stone walls 18 inches in thickness and six feet in height.

Silas and William Lamm, brothers of J.W. Lamm, living north of Hebron, are removing from Essex, Iowa, to this county and will arrive here in a few days. They bring considerable stock with them.

Wm. Griffin, our photographer, has gone to Saunders County to visit his brother again, but will be home in two weeks. Griff must think a great deal of his brother to make such frequent visits, or is there some other attraction?

Fred Lehman's little boy, near Friedensau, nearly met his death the other day by falling against a pitch fork. The tines of which came near penetrating his stomach. At last accounts the little fellow was getting along as well as could be expected.

Ed. Hulsizer of Kiowa Precinct, has rented his farm for two years and will start next week with his family for Arkansas, where he will bask in southern sunshine until the novelty ceases, and then he will return to Thayer County, where the good come back to die.

Quite a number of Champaign County, Ill., folks have arrived in this county within the last week. Among them is L.E. Stevenson and wife. Mrs. Stevenson is a daughter of N.B. Coffman, Sr. Mr. Drullinger, who bought a tract of land near Chester last spring, has purchased more land in that same locality.

Yesterday about noon the residence of J.J. Kern in Friedensau was burned to the ground, including all the household goods, clothing, bedding and about $5,000 in notes, papers, etc. The fire started in the roof of the house and spread so rapidly that they were unable to save anything except the organ and a few small articles. Mr. Kern held an insurance policy in the Continental for about $2,000 which covered the house and household goods, but the policy was burned with the rest of his papers.

Hen fruit is becoming an expensive luxury — eggs being now 20 cents a dozen, "with an upward tendency." The price is eggseedingly eggspensive, eggstremely eggsorbitant and is therefore, not eggsactly eggreable.

The new bank, new schoolhouse, new town hall and new church are rapidly approaching completion.

W.F. Beckett and family of Blue Springs, have located in Hebron. Mr. Beckett is a harness maker and is in the employ of our efficient harness-maker Milton Rhodes.

When the farmers get rid of their machinery notes — the greatest drawback to the prosperity of this country — and get to raising corn, hogs and cattle and less wheat, they will not be in debt but will have plenty of money.

Belvidere

Mr. Town has purchased the Edwards' livery stable for private use. M.M. Edwards has purchased some of Williams' rigs and leased the Williams stable where he will continue the livery business.

Dr. Piggott is not married yet and tells us he shall not think of such things yet for 40 years.

There will be an armed guard stationed at the coal house after this month. Look out boys! Thompson sells coal at bottom prices, and you had better buy than to be laid up with a ball in your leg. Fair warning.

Mr. Moore of Michigan, a brother of Capt. H.S. Moore, is visiting his brother. Madam rumor has it that Mr. Moore has purchased the Warren wagon shop and will settle in Belvidere, to which we say, welcome, Mr. Moore.

Carleton

The new bank has begun doing business on a small scale. Corn is coming in lively these days. The streets are filled with teams.

A new string band has been organized by the Hebron and Carleton boys together.

Hubbell

The bridge across Rose Creek east of town is ready for inspection.

Dr. Dobyns has opened the Commercial Hotel to transients only.

Considerable corn is coming in; it sells for 25 cents per bushel.

Davenport

There is to be a feed and exchange mill built just south of the depot in the next month.

A respectable crowd was addressed last night by Hon. E.M. Correll and C.F. McGrew, upon the political status of the day. Both speakers acquitted themselves with much credit to themselves and the grand old Republican party which they represent.

Almost a tragedy: It is said that Dr. S. Evans, believing that ungentlemanly and improper attentions were being persistently paid to his daughter by certain commercial travelers, took forcible measures last night to remedy the matter. Approaching the man, the latter fearing a closer interview with the indignant farmer, ran away at a rate of speed indicating that his legs were his best friends.

Coatless and hatless, as he tore through the sunflowers and back streets, he is said to have resembled a frightened comet. One of the conceited drummers above mentioned, a hide buyer, had taken the two daughters out riding. On his return, the indignant father, struck him across the hand and drawing his revolver, frightened him out of several years growth by shooting off his pistol. That there are occasionally fine gentlemanly men in the class known as commercial travelers, is true, but it is also true that many of them are conceited, unprincipled libertines, who ought to be treated to an elegant costume of tar and feathers, and ridden out of town on a fence rail. It is said that one of them has sworn out a warrant against Dr. Evans, on four different charges. We expect to give in our next issue a more complete account of the whole matter.

M.N. Miller of Dry Creek sold Ed Cedarholm four shoats aggregating 1,380 pounds at five cents a pound, amounting to $69. He says he don't believe the farmer is very badly oppressed.

Byron

The boys have their boxing gloves and meet every Tuesday and Saturday nights under the name of the Byron Athletic Club. They have about three members and have had only two meetings.

Dr. Church has decided to locate down in the state of Kansas, where he has a position with the Kansas State Board of Health. E.O. Hill and wife sold their property here and have decided to locate in the state of California.

Belvidere now has but two general merchandise stores. G.C. Backer was compelled to close his store one day last week. This is the same old story of too much credit and very slow collections without sufficient capital to tide him over. When the day arrives that less credit is extended to the public it will be better for them and also for the merchant in business.

Friesen, Hinrichs Awarded UNL Scholarships

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln has awarded more than 1,700 scholarships to 2012 Nebraska high school graduates who are enrolled at UNL this fall. The total potential value of the scholarships is more than $14.5 million.

The awards include 29 Chancellor's Scholarships, 367 Regents Scholarships (including 106 Nebraska Top Scholars), 84 Nebraska Achievement Scholarships, 69 David Distinguished Scholarships, 641 James H. Canfield Scholarships, 81 Chancellor's Leadership Class scholarships and 351 University Honors Program textbook scholarships.

Following is a list of area scholarship winners from this area:

Bruning: Ashley Hinrichs, Bruning-Davenport High School, David Distinguished Scholarship, College of Arts and Sciences.

Hebron: Ethan Friesen, Thayer Central High School, Regents Scholarship, Nebraska Top Scholar and Honors Textbook Scholarship, College of Journalism and Mass Communications.

Chancellor's and Regents scholarships are among the most prestigious awards granted by the university. Chancellor's Scholarships pay tuition for full-time students for four academic years, while Regents Scholarships pay tuition for up to 120 credit hours or the completion of a bachelor's degree, whichever comes first. Each scholarship has an equivalent cash value of approximately $27,900. Funded in part by the Cooper Foundation, Chancellor's Scholarships also provide $2,000 in additional scholarships support for four academic years.

The students who were selected as Nebraska Top Scholars will receive at least $1,500 per year in scholarship awards beyond their Regents Scholarship awards from UNL or the University of Nebraska Foundation, provided they meet renewal criteria each year.

David Distinguished Scholar awards offer full-time students $1,000 annually for up to four years if they meet renewal requirements. David Distinguished Scholarships are funded from a trust established in 1973 by the late Adrian H. David, a Minneapolis attorney, in honor of his parents. Adrian David was a 1908 graduate of the NU College of Law. The trust also funds faculty research projects, placing a special emphasis on cancer research.

An individual student can qualify for one Chancellor's, Regents, Nebraska Achievement, David Distinguished or Canfield scholarship. Chancellor's Leadership Class and Honors Program book scholarships may be combined with other awards.

Parkinson's Disease

If you or someone you know has Parkinson's disease (PD); you are not alone. In the United States, 50,000-60,000 new cases of PD are diagnosed each year, adding to the one million people who currently have PD. The Center for Disease control rated complications from Parkinson's disease as the 14th leading cause of death in the United States. Worldwide, it is estimated that four to six million people suffer from the condition.

Parkinson's disease is a progressive disorder of the nervous system that affects your movement. It develops gradually, sometimes starting with a barely noticeable tremor in just one hand. But while tremor may be the most well-known sign of Parkinson's disease, the disorder also commonly causes stiffness or slowing of movement. While Parkinson's disease itself is not fatal, the Center for Disease Control rated complications from the disease as the 14th top cause of death in the United States.

There is currently no cure for Parkinson's disease. Treatment by your doctor will primarily focus on finding ways to help control the symptoms and improve your quality of life. Currently there are a wide variety of medications that often provide dramatic relief from the symptoms. However, in some cases, surgery may be appropriate if the disease doesn't respond to drugs.

Parkinson's disease symptoms vary from person to person. Early signs may be mild and may go unnoticed. Symptoms often begin on one side of your body and usually remain worse on that side, even after symptoms begin to affect both sides. Parkinson's signs and symptoms may include: tremors, slowed movement, rigid muscles, impaired posture and balance, loss of automatic movements, speech changes, and changes in your writing.

If you experience any of these symptoms, you should make an appointment with your healthcare provider. This will allow them to help you diagnose your condition and rule out any other causes for your symptoms.

The personal impact of this debilitating disease was felt this past week, as the staff at Thayer County Health Services and the local communities said good-bye to our dear friend, Dr. Hal Pumphrey, who so bravely battled Parkinson's disease.

Dr. Pumphrey was the primary physician at the Hebron Medical Clinic from 1980 until 1996. He is credited with the opening of the rural health clinic in Davenport; which is currently open on Monday and Wednesday. Dr. Pumphrey was also instrumental in improving the overall delivery of local healthcare.

His legacy will continue to live on at Thayer County Health Services through the many lives he touched and our mission of providing high quality compassionate healthcare — close to home.

Caring for Houseplants During the Winter

Houseplants need varying amounts of water and fertilizer at different times of the year. They need the most during summer when light levels are high and days are long. They need the least during the short days of winter. The primary reason for this is light.

Light fuels plant growth. More light allows more growth, which results in a greater demand for water and nutrients. When light is limited, the need for water and nutrients decreases dramatically. Therefore, it becomes easy to overwater and overfertilize during the winter months.

Excess water and fertilizer can kill a plant by damaging the root system. Overwatering can suffocate roots by eliminating oxygen, and excess fertilizer can burn roots.

It is never wise to water on a set schedule. Rather, allow the potting soil to tell you when watering is needed. Check to see if the soil is moist 1-inch deep by inserting your finger into the potting mix. Don't water unless the mix is dry. Another method of determining when to water is the weight of the pot. Use the former method to determine how light the pot should be before watering.

Another common mistake homeowners make with houseplants is fertilizing during the winter in order to perk plants up. This is the exact opposite of what should be done. Remember it is a lack of light that gives plants the doldrums, not a lack of fertilizer. Therefore, it is best not to fertilize at all during the middle of winter (December-January) and to fertilize sparingly during November and February (maybe 1/4 a normal rate).

Cleaning up the Vegetable Garden for Next Year

Cleaning up your vegetable garden now can help prevent insect and disease problems next year. Those who planted a fall garden may have to wait until the cool-season crops such as broccoli and cabbage are harvested before finishing the process.

If possible, till the refuse in rather than remove it. Large plants, such as tomatoes, may need to be cut into much smaller pieces before tilling so the vines don't wrap around the tines. Plant parts will decompose over winter.

Any clods formed from tilling will break apart due to the freezing and thawing that occurs during the winter months, leaving a soft, very tillable garden next spring. Remember to make a map of your garden before tilling so that crops can be rotated to different parts of the garden next spring.

"Expecting The Best" Is Guild Topic

"Expecting the Best" was the topic chosen by President Julia Rhoades to open the October meeting of the Thayer County Health Services Guild and was an apt assessment of the attitude of all connected with the organization.

The many volunteer hours contributed by county women to manage the thrift shop "Things & Stuff" provides funds for various projects and purchases suggested by hospital staff. They always expect and receive an attentive ear from the group and the outcome of the requests is usually positive. A much needed article of equipment needed by the maintenance department for the purpose of more efficiently cleaning the hospital area was suggested and the purchase was approved by the members.

The membership chairman expects cooperation from contact leaders of county towns to encourage participation by those women able to contribute their time. This showed in the response and increase in numbers and enables the 500 member goal to be even more realistic.

The Christmas motif quilt fashioned and constructed by the interested members of the hospital staff will be displayed at the Chamber of Commerce Christmas Fair in November. This enables the public to purchase raffle tickets and boost their chances to win. The winning ticket will be drawn at the November 28 guild meeting so the lovely creation will be available and enjoyed in someone's home in time for the holidays.

The group expects a well-ordered effort by the president each month in conducting the meeting and October was no exception. Secretary and treasurer's reports were examined, approved and filed as usual.

The next scheduled meeting will be Nov. 28 in the Bruning Conference Room of the hospital at 9 a.m. The drawing for the quilt will be the high point of the morning.

Remember: the best is yet to come — live in peace with those around you and your expectations can be fulfilled.

NEWS REPORTER

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Thayer Central Bond Issue will be coming up for a vote on Nov. 6, 2012. The mill levy today is about 1.50 or $1,500 per $100,000. If A and B pass, it will be about 1.72 or $1,720 per $100,000 of property value.

Agriculture will pay about 80 percent of the Bond Issue. Taxes on an average farm consisting of 800 acres would increase $7,500 per year or $150,000 over 20 years. If land value would go down 30 percent like it did in the 1980's, the mill levy would increase to 2.23 or $2,230 per $100,000.

Another fact is that an increase of $800,000 in taxes a year in the Thayer Central District could be $800,000 less spent in our local businesses a year.

Chester school also seemed to grow and was in need of a few more classrooms and a nice new big gymnasium—only to see it closed as the population declined and stores on main street closed as well.

If Thayer Central Schools are in need of repairs, such as broken windows, then the repairs should have been made as soon as possible. We as home owners make repairs to our homes as needed rather than build a new home.

Community Pride & Progression

As I was contemplating what to write, I found myself reflecting on what brought me to this community. Although I was not raised in Thayer County, I have developed a great deal of pride for this county and the people within it. As an individual who had no previous ties to the area, the two items I found most relevant during my search over a decade ago was the job opportunities and quality of local education. When discussing my options with my family, my father, who had been in educational administration for over 25 years, noted the support and pride he had always witnessed within the Thayer Central school district.

Working as an Occupational Therapist at TCHS gave me an opportunity to meet different generations of local individuals and families. From the start, although I was an "import", I was taken into the family we call Thayer County with open arms. During the progression of buying land, building a home and family, and pursuing a business apart from the hospital, I have always found support, and have embraced that pride in our community.

Contracting OT services in seven different school districts, I have the unique opportunity to see the progression of both students and the communities supporting them. I have yet to find a community with more support and concern than the people of Thayer County. As the numbers indicate, Thayer Central schools are continuing to grow, and with that growth, the area is seeing an increase in business development, housing development, and agricultural development. As people are considering the area for new jobs, new housing, or to progressively continue farming, they look directly at the strength of the local school. As it has been noted in many business and housing publications, a community is only as strong as its' schools.

While taxes are always discussed in education, I do not feel that one can place a price on the progression of our children. In working with local parents, farmers, and business leaders on the committee for A & B, it was refreshing to see the broad diversity of support, from small homeowners to large scale farming operations. Regardless of an individual's background, we have all benefitted from someone in the past taking a proactive stand in supporting education. In this, we are not just discussing the future of current or potential students, we are looking at the progression and future of our local communities. Please stand with me in support of our future; our children, our children's children, and that of our community; vote FOR Proposition A & B.

Arnold Inducted Into UN-K's Students In Mass Media

Students in Mass Media (SIMM) has inducted new members at the University of Nebraska at Kearney.

According to Dr. Nanette Hogg, SIMM adviser and communications associate professor, SIMM is the only honor society for those studying journalism and mass communication at UNK.

"In order to be eligible and nominated for SIMM, a student must be a full-time student, have at least a sophomore class standing, be working toward a major or minor in a mass communication field and maintain a 3.2 overall grade point average," Dr. Hogg said.

The goals of SIMM are to provide its members with experience they may encounter in their future careers, to build their resumes and to meet with career professionals to learn more about the career they are pursuing. Members of SIMM also provide the community of Kearney and UNK campus with service.

According to Dr. Hogg, members of the organization meet every first and third Wednesday of the month to discuss current matters and to place promotional inserts from businesses in the "Antelope" newspaper.

SIMM officers include President Rachel VanBoening of Blue Hill, Vice President Megan Axmann of Elm Creek, Secretary Jaycie Woslager of Laurel and Treasurer Rachel Harvey of Scottsbluff.

Amanda Arnold of Hebron, studying mass media, is a new SIMM member.

Death Notice

Carol Deepe

Carol M. Deepe, age 79, of Deshler, wife of Don, died Oct. 28, 2012.

Services were held Oct. 31 at Grace Lutheran Church in Hebron.

Ahrendts Funeral Home of Deshler was in charge of arrangements.

Obituaries

Virginia Priefert

Virginia Priefert of Hebron, the youngest of six children, daughter of Max and Ruth (Thomas) Griffin, was born Dec. 14, 1929, in Alexandria. She departed this life Monday, Oct. 22, 2012, at Blue Valley Lutheran Nursing Home in Hebron at the age of 82 years.

Virginia attended district No. 77 rural school Jefferson County, graduating from Alexandria High School with the class of 1947. She then attended Fairbury College for the summer and UNL for one year receiving her teacher degree. She taught elementary school at Alexandria for ten years and also for a short time in Belvidere, where she stayed with the Priefert family.

They thought she would be a good match for Burdette "Stub," but he resisted. Virginia tells that when she came in the front door he went out the back door.

The couple married Feb. 14, 1951, at the Presbyterian Manse in Alexandria. This union was blessed with the birth of two children. She said she picked Valentine's Day so that he would remember the date.

They made their home on the Priefert farm, located on Poverty Flats southwest of Belvidere. For 50 years she and Stub worked together, planting and harvesting the crop.

Virginia was a member of the Presbyterian Church in Hebron, there she was selected to be a representative for the southwestern part of Homestead Presbytery. She was active in the Thayer County Historical Society and was one responsible for the beginning of the Thayer County Museum where she devoted 30 years as a curator. She was also active in the Belvidere Woman's Club. She was a fixture at the Belvidere Arts and Craft Show and other community events. Virginia and Stub traveled in their retirement years including Australia for an Army reunion.

One of Virginia's hobbies was astronomy. She enjoyed tranquil times watching the stars in the sky, God's creation always amazed her. She spent hours on genealogy, Thayer County and Nebraska history and public speaking, impersonating Elizabeth Cady Stanton, a woman suffragette who visited Hebron in 1879.

She enjoyed collecting bells, quilting, sewing, ceramics, spinning, dyeing natural fibers with plants, and candle making, especially Christmas candles and wedding unity candles.

She loved Halloween and played "Witchipoo" for several years in Belvidere. Memorial Day was a passion, putting the flags out at the cemetery, along with class reunions, and the Belvidere Memorial Dinners. All of these things were very important to Virginia.

She was a Bruning Army Air Field Historian and put together two books about the base and the men stationed there, one of them titled, "Life With Uncle Sam And Other Lies."

She is preceded in death by her parents, brothers, Stuart and Thomas Griffin; sisters, Maxine Leininger, Miriam (Sally) Bramel and Phyllis Griffin.

She is survived by her husband Stub of Hebron; son, Jack Priefert and wife Marily of Hebron; daughter, Leah Lammers and husband Al of Omaha; grandchildren, Brittany Lammers of Omaha, Leslie Dickinson and husband Andy of Woodbine, Iowa; Katie Wheeler and husband Jon of Omaha, nieces, nephews and friends.

Funeral services were held Oct. 27 at the United Church of Christ in Belvidere with Pastors Eldon and Mary Beth Nicholson and Connie Stone officiating. Organist was Arlys Dill and pianist was Brenda Striggow. Soloist David Rubio sang "All Good Gifts" from Godspell. Congregational hymn was "Amazing Grace."

Casket bearers were Russ Priefert, Tom Priefert, Bill Hudson, Nick Dunsmoor, Kent Williamson and Jim Kenner.

Burial was in the Belvidere Cemetery, Belvidere.

Memorials may be made to the Thayer County Historical Society or in care of the family.

Hebron Memorial Funeral Home of Hebron was in charge of arrangements.

Condolences may be left at www.kollfh.com.

Cards of Thanks

Card of Thanks

Words are inadequate to express our heartfelt appreciation to the many people who assisted in some way with the fire near Sutton. The dedicated firefighters and many tractor drivers with discs and other equipment begin a long list of people who helped in some way to stop a fire which could have been so much more destructive. We don't know who all of you are or how you helped, but know that many prayers were answered by God's people serving Him in Clay and Fillmore counties that day. Thank you all.

ROD AND CHERIE DOMEIER AND FAMILY

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank our relatives, friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness, cards, plant and food during the death of our sister, June Sims. It was truly appreciated.

ARNIE AND MARY HEINRICH

Card of Thanks

On behalf of the Bruning Federated Woman's Club, I would like to thank anyone who helped us in any way to make the District IV Woman's Club Convention a success. We truly appreciated everyone's support.

LOLA JOHNSON, President of Bruning Woman's Club

Death Notice

Stanley Bartling

Stanley Lee Bartling of Deshler, husband of Diane, departed this life on Sunday, October 28, 2012, at Parkview Haven Nursing Home in Deshler at the age of 73 years.

Funeral services were held October 31 at Peace Lutheran Church in Deshler.

Burial was at Deshler City Cemetery in Deshler.

Memorials are in care of the family. Condolences may be left at www.krollfh.com.

Bruning

By Lola Johnson

Carol Reiss of Lodi, Calif., Susan Reiss of Elk Grove, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. David Peterson of Walnut Creek, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Brett Petersen of Soquel, Calif., Ian Peterson of San Francisco, Calif., and Ebba Peterson of Corvallis, Ore., came Thursday for the burial of Dr. Walt Reiss on Saturday. About 100 people gathered at the Belvidere Community Hall for fellowship afterwards. They were all guests of Frank and Mary Bruning for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Babka of Dubuque, Iowa, and Frank Babka of Minneapolis, Minn., came for the services. Everyone returned home Sunday.

Marie Huber and Lola Johnson attended the Ohioa Birthday Coffee on Thursday morning. Everyone brought something and told about what they did on Halloween when they were younger. Lola won a Halloween pot holder for the door prize.

On October 13, Lola Johnson went to a York restaurant to help a cousin, Ervin Dinkelman of York, celebrate his 90th birthday. Among those there were his children and their families and also a young lady who was Lola's flower girl at her wedding on May 3, 1957. She hadn't seen her for several years.

Sam and Denise Packard had a birthday party for Mollie Packard's second birthday on Saturday. The guests attending were Grandma Nancy Packard, Uncle Dan and cousin Sam Packard of Lincoln, Uncle Dean Dirks of Bruning, Aunt Deanna Dirks of Hastings and Grandma Lola Johnson. They played a little kids game and Mollie opened her gifts. Her mom had made her a cake decorated as a peacock which we all got to sample. It was a pretty exciting day for Mollie and of course the rest of us too. Deanna and Lola had stayed there over the weekend so we sang "Happy Birthday" many times.

Weather...

January 2012 continued to stay warm. In fact, the majority of days failed to see the temperature drop below zero.

Record temperatures were recorded in the area on two days during January; January 5 saw 67°F to 69°F temperatures in Grand Island, Hastings and Kearney breaking records from 1956. On January 30, the phenomenon occurred again breaking records from 1931 in Grand Island and Hastings.

According to the weather summary, by the time February rolled around, Nebraskans were beginning to think winter was over. Unseasonably warm temperatures and a lack of precipitation had even put portions of South Central Nebraska closer to receiving a severe drought designation from the U.S. Drought Monitor.

This all changed, however, when from the evening of Feb. 2, through the afternoon of the 4th, a strong mid-upper level low pressure system strengthened as it neared the Central Plains. Early on, temperatures remained warm enough to support rain as the first round of precipitation lifted across the area. Much of the coverage area experienced its biggest snowfall of the season with many receiving between 6-13 inches of heavy, wet snow.

Prior to the snowfall, several counties mainly east of Franklin and Grand Island picked up rainfall ranging from .25 to over one inch.

The heaviest corridor of snow encompassed about 15 counties and was centered roughly 25 miles either side of a line from near Holdrege-Minden-Doniphan-Benedict, and included the Tri-Cities. Some of the highest snowfall amounts, up to a foot of snow, were recorded north and west of Thayer County.

The end of the 2011-12 winter season featured the first-ever confirmed February tornado in the 24-county region of South Central Nebraska. The brief EF0 tornado touched down four miles west of Greeley at 7 p.m., on Feb. 28, and overturned an irrigation pivot. Other reports of wind damage occurred in the northern regions of South Central Nebraska near North Loup and Belgrade. The classic early-season severe weather setup also produced another tornado in Logan County.

According to NWS, another mild winter is expected for this area in the upcoming season. In its 90-day forecast, dry, warm conditions are expected to continue through February 2013.

Stradley's Art Works On Display At Fairbury's First Friday

Plans are underway for downtown Fairbury's art galleries and specialty stores to be open once again for "First Friday" coming up Friday, Nov. 2. Venues will be opening their doors to visitors as part of the "First Friday Art Walk" in historic downtown Fairbury.

The November Art Walk will feature the works of artist, Lucky Stradley. Lucky Stradley has been making art of some sort almost her entire life and making a living with her art since 21 years of age. Lucky lives in Hubbell, where she has a studio and kiln.

Stradley discovered the wonderful world of making faces on functional pottery in May of 2009. "I love mud. I love making faces. I love making faces in the mud. Gosh, I am the happiest when I have mud all over my hands and my apron and a cute little ugly face is looking back at me from the mud."

Visitors to New Earth Clay Pottery during the November Art Walk will have an opportunity to meet Stradley and learn first-hand about her work. Stradley's works will be on display at New Earth Clay Pottery throughout the month of November.

Each month, new artists, new locations and new events are featured for the Fairbury First Friday Art Walk. Organizers are hoping to grow this event and feature more art, artists, live music and events in the coming months as a tool to promote downtown Fairbury. Everyone is encouraged to come downtown this Friday. Enjoy the art, meet the artists and help support the arts in Fairbury.

Vote FOR Amendment 3

State Senator Tom Carlson:

On November 6th, you will have the opportunity to vote FOR Amendment 3, to extend Legislative term limits from two four-year-terms to three four-year-terms.

Many of us appreciate a coach, teacher, doctor and many other individuals who provide valuable services for us. It's unlikely we would consider limiting the time they could serve our state or communities to 8 years.

A third term does not guarantee re-election. The voters still decide if their state senator deserves another term. Amendment 3 provides for this, but preserves term limits.

Four Nebraska Amendments on the Ballot

Election Day is coming soon and when you go to the voting booth you will see four proposed Nebraska Constitutional Amendments on the ballot.

To help you become more informed, go to the University of Nebraska Agricultural Economics website <http://agecon.unl.edu/policy>. There you will find pros and cons about each amendment written by Dave Aiken and Brad Lubben. The four amendments are:

Amendment 1 would make public officials liable for impeachment if they violate election laws before they become a public official.

Amendment 2 would establish a constitutional right to engage in these hunting, fishing and trapping.

Amendment 3 would allow state Senators to serve three

BOARD OF REGENTS PROFILE WHAT THE DAILY NEWSPAPERS FAILED TO REPORT

The background of both candidates has not been written by the Omaha World Herald and the Lincoln Star-Journal.

In order to govern the University of Nebraska Systems composed of the Medical Center, the Omaha, Kearney and Lincoln campuses, qualifications are necessary to make Regental decisions affecting business and academic decisions.

Senator LaVon Heidemann has had no academic or professional higher education training. The Nebraska Blue Book, which chronicles all details of a state senator's past confirms his lack of academic or professional training. State Senators make no academic decisions and act only on an entire budget from the University of Nebraska. There is no scrutiny of academic and professional programs or academic department budgets.

Would you have a jack hammer operator do a dental root canal? The Nebraska Farm Bureau has endorsed Senator Heidemann but did not mention that he was a member of that organization and presented support for their priorities.

The Pro-Life organization endorsed Senator Heidemann who gave that organization a strong pro-life leaning. Yet, this was the state senator as head of the Appropriations Committee that steered budgetary considerations for embryonic research at the University of Nebraska Medical Center throughout his legislative career. He never stated any public opposition to this appropriation. His past record and his current stand in order to obtain the Pro-Life vote are conflicting. Shades of Regent James McClurg in his stand to the Pro-Life votes and his Regental voting record on the subject.

Governor Heidemann's endorsement conflicts with what the Governor's stand on qualifications. Did the Governor listen to University lobbyists, President Miliken. His endorsement by Lincoln Regent Tim Clare's indicates support of his position of unbridled University spending and budgetary increases.

Mike Jones has an integrity question that caused the Pro-Life organization to initially endorse him and then had to withdraw that endorsement. His answers to the Omaha World Herald questionnaire and his response to the Pro-Life inquiry were not made in a truthful manner. A question of integrity immediately raises its ugly head. This may mean he would tell the Regent district electorate one position while he was taking another opposite position.

His intentional forgetfulness in his background information concerning the position he held as Grand Master of Nebraska Masons appears to be an attempt to garner the strong Catholic vote in the district. His actions, after finishing his term, were not covered by the press voice of Nebraska. Through his complaint and influence, David Watts was denied the Grand Master's position after spending seven years in the line for governance of the Masons. The basis of rejection was a legal accusation which never came to trial as far as information obtained from Court records. The verdict was guilty by accusation. It raises the question, is this how Jones will handle University faculty and student accusations which come to the Board for review.

Not only have the daily newspapers ignored the candidate's background, they've intentionally attempted to influence the electorate in voting for Nebraska's Wall Street's candidates enabling that group to obtain financial gain from University business.

IGNORED REGENTIAL ISSUES

The issues that have been ducked by the Journal-Star and the World Herald in the Board of Regents races are as follows:

a. Student debt and ever expanding budgets for the University of Nebraska. Recent data released by the federal government indicates the average debt of graduating students is $27,000. For professional schools, the average debt is six figures.

College tuition has increased twice the general inflation rate in this decade, up 112%. The percentage of public universities receiving degrees within six years from admission remains below 55%. A four year graduating student is 30%.

The retired families have 20% still paying college loan debt. Few families are subject to a graduating student having no debt. This has made a University education unaffordable. Out state Nebraska students cannot economically pursue higher education.

The causes of University expenditures and large state budget appropriations are due to huge increases in University administrators with six figure salaries common expenditures. The average University administrative increase doubled and at the University of Nebraska almost tripled. This has created administrative bloat. Added to that fact are light faculty teaching loads which increase student and family expenditures.

This has created fewer students that are seeking higher education at the University.

Overbuilding and special-interest centers add to University expenditures.

A representative District Regent should demand the student percentages receiving their degrees within six years and graduate success in the job market that are accurately calculated. They should also demand the above data for each campus and profession.

Students should not be the object of financial reward for the Nelnets and banking industry to increase profits at working families expense. The priority, cutting expenses.

b. Members of the Board of Regents must be representative of the electorate that placed these individuals in office and should have higher educational experience.

By delegating decision making responsibility away as the Journal-Star and World Herald endorse, rural Nebraska has no representation. The powerbrokers from Omaha and out state should not be calling the outcome for issues affecting every individual that is voting in this district. The representatives should first care about the best interests of the district they represent rather than the big contributors getting their interests taken care of by the Board of Regents. The World Herald and the Journal Star have discretely avoided reporting Regental campaign contributions.

c. Our district Regent should demand openness and financial reporting. Forty years ago, the Board in Regents vs. Exon, asked the Supreme Court for a ruling that would prevent the governor from influencing academic and economic decisions by the Regents. In that Supreme Court opinion, the Court held the state could not interfere but publically act on all personnel, economic decisions and UN Foundation contributions on public agenda.

Today that order has been ignored. Not all financial decisions are reported and UN Foundation funds are conveniently forgotten. Supreme Court Chief Justice Heavican and Court of Appeals Chief Justice Inbody are aware of the refusal to follow that order by the previous Supreme Court. By not making Foundation contributions public and its Board composed of special interest representatives, it would be easy to pass money from a corporation or business group to University leaders. Openness is absent destroying honest and integrity University administrative recommendations taken at face value by the Regents. You are not electing a representative for the UN Foundation Martini Club.
