Thayer County Hospital Guild celebrates 65th anniversary

Submitted by TCHS Guild Members

This year, the hospital guild for Thayer County Health Services celebrates their sixty-fifth anniversary. To mark this milestone, here are a few quick statistics on what they have accomplished.

Annually the guild purchases around $40,000 in medical equipment for the hospital and clinic. To date, they have provided more than $700,000 in support for Thayer County Health Services and have given more than $25,000 in educational assistance to students in Thayer County pursuing a career in healthcare.

From an original membership of 31, the guild now has almost 500 members throughout Thayer County. In 2014, they had over 172 different volunteers helping cover the shop hours at Things and Stuff and another 32 volunteers working in the hospital gift shop.

But how did the guild get to be so successful? To understand this, we need to look at the history of the guild. It began on a Friday afternoon, May 26, 1950, when 31 ladies from various organizations in the county held a meeting in the Court House Club Room. This group decided to organize a "guild" to volunteer at the hospital in Thayer County. Initially their role was to mend hospital linens, visit and read to patients and some ladies canned garden products for winter use.

The guild held four general meetings a year in the different towns to discuss ways they could get involved in helping the hospital. Because of limited funds, the guild started holding a fall bake sale, did a bazaar booth at the county fair and had gifts for sale in a cupboard located in the hospital lobby.

Things and Stuff is open Wednesday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and Saturdays 9:00 a.m. to noon. At the 2014 calendar year end, the Guild had donated about $700,000 to the hospital as well as $25,000 in educational assistance scholaships to Thayer County residents.

Stuff." The success of this sale led to the guild opening their "Things and Stuff" shop on the second floor of the bank building in downtown Hebron. The guild opened its shop every Thursday and it was staffed by building during the warmer months and in the fall they moved everything back upstairs for the winter months. Then in 1988, the Skogmos building sold so they moved their shop to the Mitchell building. in the county help cover the shop's hours of operation. In addition, there are other volunteers working throughout the week in the back to sort and price the items donated to go out front for sale. Since the beginning, there has been strong support for the guild. Every patient and employee at Thayer County Health Services has benefited from the work done by the guild. In May 1998, Nancy Fintel wrote a newspaper article about the guild for the Hastings Tribune. In it, she quoted Dr. Bauhard as saying, "The work of the guild is very important because it gets people in the community involved in supporting the hospital. Through the guild's efforts, many items and equipment have been purchased that give better quality of care, convenience and comfort to our patients. The guild's contributions lend support to the hospital and upgrades the services offered."

to sign up for prescription drug coverage, or have other Medicare question, there will be help available at Hebron Secrest Library on Oct. 20, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

An appointment is required. Call 1-800-234-7119 to make an appointment. Do not call the library.

Football Contest...

Experienced player Nelva Deeke wonfirst place this week with 18-for-25 correct answers and guessing closest on the tie breaker point spread with 14.

Last weeks winner, Dale Belich received second place with 17 correct and a 23-point spread. Third place went to Fred Maschmann.

There's plenty more football season still ahead and you can find the new slate of games inside. Don't forget, entries are due by Friday at noon.

Thayer Central Facilities meeting...

On the evening of October 14, at 7:00 p.m. in the Intermediate Gym, the School District and Community Facilities Committee will present plans to address the district's elementary classroom and safety needs. All district patrons are invited.

A process is in motion that would allow the district to potentially start an addition to the Intermediate building this coming spring. This plan would allow the district to vacate the Primary building.

Come get up to speed on what has happened in the last year, how the design-build process works, what might be included in such a project, how it would be funded, and what will be happening in the coming months; then provide input as to what you feel the priorities for the project should include.

Leenerts, Mildred, 95, Bruning Eitzmann, Lenard, 93, Byron gency, guild members would assist with tray service, answering telephones and helping with visitors. When the tornado struck Hebron in 1953, the guild was there to provide assistance. They purchased a generator to supply emergency lighting to the hospital. They even purchased new curtains and bedspreads for the patient rooms.

By 1960, the members of the guild were starting to realize their role was changing. More disposable and pre-sterilized supplies were being used in hospitals, so less mending was needed. Also because of new regulations from the Food and Drug administration, the guild could no longer provide canned produce to the hospital.

Because of their changing role, the guild revised their constitution in 1965. They became more of an advocate for the hospital instead of just volunteers. In 1966, when the county was voting on whether or not to build a new hospital, the guild sent out correspondence to local residents. They were very involved in encouraging everyone to vote in favor of building a new hospital.

When construction began on the new hospital in 1967, the guild realized they needed to do more to raise funds in support of the hospital. That year they held a county-wide rummage sale they called "Things and

Rural Development Names Donna Rut Clerk of the Year

On October 7 at 1:00 p.m., USDA Rural Development State Director Maxine Moul will present a plaque to Donna Rut, Alexandria Village Clerk, for her excellence in performance.

Rut was instrumental in: Daykin receiving a USDA grant for a siren project that included a new siren, pole, and electrical lines. Alexandria receiving a USDA loan and grant for a wastewater project to build a new lagoon for the town. Tobias, through USDA, completed a water project. Western utilized USDA loan and grant funds for a water project that included a new well, new water tower, meters, and pipes. Swanton and Western may be looking into Special Evaluation Assistance for Rural Communities and Households (SEARCH) Grants. volunteers from around the county.

In 1968, the guild planted a small pine tree outside the hospital. Local residents could give a donation in memory of a loved one and the guild would place a colored light on the tree. This was the beginning of the guild's "Lights of Love" memorial tree displayed each year during the Christmas season in the hospital.

Starting in 1976, the guild began to meet monthly instead of four times a year. This became necessary because they were now purchasing more expensive equipment for the hospital. By 1986 the guild decided that in order to increase sales, they needed to move their shop to the ground floor level. Initially they used the Skogmos

Later that same year the Mitchell building sold. This led to the Guild voting to buy the Bethscheider building where the Things and Stuff shop is currently located. With the help of their husbands and other volunteers, the guild opened their Things and Stuff shop in their new location in November, 1988. Fixtures for the shop were secured from other stores going out of business. With the store on ground level, the Guild was able to open the shop all day on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, and on Saturday mornings.

To staff the shop requires many volunteers. Each town has a contact person to schedule workers on their assigned days. Each week, 14 volunteers from the different towns

There are no cobs and free coal in the county, which will be as much of a necessity this winter as free soup was in the town last winter. Some farms are drilling in wheat, others are waiting for rain. Many of them have to borrow, beg or go in debt for the seed they are sowing.

Deshler: Thieves made a raid on Henry Wefel's cellar the other night and got away with a lot of provisions. The same kind of visit was also made on P. G. Holtzan's larder...Last year Struve shipped in a carload of sauerkraut; this year the home production will supply the market. Last year we had to ship potatoes in; this year we will have some to sell. In many other ways this section is better off than last year. And still people grumble.

TC Healthy Communities Coalition looks to stop rise in underage drinking

In recent years, a number of studies have come out suggesting that underage drinking is on the decline nationally. Unfortunately, here in Nebraska. studies indicate the prevalence of underage drinking has actually increased.

Thaver County Healthy Communities Coalition is working to halt this unfortunate trend through a new website, TalkAboutAlcohol. org, which presents "The Parenting Style That Works," an initiative aimed at helping parents understand how parenting style can impact binge drinking and other risky behaviors in adolescents.

Underage drinking is still an issue in Nebraska. In fact, one recent study found that underage drinkers consumed nearly 26 percent of all alcohol sold in our state – a figure more than twice the national average and fifth worst in the nation.

According to the Nebraska Risk and Protective Factor Student Survey, completed in 2014, 16.9 percent of twelfth graders in Thayer County reported using alcohol in the last 30 days.

To learn more about the data for Thayer County from the Nebraska Risk and Protective Factors Survey, visit TalkAboutAlcohol.org.

Jeff Joe

from Southeast Community College and holds a lifetime Certified Purchasing Manager (C.P.M.) distinction under the Institute for Supply Management.

Studies show that parents have the strongest, most direct impact on whether or not their teens will become heavy drinkers. The Parenting Style That Works focuses on the characteristics and effects of the four major parenting styles with special attention given to authoritative, or as the coalition calls it, "heart-to-heart," parenting.

A series of radio and billboard ads have been created encouraging parents to visit TalkAboutAlcohol.org, an engaging, comprehensive website providing a number of valuable resources, including details on how to implement the heart-to-heart parenting style.

This project was supported in whole or in part by Grant #93.243 under the Strategic Prevention Framework Partnerships for Success Grant and Substance Abuse Prevention Block Grant funds by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration(SAMSHA) for Substance Abuse Prevention and the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services.

About Thayer County Healthy Communities Coalition - The coalition works together to reduce risky alcohol-related behavior in Thayer County, as well as empower parents to be active in prevention efforts. To learn more about the coalition efforts, please contact the coalition lead.

The Trauma Committee at Thayer County Health Services wants to remind everyone to pay extra attention on the roads during harvest.

Harvest season is a busy time for farmers and their families. More workers, equipment and a longer work day can increase the potential for accidents and injuries.

This is often why during harvest time there is an increase in collisions between farm equipment and other vehicles.

Collisions are often the result of passenger vehicles not reacting quick enough when they recognize the slower moving farm equipment.

The following are tips for farmers and other motorists to use to stay safe this time of year.

For Farmers:

 Adjust mirrors for good vision.

· Make sure that all warning flashers, lights, and slow moving vehicle (SMV) emblems are in proper operating condition, clean and easily visible.

· Check tire inflation pressures. Inflate the tires to the maximum recommended pressure for long-distance travel.

• Watch for potholes or obstacles that could tip the tractor.

• Stay alert at all times to avoid a serious accident. Do not use the cell phone or two-way radio while operating equipment on public roads.

 Slow down for sharp curves or when going down a hill.

• Be cognizant of high traffic times, usually mornings and late afternoons.

For Motorists:

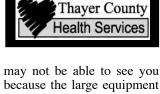

• Farm machinery travels slower than normal traffic, often at speeds of 25 mph or less. Slow down immediately when you see the slow-moving vehicle sign to avoid rear-end crashes.

• Farm machinery operators because the large equipment or a load can block part of their rear view. If you can't see the driver, the driver can't see you.

• Extra-wide farm machinery may take up more than one lane to avoid hitting obstacles such as mailboxes and road signs.

Before passing farm machinery:

 Wide machinery sometimes will have to make wide turns. If the machinery slows and pulls toward the right side of the road, make sure it isn't turning left.

• Determine if the road is wide enough for you and the machinery to safely share.

· Look for roadside obstacles such as mailboxes, bridges, or road signs that may cause the machinery to move to the center of the road.

• Be sure there is adequate distance for you to safely pass.

During harvest, we all need to be extra cautious on the roadways and especially the country roads. In addition to the slow moving vehicles, make sure to watch for decreased visibility from the dust created by the increase in traffic and the larger equipment. Also, pay close attention to blind corners from the tall corn

All of us at Thayer County Health Services understand how important a successful harvest is to the local ag economy. That is why we want everyone involved to be extra vigilant this harvest season when traveling. We all need to do our part to ensure a safe harvest.

by Pastor C.W. Seybold and he was confirmed December 6, 1936, by Pastor L. Hoeffer at St. Peter's Lutheran Church, rural Byron. His confirmation verse was Revelations 2:10 - "Be thou faithful until death and I will give you the crown of life.'

He attended the rural schools District 102 (Triumph) and District 77 (Prairie Dell) Kansas. As a young man, Lenard went along to North Dakota to help with harvest and to Iowa to help pick corn during the years of the depression.

He was engaged in farming when he married Luella (Aden) on June 23, 1946, at St. John Lutheran Church (Stone) near Auburn, by Pastor G.K. Wienke. They shared their home with Lenard's parents, the Carl Eitzmanns, until his parents' death.

Lenard served on the church council a few years and was a member of Byron Senior Citizens Club, along with becoming a member of Spring Creek Square Dance Club in the 1980's. Square dancing was something Lenard looked forward to and loved his doe si does. They were blessed with children, Harlan, Linda Lou and Phyllis Jean.

When he retired from farming, they moved to Byron in 1974. Even though they lived in Byron, Lenard still drove to the farm every day and continued one of his favorite pastime activities, chopping thistles.

Belvidere

By LaDonna Avers

It was a busy week again in Belvidere. One event is over and more to prepare for.

On Thursday, Linda Hudson and Bonnie Priefert drove to Fairmont where they joined the other GFWC Women's Clubs in District IV for the annual club convention.

There were over 50 ladies present to hear the program about human trafficking. A lawyer, a FBI member and another person associated with the program explained human trafficking and what an insidious crime it is to young girls and women.

Everyone found the information very interesting. Following lunch, an auction was held for the gifts that each club brought. The proceeds will go to Ronald McDonald House for the use of children's health. The auction provided a lot of hilarity for the group, but still provides much good.

Friday evening, Linda had relatives in for supper and to watch the Nebraska girls volleyball game. Needless to say there was a lot of cheering going on.

Early Saturday morning, Linda and LaDonna drove to Lincoln to attend the graduation ceremonies of the Education for Lay Ministry Graduation Class VIII at Crestwood Christian Church. Arlys Dill from the Belvidere UCC, and six other candidates from other churches, completed three years of study and qualified for the service.

It was interesting that they began the service with the song, "You Have Called Me." Following the meditation everyone then sang, "Here I Am Lord." The presentation of the certificates to each candidate was given by Rev. Lisa Sherman and Rev. Katrina Palan blessed them. "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" was a very appropriate song for their going forth.

Following the impressive ceremony, cookies, cake, punch and coffee were served to everyone.

Elaine Davenport, a member of the Belvidere Church, joined us then as we found a good place to watch the football game. Her daughter, Jena Davenport, and her friend, Jeff, joined us so we had a good visit with them.

Kirk and Wanda Yoachim came to spend the weekend at Ruth Yoachim's. They always like to come help with the harvest every year.

As people traveled over the weekend, it was amazing to see all the activity in the fields and even more so to see how much of the harvest has already been accomplished.

From the looks of the gray sky and cool wind today, it doesn't look as if it won't be too long before we see a snow flake or two blowing in the wind.

Courtyard Terrace celebrates Assisted Living Week TC JV Volleyball team competes

Courtyard Terrace Assisted Living in Hebron celebrated National Assisted Living Week, September 13-19. The week brought together residents, families, employees, volunteers and the community to celebrate, "Nourishing Life, Mind, Body and Spirit."

"Assisted Living Week provided the opportunity for Blue Valley Lutheran Homes to celebrate the bond between residents and the professionals who provide the care and services they need," said Nancy Fangmeier, Activities Director at Courtyard Terrace.

The week started off with a family BBQ for residents and their families. "We had a great turnout of loved-ones to celebrate and kick-off the week," said Fangmeier. Later that afternoon the Singing Cowboy, Richard Schmidt, serenaded the group with some classic country songs.

All week long there were special presentations and visitors. Megan Hird, owner of Farmstead Flowers, came in with a variety of fresh cut flowers for residents to make their own bouquets. Everyone at the presentation had a gorgeous bouquet to take back to their apartment. "Megan was so attentive to the residents while they were working," said Fangmeier.

Presentations also included Jessica Shepler from Thaver County Health Services Physical Therapy department, Sandra Tietjen with New Horizons Healthy Lifestyles, an Earth Tones Theremin demonstration by local artist Cindy Chinn, a sing along with Janelle Bruning, and Lucky Stradley, another local artist, with a pottery demonstration.

Special evening entertainment included ventriloquist, Nick Levendofsky, and the 4 S's Music. Residents thoroughly enjoyed each program.

A special project for the week also included the residents making fleece blankets. Thrivent Financial provided the seed money through a grant to purchase the supplies for making and tying fleece blankets. Residents spent time throughout the week working on the blankets and were able to complete nine blankets. Blankets will be given to Lutheran World Relief and sent to individuals who need them. Residents enjoyed the chance to help others across the world.

Also during the week was an employee appreciation luncheon with the residents. Staff members were recognized and thanked for everything they do for the residents.

The week was a fun celebration with the residents and staff enjoyed showing them how special they are to them.

National Assisted Living Week is an annual event sponsored by the National Center for Assisted Living (NCAL) and Nebraska Assisted Living Association (NALA).

Established by NCAL in 1995, National Assisted Living Week provides a unique opportunity for residents, families, staff, volunteers, and the surrounding community to come together to share with the residents in a variety of events and activities which show them how much they are cared about.

Earth Tones Theremin...

Courtvard Terrace resident Ruth Hobbs enjoyed playing the Theremin created by local artist Cindy Chinn.

Thayer Central had their first volleyball match on Thursday, September 3 at Tri-County schools. The C team came home with a victory 25-21, 25-11. Grace Souerdyke served 17 consecutive points in the second set. The JV team faced a very polished Trojan team. The young Titans lost 15-25, 25-18 and 10-15.

The girls first game of the morning was against a more experienced Doniphan team that beat the Titans 21-25, 25-14 and 10-15. "Too many mistakes were made in the final set that led to the loss." The girls fought three tough battles in the loss to Heartland 26-24, 27-29 and 9-15. "The girls had the second set won but let the Huskies get back into the game after leading 24-19. The girls played not to lose instead of playing to win. Volleyball is about momentum and after each point that our opponents scored, the more tense we became. The pressure should have been on the Huskies instead of us. Due to Heartland's comeback in the second set they had the momentum going into the third set and we were never able to regroup. It was a good lesson in that you have to take care of business immediately!"

The C Team record is 3-2. The JV team also lost 19-25, 24-26 in two hard fought sets. Olivia Deepe was top server with 4 points. The JV record is 1-2.
