October snow a tad early

Snow fell in Nebraska Sunday, further hampering the harvest, however, brighter skies were predicted for this week. According to the National Weather Service out of Hastings, the snow was the fifth earliest snow on record for Grand Island the fourth on record for Hastings. Falling snow before Oct. 15 is very rare, NWS reported. Facebook users posted photos on the Hebron Journal-Register's page to show snow cover in Hebron, Hubbell, Bruning, Chester, Alexandria, Deshler, near Carleton, Plymouth, Fairbury and Aurora.

Airport open house yields surprises

There were at least two surprises at the Hebron Municipal Airport Open House and ribbon cutting Oct. 9 — the weather didn't cooperate with cold temperatures, rain and wind, and Marlowe Huber, who was already being honored for serving 24 years on the airport authority, received an admiralship in the Nebraska Navy from Lt. Gov. Mike Foley. "The weather did not cooperate, but we had a really good turnout from the local schools and the public," authority president Bill Linton said. "State officials were very impressed with our airport and how far it's come along."

A committee headed by Deb Craig, who works on airport accounting and other matters, planned the day's activities, which included area students visiting hangars to learn about aviation and airport operations.

Dist. 32 Sen. Laura Ebke, Jared Reimers with Congressman Adrian Smith's office and airport representatives from Beatrice and Fairbury came, along with

Alexandria first for 32-LIFE

Established in 1872, Alexandria was named after founder, Silas Alexander. Located on Highway 53, the history of Alexandria is steeped in the Oregon Trail and Pony Express.

The community had a population of under 200 in the 2016 census, but long time resident, Marge Durflinger notes several families have moved to the area.

Durflinger grew up in Alexandria, served on the village board and keeps tabs on the changes in Alexandria.

The 32-LIFE Campaign, initiated by the Hebron Chamber of Commerce, has chosen Alexandria for recognition during the month of October, as the campaign begins to tackle its nearly year-long list to recognize communities in Thayer County.

The campaign is attempting to pull communities together for a county-wide support system in showcasing the county's assets.

Alexandria's assets are a work in progress. Durflinger said the town will have a new well and upgraded lagoon system, along with an updated water line along the highway.

The water line is tied to the Nebraska Department of Roads construction project for Highway 53 and the town's south bridges. The project was proposed in 2012 and a 2017 fact sheet stated the bridge project is approximately $8.93 million and the highway project's estimated cost is $2.69 million.

The two are separate projects with construction on the bridges to be completed by winter of 2019 and highway construction to follow for completion by the winter of 2020.

Additional news has hit Alexandria with an inquiry for a new business and the revival of the

Mylah Rose celebrates opening

Nicole Schoenholz had customers in the Hebron area and decided a satellite shop might make a good fit.

Her boutique, Mylah Rose, has operated in Geneva for more than a year.

"I ship a lot this way," she said. "I'm here to be an asset."

She means her one-on-one philosophy of assisting shoppers.

Right down to the accessories, Schoenholz takes a few extra steps for the customer.

"Some women will bring in a shirt they already have in their closet and they need something to go with it. You can't do that in a department store," she said.

Schoenholz held her grand opening Oct. 12-13 with ribbon cutting and generous discounts, plus a free gift to the first 20 customers.

Her store carries a wide selection from infants to adults and plus sizes.

She said size 10 and above for women are considered plus size in the fashion industry.

Her children's sizes taper off from eight to 10, and girls from 10 to 16.

"It's a hard size to shop for," she said.

When she is shopping for the store, Schoenholz is conscientious of the current styles being Volume 1, No. 3 of the Bruning Enterprise, the latest addition to the newspapers of Thayer County, has reached us. I. M. Augustine is the editor. It is neat and clean in appearance and its items are well written. We extend a kindly greeting, but cannot offer it encouragement. Thayer county has provided a graveyard to nearly 50 newspaper enterprises. Bruning is much less able to support a paper than Hubbell, and although four or five efforts have been made at the latter place, they have all proved of short duration.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Coleman received a telegram Monday announcing the death at Vandalia of Mrs. Coleman's father, Mr. John C. Deakin, of Monroe, Iowa, in the 80th year of his age. Deceased was one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of his section. He had often expressed the wish that he might live to vote for Harrison and Morton and that he would then be contented to go, but it was not to be. The telegram was not received until the day of burial.

Friday of last week Henry Kerl and Ernest Rippe were in the former's buggy going east in front of H. N. Bartow's residence driving a young horse when C. E. Kerr came up behind them in his automobile which frightened the horse which did some cutting up throwing the occupants from the vehicle and injuring them to some extent. Mr. Kerl was hurt about the head, and Mr. Rippe about the face and was in a pretty bad shape for a few days. Both are now nicely recovering from their experience.

Wm. Bruning had quite a number of chickens stolen the first of the week.

The Bruning Mill is running day and night now as their orders for flour are coming in faster than they can fill them. Herbert Muscheites and Mr. Norwood are the night shift and A. H. Hewitt and C. B. Carter are the day force.

F. D. Kalkwarf purchased four head of fine horses last week and has rented the Bromshagen 160 acre farm southwest of town for next season. Get busy, girls, this is leap year.

Henry Theimer, Geo. Hallman, Fred Philippi, Henry Norder and Earl Bruckert, the boys that were to leave to join Uncle Sam's Army, received word that owing to the serious epidemic it was thought advisable not to call any more boys for the present.

Bruning people were shocked Wednesday morning to hear of the death of Dr. Boyes and Clark Liggit. Dr. Boyes took sick with influenza about a week ago, and died Wednesday morning with a complication of pneumonia. Words cannot express the grief felt by his friends in Bruning for his untimely death, and extend most sincere sympathy to Mrs. Boyes and two sons. Also to Mrs. Liggit and sons.

The people of Bruning responded nicely to the call for Belgian relief clothing, and everything came to the hall in splendid condition. The people are beginning to realize more and more the destitute condition in the war zone, and respond most generously.

The Sandy Creek 4-H Club went to Hebron Saturday to the county achievement day program. Each club in the county gave a number on the program. Those in the Sandy Creek Club receiving prizes at the county fair were: Maxine Busing, sewing bag-fourth; Lena Woltemath, sewing bag-third, dress-fourth; Doris Cory, princess slip-second, clothespin bag-third; Gladys Averill, apron-first, also first on apron at the state fair.

Luther Walls finished digging his record crop of potatoes last week. He informs us that off of four and one-half acres he had a total of 900 bushel. Mr. Walls informs us that he disposed of all the potatoes in this community and Ohio, with the exception of 300 bushels which he is saving to sell as seed potatoes next spring. Nothing wrong with Nebraska.

A crate of partridges was received from the State Game Dept. by the Alexandria Izaak Walton League and released on the game reserve on the Sandy south of Alexandria.

Harry Wilson Jr., wife and son, arrived in Hebron Monday from Cleveland, Ohio. They will spend some time here visiting Mr. Wilson's father. Master Bobbie Wilson, only 8 years old, played a number of selections on his new accordion at the grandstand on picnic day in Hebron. This little fellow is a wonderful musician for his age, having had only six months training on his accordion.

The Natural Gas Co. has established an office in the Hebron Hotel building, first door east of the main entrance.

Dr. McFarland received from his son, Dr. Osmyn McFarland in Louisiana, a registered Brahma heifer. This is a South American breed. The cows have ears set down on the head and a hump on their wither. The animals are tick proof, and many are raised in Louisiana.

Benny F., a 4-year-old horse, owned by F. H. Bruning and L. A. Snyder, equaled the American track record at Dade Park, Don Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson of Hebron, is the groom and trainer of this horse.

By a system of progressive changes in ownership the past two weeks, several different faces will be seen in Hebron business places. From rumors of prices paid, business in Hebron must be good. The Hebron Liquor Store was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. E. Kassebaum by Robt. Stutz, A. J. Nacker and Wilbur Yost. In turn, Mr. Kassebaum took over the Majestic Theatre from Clarence Wright. Mr. Wright's future plans are indefinite. H. B. Braasch sold his Texaco Service Station on West Lincoln to Charles Henning. Mr. Henning is planning on some remodeling to facilitate car service and repair. Mr. Braasch plans to build a super-service station at the east end of Lincoln Avenue. It will be operated in connection with his modern Blue Cabin Camp. This camp has been established for several years. He was in the west Lincoln location almost 20 years. Mandy's Cafe, formerly owned by Wm. Wiedel, was transferred to Doyle McLaughlin and his uncle, Ralph McLaughlin.

Ralph Strube, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gritten, was drowned Sunday in a pond near his parent's home. Their farm is located four and one-half miles south and two east of Hebron.

Al Thompson takes over the management of the Hebron Laundry on Thursday of this week. He and Francis Helget purchased the laundry from Francis Shipman.

A group of volunteer citizens spent last Sunday in Clyde, Kan., assisting in the clean up after their flash flood. There were many new houses that were flooded with two to three feet of muddy water. The business houses were also badly damaged.

The Long Branch Cafe, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stutz, is now in operation. They will have their formal opening Friday afternoon, with free coffee and doughnuts.

Mike helped his team take a third place finish, earning them a berth at the state meet. Pictured to the left of Brandon is Lanae McLaughlin, mother of Bear harrier Chadd McLaughlin.

Dr. Robert Wilson, M.D. of Kingston, Tenn., was scheduled to move to Hebron sometime within the next year. Tied into Dr. Wilson's plans to establish a medical practice in Hebron was a new four-doctor medical clinic which was in the planning stage.

A wrecking crew was changing the corner of Lincoln Ave., and 10th St. It was soon to become a vacant lot as the old mansion that had stood there for nearly a century was being torn down. Known as "The Elder House" because of early owners, the house was purchased by LaVern Poppe and George Graning and they were dismantling it for the salvage.

Davenport homecoming royalty was Julie Groner queen and Bob Crockett king.

Mr. and Mrs. George Voss were celebrating their 63rd wedding anniversary at a party at Blue Valley Lutheran Home.

The Thayer Central Titans traveled to Geneva Thursday to compete at the Southern Nebraska Conference cross country meet at the Hidden Hills Country Club. Senior starter Chase Wiedel led Thayer Central in the boys' race finished third with a time of 16:58.2. Wiedel's time and placement were both personal bests for the runner. Kesston Fink also set personal bests with a run of 17:11 for sixth place.

It took half a football game for the Thayer Central Titans to find their rhythm, but once they did, they out yarded the Sutton Mustangs 197-15 on their way to a 26-0 victory. The first half was marred by Titans miscues that kept the Mustangs in the game. The victory puts the titans at 5-1 for the season.

Construction has begun on a 30,000 square-foot addition which will more than double the size of the Blue Valley Lutheran Homes assisted living facility in Hebron. According to Mark Benjamin, president of BD Construction in Kearney, the project will add two studio and 23 one-bedroom apartments to the existing 16 and create an additional courtyard in the process. The new addition will also feature a main dining room with adjacent commercial kitchen, billiards room, chapel, barber and beauty shop, and a small ice-cream parlor. Included will be a generous lobby and common area and smaller, private dining room for family gatherings. The BVLH addition is expected to be completed by September 2009.

Alexandria

former cafe.

Years ago, the village board took advantage of an opportunity for a property it owned.

"It used to be the Alexandria State Bank. We had an opportunity for a cafe," Durlfingler said.

The cafe closed when Eva Durlfingler retired.

Durlfingler said the property has been purchased and will most likely be a bar/cafe.

She said in general, Alexandria is an accepting community, especially of new families.

"We just had another family come from the Las Vegas area. We have people coming all the time and more than I realized," she said.

In addition to its Catholic and Presbyterian churches, Alexandria is part of the Meridian school system and near the Alexandria State Recreation Area.

She said part of the town's history is the District 10 Schoolhouse near the recreation area.

"It's in Jefferson County and on the National Historic Registry. We still have one building that came from Meridian, the town," Durlfingler said.

A tornado destroyed Meridian, however, the building is used by the American Legion, she said.

On private properties around Alexandria, are still visible ruts from the wagon wheels rolling along on the Oregon Trail.

Durlfingler also recalled the Connor's Park, a recreation area on the Big Sandy that had cabins.

The park was well visited at the turn of the century. Its location was in Alexandria's south park, where the mud volleyball competition was held for the first annual Big Sandy Creek Festival in August.

The festival was organized by Alexandria's community groups and will be held every year, coordinator Vicky Taylor said. Dates for the event next year are Aug. 24-25.

Taylor said the festival will add a road rally and other new activities.

Santa Claus will be in Alexandria soon, thanks to the community club, which sponsors a fun day in July and helps the American Legion with a Halloween event for children.

The Legion sponsors students for Cornhusker Boys and Girls State each year as well.

Assets include the volunteer fire department and rescue service, and storm spotters. There are 21 volunteers on the department with five members serving as certified emergency medical technicians.

The fire department hosts a pancake brunch in the spring, takes Santa to see people unable to leave their homes and conducts a blood pressure screening several times a year.

National Breast Cancer Awareness Month

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Breast cancer remains the second leading cause of cancer death among women after lung cancer. Thayer County Health Services is now offering 3D mammograms for their patients. The benefit of 3D technology is its capability of producing more detailed images of breast tissue than with a traditional 2D mammography.

Traditional mammography produced just two images of each breast, a side-to-side view and a top-to-bottom view. 3D mammography produces many X-ray images of the breasts from multiple angles to create a digital 3-dimensional rendering of internal breast tissue. This allows radiologists to view the breast in 1-millimeter 'slices' rather than just the full thickness from the top and from the side. The radiologist is then able to review reconstruction, one slide at a time, almost like turning pages in a book.

Research suggests that radiologists are able to more accurately interpret results from 3D mammography in dense breast tissue, which can lead to fewer false-positive and false-negative readings. This means less anxiety induced call backs for patients.

Besides annual mammograms, all women are urged to reduce their breast cancer risk factors. Being a woman and getting older are the two main, non-modifiable risk factors for breast cancer. Others factors such as family history, personal history, no pregnancies, first pregnancy later in life, beginning menstrual periods before age 12 or menopause after age 55, obesity, heavy alcohol intake and use of some types of hormone therapy, increase a woman's risk.

Breast cancer starts when cells in the breast begin to grow out of control. These cells usually form a tumor that cannot often be seen on an x-ray or felt as a lump. The tumor is malignant (cancerous) if the cells can grow into the surrounding tissues or spread (metastasize) to distant areas of the body. Breast cancer occurs almost entirely in women, but men can get it, too.

It's also important to understand that most breast lumps are not cancer, they are benign. Benign breast tumors are abnormal growths, but they do not spread outside of the breast and they are not life threatening. But some benign breast lumps can increase a woman's risk of getting breast cancer in the future. Any breast lump or change needs to be checked by a health care provider to determine whether it is benign or cancer.

Women need to also take family history into account. Roughly 20 percent of women with breast cancer have close relatives: a sibling, parent, or grandparent who has had the disease. Women with a strong family history should talk to their doctor about other ways to reduce their risk.

The sad fact is that even women, who've done everything right, may still develop breast cancer. That is why having 3D mammography available locally is so important. This new technology will help detect breast cancer even earlier than with the traditional 2D mammography. Early detection is vital in winning the fight against breast cancer. To schedule your 3D mammography exam, call Thayer County Health Services' imaging center at 402-768-4645.

Thayer County Clerk Marie Rauner accepts a $14,583 dividend from Larry Cerny, a board member of the Nebraska Intergovernmental Risk Management Association as part of the county's ongoing loss prevention efforts.

County receives check from NIRMA

Thayer County has received another membership dividend, this time in the amount of $14,583, from the Nebraska Intergovernmental Risk Management Association (NIRMA), the county's property, liability and workers' compensation coverage and risk management services provider.

The dividend was part of a $1 million distribution shared with 80 Nebraska counties and six regional area agencies on aging during NIRMA's annual membership conference Oct. 4-5 in Kearney.

With this latest distribution, Thayer County has now received a total of $342,356 in dividends since becoming a member of NIRMA in 1988.

The association is able to issue these dividends, in part, due to favorable claims development, investment income earned on behalf of its membership, as well as the members' ongoing loss prevention efforts.

It is owned and governed by the 82 member counties and 15 county-associated public entities it serves.

This marks the 31st time since 1991 and the 23rd consecutive year the program has been able to return funds, now totaling $21 million, to its members and ultimately their local property taxpayers.

The association was created by 32 counties in 1988 as the state's first governmental risk management and self-insurance program, and for 30 years has provided affordable insurance coverages and comprehensive risk management and loss prevention services to Nebraska counties and related public agencies.

Edna Pohlmann

Edna Emma Doretha (Beckmann) Pohlmann was born on November 19, 1921 in Thayer County, NE. She was the eldest child of Richard and Anna (Tietjen) Beckmann. She passed away on September 27, 2018 in Smith Center at the age of 96.

She was baptized on November 27, 1921 by Rev. G. Schultz at St. John Lutheran Church of Byron, NE. In 1928 the family moved to Smith County, KS. She attended public school at Diamond Ridge through 8th grade. Edna was confirmed at the age of 13 by Rev. A.C. Fleischmann at St. John Lutheran Church, rural Athol, KS. Her confirmation Bible verse was Psalms 143:10, "Help me to do your will, for you are my God. Lead me in good paths, for your spirit is good."

Following grade school, she worked for several families and businesses in the area. She also helped her grandparents in Nebraska and it was here that she met her future husband, Roland Pohlmann. They were united in marriage on May 19, 1948 in the St. John Lutheran Church, Athol, KS. Together they made a home near Deshler, NE before moving to a farm south of Athol, KS. Their union was blessed with one daughter, Susan. In 1977 they moved to Smith Center and continued to farm until their retirement in 1988.

Edna helped Roland with his farm work. She enjoyed gardening, canning and had a great love for her flowers. She shared her flowers with her church and friends. She was active in church and helped with the sewing and quilting of L.W.R. blankets. Other hobbies were crocheting and making many of her own quilts and baby crib quilts. She also enjoyed sewing clothes for herself and Susan. She and Susan had many matching mother/daughter Sunday dresses when Susan was a child.

Edna was preceded in death by her parents Richard and Anna Beckmann, her husband Roland; sisters at Thayer County Health Services in Hebron at the age of 86 years.

Joe, the youngest of four children, grew up in the Hubbell area attending Union grade school and graduating from Hebron High School with the class of 1950. Upon graduation he attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Joe worked in construction in Colorado for a few years before returning to Thayer County in 1957 to farm near Hubbell with his dad, and brother, Jim.

Joe Posey's Lessons and Memories

One often hears and says that the time or hour of death cannot be forecast. We often say this with the thinking that hour as being in the distant future. We never imagined we would hurt so much and only withhold the lessons and memories of you.

Yes, it came upon soon. He did his very bet to prepare us for his passing, although it still came as a shock and still remains a bit unreal.

We want all to know you are dearly loved and will be missed for days, months and years to come. Joe Posey fulfilled the meaning of the word "family" on February 29, 1980, the day he married our mother Ian "Sue" Cox. He honorably accepted and exceeded the responsibilities of a husband, father, grandfather and friend.

We will always feel beholden to Joe for the uncountable amount of life lessons he taught us, in which we will share for generations to come.

Through Joe's affection we understood the true meaning of "Love" and believed for seeing with our own eyes how "true love" is meant to be. The question, "What's for dinner?" nor the statement "That's gross, I am not eating that." was never heard in his home, instead he adopted the motto "Eat it up, Wear it out, Make it do, or do without."

Joe's vigorous personality left no one with the feeling of being "bored," but rather looking forward to an afternoon nap.

With his intelligence and witiness there was never a problem and/or an issue unsolved. As he is standing there with the "I told you so" look on his face asking "Why are you so muddy? I stand there with mud up to my waist; Joe my vehicle is stuck on the gravel road. He chuckles, reaches for his tractor keys, and replies "let's go get it."

He most certainly looked forward to an enjoyed socializing with local farmers in town over a cold beer. Do not attempt to make him late for "Beer thirty" or you would be left behind. We must not forget his optimistic outlook on life and his advice on remembering the circle of control. "Oh, don't worry about all that Mickey Mouse stuff; there are bigger problems to fill your mind with."

The everlasting impact he has made to us alone is indescribable. I feel the most important thing overall he has taught us, that we will share with you. Life is short, so enjoy every moment to the fullest. So, from this day forward always remember to "Stop and smell the rose along the way."

We loved you then, we love you now, and we will always love you!

Hebron Women's Club met October 15

The Hebron Women's Achievement Club met Oct. 15 at Faith Lutheran Church. Nine members were present.

Elaine O'Neal reported that the Nativity scene pieces were weather-beaten and were being repainted. They will be finished by the time we set them up on the south side of the courthouse.

Club members will again judge costumes for the Lions Club Halloween parade. Parade entrants will line up near the Majestic Theatre by 5:15 p.m.

Plans were made for club members to decorate Roosevelt Park for Christmas on Nov. 3. We will begin decorating at noon.

It was announced that a community sing-along is set for Dec. 2 while the Courthouse lights and the lights illuminating the Nativity scene are turned on. After the lights are turned on, the singing group will move to the Presbyterian Church.

December 18 is the date for the club's Christmas meeting. It will be held at Tammy Burd's house at 6 p.m. A covered dish meal is planned, followed by the meeting. Members are each bringing a homemade gift. In the spirit of the season, each member will take a gift to Blue Valley Community Action prior to the evening the BVCA clients shop for Christmas gifts.

Back in 2003, Hebron Bible Church was just beginning after a Bible study that had been meeting in the back of Matt's Body Shop decided to plant a church. Now 15 years later, their new remodeled sanctuary is finished and was used for worship for the first time this past Sunday, the 14th.

Since moving the church to the old fitness 2 years ago, the rooms that are now the sanctuary were used for Sunday school classes and game rooms for youth group. The two rooms are now combined and redecorated into a beautiful new sanctuary.

"It's exciting to see a finished product. It is more exciting to see the relationships that were forged and strengthened through the process of remodeling a space for worship," said Pastor Jeff Friesen. "I am thankful for the leadership that our building committee showed and all of the love that was put into the project. I trust that the Lord will use this facility to better minister to Thayer County as we move forward."

Planning for the remodel began about a year ago, but the actual work on the project started the first weekend of May. Five months later, the congregation of Hebron Bible is celebrating a new space and looking forward to more blessings to come.

Unleashing our abundant local assets

Jeff Yost, President and CEO
Nebraska Community Foundation

At Nebraska Community Foundation we have collection of phrases we call "Words to Live By." The sayings are reminders and reinforcements of our culture.

One of my favorite phrases is a poignant expression of the confidence we have in the future of Greater Nebraska - "Everything we need is right where we are!"

Nebraska is a state of abundance, with great schools, thriving businesses, low unemployment, and according to the most recent UNL rural poll, increasing optimism among our citizens. We take many of our advantages for granted. Perhaps our most under-appreciated asset is our capacity to produce food.

We are situated in arguably the most fertile landscape atop the largest underground aquifer in the world! So, it boggles the mind to think that most of the food we serve our children is processed, packaged and shipped from places hundreds of miles away from our child's place at the table.

Thankfully, there is a growing trend among people of all ages to think globally and act locally when it comes to producing nutritious meals for children, supporting local agriculture, and using what is readily available to "make what we need."

Many school districts in Nebraska now have "beef in the school" programs, whereby local producers donate livestock for processing and preparing high-protein lunches. Nebraska Community Foundation partners with a number of our affiliated funds to encourage this growing movement.

One very successful program has been in place for several years at Thayer Central Public Schools in Hebron. The Hebron Community Foundation Fund has an account for the specific purpose of accepting gifts of livestock, which provides donors a tax benefit, along with financial contributions to cover the costs of processing the meat. In just over three years, 32 head of cattle have been committed to the program, which serves about 450 K-12 kids. The money saved by not having to buy meat for 40 percent of their school days enabled Thayer Central to purchase furniture and complete remodeling projects.

The school also has a greenhouse and grow towers, and there are plans to expand the program by getting the FFA class involved in working with orchard trees, honey bees and poultry. Superintendent Drew Harris says that at least 50 schools have contacted him and are seriously exploring programs of their own.

And why not? In Nebraska, agriculture should represent more than just commodity production. It should be (and is) occupying a prominent position in our schools' STEM curriculum.

Fortunately, this is happening in lots of places, including Arnold, another NCF affiliated fund community. Charitable dollars have purchased aeroponic tower gardens. Students of all ages care for vegetables grown in chambers that contain only water and fertilizer. They do everything from maintaining pH and nutrient levels to planting and harvesting cucumbers, squash, green beans and more for school lunches. Arnold Community Fund also has a "beef booster" account through which livestock and cash are donated to supplement the school's meals.

The Shickley Community Foundation Fund provided significant support for its school's new fully equipped greenhouse. Teachers say that having a hands-on experience to teach biological concepts not only increases deeper understanding, it enables students to see another side of the agriculture industry. Similar programs and facilities are in place in O'Neill and Elgin.

But "growing our own" is not just for kids!

Late last month, Nebraska's only zip code beer - "68713" - was on tap for the first time at Brush Creek Brewing Company in Atkinson. The barley, the hops and all the ingredients needed for production come from the zip code area the beer is named after.

The debut was a fitting component to Atkinson's first annual Harvest Festival. All proceeds collected during a day of celebration in the town and at the brewpub went for the purpose of putting the Atkinson Community Foundation Fund over the top in its challenge grant campaign.

Their success will result in a $300,000 addition to the community's unrestricted endowment that will, forever, help to ensure that in the community of Atkinson, everything they need is right where they are.

Nebraska Federated Women's Club holds convention in Belvidere

The General Federation of Women's Clubs have been active for a long time in Thayer County. In a 1934 article from the Hebron Journal it told of even having County Conventions. The Belvidere Club just hosted the District convention which includes several counties. In this former article it told of 150 women attending the County Convention in Alexandria. Now there is just a district convention and a state convention. The current State Convention would never have that many come. So what has happened? Why has the numbers got less. It is still a worldwide organization that does many good community services. Is it because many more women are working?

Families are too involved in many activities! It does take time, interest and involvement.

It is a very important organization doing many good things even on the national level.

Anyway, Thayer County used to have a Club in about every town. Today, Belvidere stands alone in the county as being the only Federated Club. Bruning had to disband.

This year as they were presented a certificate at the convention in Belvidere. They had a club for close to 95 years. Belvidere celebrated their 90th anniversary last year. As for members, Jackie Williamson, LaDonna Avers, and Linda Hudson have been members for 60 years. Mary Bruning has been a member of the Bruning Club for years and will continue to belong to Belvidere. Olive VanDeWalle has also transferred to the Belvidere Club. As for our members it has been a lifetime of commitment.

For some its the fourth generation of members families that have been a part of the club. The various projects the Club has done are too numerous to list. A frightful thought would be of not having a club. Down through the years the club has contributed so much in September 29- The last Sunday of the month and the Museum's Fall Festival was scheduled. RAIN came in the morning and a little off and on all day! A little miserable!

October 7 - Next Sunday. A very rainy day! Rained all day. Much worse day than The Museum Day

October 14 -The snow kept coming. The ground was covered with at least 5 inches of snow or more depending where you were.

Take your pick! Which one would you prefer? We just thought we were abused the first Sunday. Little did we know it was a perfect day compared to the following two weeks. One way to think, it can always be worse! As proved to us last Sunday!

The snowstorm coming on Sunday cheated the entire school population because being at school cheated the teachers and students from sharing the first snowflakes of the season come drifting down from the sky! That first experience is something to behold. This time most of us were tucked in our warm beds not experiencing any excitement until we got up and looked out the window. Wow! What a surprise! This early in the season. The leaves still being on the trees made for branches hanging low.

It was a wet snow so kids did have the enjoyment of making a snowman! It made everyone start thinking Christmas! Hey, wait a minute, we still got two holidays yet!

Halloween and Thanksgiving next Sunday is promised to be better! Guess we will play the game of Wait and See! The average first snow usually comes between November 12th and 17th. The weekend was not only bad weather wise but also both the Husker football and volleyball met making a better world. Some of the president's projects for the coming year are Canine companions, Make a Wish Foundation, YRTC, and Thankful Tuesday.

The State President's theme is "Volunteers leave Footprints!"

The "Rockin'" theme was incorporated in all aspects. Decorated rocks were on the table for all the guests to take home. Dishes of chocolates looking like rocks were placed on the tables along with flower centerpieces which had been purchased from

The Cattlemen's Ball in June. A large vase filled with rocks was placed so visitors had the opportunity to make a guess as to the number of rocks placed in it.

After the meal, "Rocky Road" ice cream was served as dessert.

Jean Kolterman gave the thought for the day. Other state representatives were Kathy Huggins, Director of Junior Women's Club, Karen Crandall of Papillion, Kim Fisher, GFWC Second Vice President. Indeed the District IV club members were rockin' in Thayer County last week!

She also presented the entertainment by singing a medley of songs using the word "Rock!". This pertained to the theme of District's IV Convention theme NFWC convention (Nebraska Federated Women's Club). Songs she entertained the group were "Rock Around the Clock" "We Will, We Will ROCK- the Belvidere Club Women acted as the chorus for this song! year. Just hoping our neighbors remember how our representative voted. I can't imagine not having health insurance and not being able to afford it. There have been several pleas of parents that have sick children and need it. It would be a plus for our local rural hospitals which struggle to stay alive. Feeling it in the heart means more than feeling the money in the bank. They actually say it could mean a boost to the economy. It certainly would be a boost to the minds of 90,000

Nebraskans who can't afford insurance but yet do not meet the guidelines of getting help.

Birthday came on a snowy Sunday! How fortunate I am to have so many friends!

Not another big one for ten years! Just let me keep calling you a friend for another decade! Just wish I wasn't on the down hill side!

Funding available for brush removal and pasture infrastructure

Producers in south-central and southeastern Nebraska now can apply for funding to help improve grasslands for grazing and wildlife.

Cost-share of up to 75 percent is available to install management practices. Management practices eligible for financial assistance include: brush management, payment for grazing management, resting rangeland, prescribed fire, fencing and watering facilities for livestock, converting cropland to grassland bird habitat, and more.

Through the Grassland Bird Initiative, the U.S. Department of Agriculture Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) provides financial and technical assistance to farmers and ranchers to improve habitat for grassland birds such as northern bobwhite quail and greater prairie-chicken. Eligible lands include cropland, rangeland, pastureland and odd areas.

This project is a partnership among the Nebraska

Game and Parks Commission, NRCS, Pheasants Forever, Audubon Nebraska, and other entities through the Regional Conservation Partnership Program (RCPP).

The Grassland Bird Initiative will provide RCPP funding to 15 counties through the NRCS Environmental Quality Incentives Program.

Producers in the Grassland Bird Initiative area may apply for RCPP funding by visiting an NRCS office in the Initiative area. The Grassland Bird Initiative area encompasses the following counties: Franklin, Furnas, Gage, Harlan, Jefferson, Johnson, Lancaster, Nemaha, Nuckolls, Otoe, Pawnee, Richardson, Saline, Thayer and Webster.

For more information about the RCPP or to find an NRCS office, visit: nrcs.usda.gov/wps/portal/nrcs/site/ne/home.

Airport...

members of Huber's family. Ray Mieth, nicknamed "Mr. Airport" was there with his two sons.

"Ray was involved from way back. He was definitely the Marlowe before Marlowe," Pat Kenner said.

Mieth bought and sold aircraft, and could also be found sweeping and emptying trash at the airport, according to Huber.

"He was very influential on things at the airport," Huber said.

Doug Huber said most likely, Mieth was instrumental in paving the runway and constructing a new building. Before cement, the airport had three grass runways.

Fast forward and the airport ribbon cutting signified a completed makeover for the taxiways and a new fuel system via grants.

The fuel system was a goal for authority board members, who were called to the airport to refuel planes.

"Planes from outside our community would have to call a board member to come out and fuel the plane, and they would obtain payment at that time," Linton told guests at the open house. "As debit and credit cards became more important to visitors to our airport, the need for credit card pumps became apparent."

Linton, who has served the authority for 10 years, has been flying for 40 years and is a member of the Blue Valley Flying Club.

The second project at the airport was removing the broken and cracked concrete, and asphalt from the taxiways and apron adjacent to the hangars and leading to the runway.

The grants awarded for the projects were $280,000 and $509,000, respectively.

Linton said the next project will focus on the airport beacon, which is the oldest feature of the airport.

"We want to replace some old hangars and continue upgrading as much as we can," Linton said.

Authority vice president Jay Huhman said the board has done a lot of work in the last four years. Migration toward the airport has picked up in a short time, and the fuel system will attract even more pilots.

The airport is handling more business in the hangars. Aerial sprayers and even a counseling office, OZSome Possibilities, are located at the airport. RotorWings Aviation was a landing spot for students on the day of the open house.

Cory Clark, the authority's secretary said people like Huber are good assets.

"It's a lot of knowledge us newer guys are picking up to use down the road. I really hate to see him go," he said.

Huber was tickled to see all his family at the open house, Linton said.

"It was a nice day for Marlowe. It's good that we had the opportunity to recognize him. He served the board very well," Huhman said.

"It went tremendously well," Huber said of the open house.

"It's one of the nicest airports around. I think it's something to be proud of," authority board member, Joe Hergott said.

Marlowe Huber, who served for 24 years on the Hebron Airport Authority, prepares to snip the ribbon for an open house in celebration of the airport's accomplishments, a new fuel system that accepts credit cards and the taxiways and apron project. Sen. Laura Ebke and Lt. Gov. Mike Foley were invited to the event with Foley awarding Huber an Admiralship in the Great Navy of the State of Nebraska.

Marlowe Huber was joined by his family at the Hebron Municipal Airport Open House in recognition of his 24 years of serving the airport authority. Huber also received a Admiralship in the Great Navy of the State of Nebraska from Lt. Gov. Mike Foley. worn in Nebraska, which is typically behind fashions on the coasts by one to three years. She buys versatile pieces and loves to layer clothing.

Mylah Rose, named after Schoenholz's daughter, carries dresses and graphic T-shirts that aren't for sports and may be worn to a variety of events, and T-shirts for area school athletic events.

"I have lots of layering pieces and I tie everything up," she said as she moved through her store. "Right now, the style is flowy and the tie adds some shape to people. I'm also a texture person and I buy soft fabrics," she said.

The store also features children's toys and books, gifts, jewelry and accessories for girls.

"Children's books are a big seller," she said.

The stores in Geneva and Hebron aren't exactly alike, she said.

"Geneva is larger and has more selection. I won't carry the same clothes in each store because I don't want people wearing the same things," Schoenholz said.

Hours for the store are

Tuesdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. She'll add more hours as the support for the boutique grows. She constantly updates the Mylah Rose Facebook page on current events and sales.

The Geneva location is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and on Saturday, the store is open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Schoenholz lives with her family in Bruning. She and her husband have four children, including a set of twins.

Surrounded by family, friends and the Hebron Chamber of Commerce, Nicole Schoenholz prepares to cut the ribbon to Mylah Rose Boutique, her satellite store in Hebron. Schoenholz held an open house Oct. 12.

Ladies Club spruces up Chester

The Chester Ladies Evening Out Club recently added fall decorations to the city park in downtown Chester. It's one of many projects the community-focused group has worked on. Each year, LEO organizes an Easter Egg Hunt in the North Park. Additional activities include planters along the downtown sidewalk, which they maintain, and a soup dinner and poinsettia plants to the elderly during the Christmas season. This past summer, LEO prepared and served the BRAN (Bicycle Ride Across Nebraska) riders a lunch as a fundraiser and service to the riders, and then operated the concession stand at Chesterfest. Thrivent Financial provides the LEO's seed money. President of the club is Marilyn Dillingham; vice president is Velda Graff; secretary, Lori Heitmann; treasurer, Melissa Kuhlmann; social secretary, Cindy Tipton; and members are Joleen Dutton, Cheryl Fintel, Artie Gunn, Judy Kuhlman, Kari Betten, Glenda Minnig, Cindy Poppe, Sue Porter, Karen Vorderstrasse, Karol Wassom and Dawn Wit.
