Football contest results

There was a four-way tie for the $150 grand prize, however, Dale Bleich guessed all of the games correctly and was the closest to the point spread with 14 and won the annual contest.

Those also having perfect entries were Craig Degenhardt, who placed first on the point spread; Max Mumford placed second; and Dale Klaumann was third.

Deshler takes next step in charitable gaming

The Deshler City Council was expected to take the next step in the charitable gaming process at its Sept. 5 meeting after a special mail-in election in August on Keno passed in a vote of 166-44.

The city and owner Steve Moore of Fourth Street Tavern will enter into an agreement with Moore being the official lottery operator, who will oversee daily Keno operations, including hiring and training the lottery worker or workers at the tavern.

Mayor Naomi Grupe was surprised local voters approved the game. In the November election, voters threw out LB840, which allows a municipality to use a portion of sales tax for economic development.

Relatives sought for honored officer

Two American flags will fly in honor of Hebron native, Virgil Hall, Sept. 11. Mike Hesse, president of the Denver Police Museum is arranging the tribute to Hall, a Denver police officer who was killed July 5, 1945.

One of the flags will fly in Denver and the other over the US Capitol building in Washington D.C. Hesse is on the lookout for relatives of Hall's who might still be living in the Hebron area. He would like to present a flag to the family.

Hall was born in Hebron Aug. 16, 1909, according to an account of the shooting written by Bill Finch in 2016. The record saw Hall moving to Denver in 1936 and marrying Mary Yarde of Garrett, Ind., three years later.

Prior to working as a police officer, Hall drove a fuel truck for Gates Rubber Company. He became a police officer April 21, 1942, in a class of 13.

At 1:10 a.m., July 4, 1945, Hall and his partner, Robert LaVernway, were patrolling when LaVernway spotted a possible stolen vehicle. Indeed, the vehicle, a 1940 black Ford sedan had been broadcasted as stolen. As Lavernway shined the spotlight on the two individuals in the sedan, they ducked and sped away.

Early in the chase, Hall unsuccessfully fired a round at the car's tires. Seconds later, the chase ended as the driver crashed into a warehouse door. The driver and

Nursing career sees many changes

By Nancy McGill

In her 50 years of nursing, Roseann Wehrbein witnessed health care transition to pro-health care.

"Everything is pro-health. The field is focused on prevention - exercise, teaching - people are learning prevention," she said, noting she thinks fewer people smoke than in the past.

Wehrbein is a registered nurse for Heartland Home Health at Thayer County Health Services, where she has worked for 20 years.

She started her career path as a nursing assistant at Bergan Mercy Hospital in Omaha and then went to the Lincoln School of Practical Nursing, now Southeast Community College, to earn her licensed practical nursing degree. Wehrbein worked as a pediatric nurse and went back to school in the 1990's, passing the state boards to become a registered nurse.

She was an RN for Blue Valley Lutheran Homes before Courtyard Terrace and worked for the Women's Infants and Children program that stretched across multiple counties.

Wehrbein also taught Lamaze and certified nursing assistant classes.

Joy and Eldon Wolfe, deployed for two weeks in Texas via the American Red Cross, posed for a photo with hurricane victims in Port Arthur, Texas. Most of the businesses in the community are closed and even the garbage trucks were flooded, Joy Wolfe reported.

Wolfe deployed to Texas

Joy and Eldon Wolfe were tossed around a bit before they settled in Port Arthur, Texas, at a shelter in the aftermath of Hurricane Harvey.

They were first sent to Austin, Texas, to volunteer for the American Red Cross at a convention center turned shelter. But the shelter could only be used for five days, so the Wolfes went to Houston, where Joy said there was an influx of new volunteers.

"We finally went to Beaumont, where there was major flooding and from there, Port Arthur," she said.

She and Eldon are working with the elderly and families.

"We just got a family of six in last night and another family of two," Joy said.

While she and Eldon are providing information and items people need, they are also listening.

"There are a lot of stories and lot of tears," she said. "They have to tell the whole thing, the boats coming to rescue them and the water getting higher and higher in their homes."

Joy said a lot of people are elderly and it seems as if they don't have family to help them.

Staffing the shelter is the National Guard, police officers, emergency medical technicians and volunteers, who could be anyone, including the victims themselves.

"We have clients that sign up to volunteer," Joy said. "A lot of them are just teenagers."

She noted people were adapting well and helping each other. The EMT's keep children busy with games and a team of mental health workers come through and work with clients and volunteers, who are also affected by Harvey.

"Everyone wants to help everyone," she said, although hurricane victims are living day-to-day and have uncertain futures.

Joy said there are many who rent and believe they have to wait until their homes are repaired.

"They don't have to move back. I don't think they realize that," she said.

School hasn't started yet and triage has been set up for medical needs. People are treated on site and don't have to leave, except for surgeries.

For the first time, families were able to shower after days as the shelter just received a portable shower. The women shower during the odd hours of the day — the men take the even hours.

Joy and Eldon are on their first official deployment from Hebron. Eldon has never been a Red Cross volunteer and took the class when it was offered at the Thayer County courthouse. Joy used to volunteer, and said she is starting over. They will be home next week.

130 Years Ago

Monday evening, the Christian Church was filled to witness an entertainment given by Miss Ella Rudd, of this place, a graduate and teacher in the Deaf and Dumb Institute, Omaha. The audience was much pleased with the graceful and appropriate interpretations in sign language given by Miss Rudd.

Our readers will remember the article in these columns two weeks ago, giving a partial account of the severe injury sustained by our townsman, W. R. Livesay. The account given was as then understood—Mr. Livesay went to the Hendershot slaughter house the morning of Aug. 4 and in cutting a rope with a skinning knife, the knife slipped, cutting a gash about four inches in length, on the inside of the left leg about three inches below the groin. Being alone he made an effort to go home but soon became so weak from loss of blood that he could not stand. He lay upon his right side and dragged himself to the railroad track by the time the northbound train passed, was seen by the conductor, who, instead of stopping the train, went on to Belvidere and telegraphed back to Agent Hayes that there was a dead man by the track near Hebron. A boy was sent to find him, who, at the second attempt found him just as he had succeeded in getting upon the grade, fully two hours after the accident. Help was called and he was taken home and Drs. Sutherland and Easton called, who proceeded to an examination and dressed the wound. He had been recovering as fast as possible up to the night of the 18th, being unusually cheerful during the evening. Mrs. Livesay retired as usual in an adjoining room, but awakened about 3 o'clock in the morning and found her husband at death's door from the effects of a severe hemorrhage, he being so far gone as not to recognize her. She called help and sent for Dr. Sutherland who upon examining the wound found that the bleeding had stopped, the wound being filled with clotted blood. It is supposed movement of the muscles may have caused the bleeding. Little hope was entertained of his recovery from that time on, and at 10 minutes past three in the afternoon he died. This is a severe blow for his bereaved wife and two little girls.

Alexandria Axioms, by Tattle Tale: G. W. Clawson of Ellsworth, Kan., was a welcome caller this week. He and C. F. McGrew contemplate starting a bank at Lushon some time in the near future... Henry Champlain was called to Fairbury, Ill., by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his mother; he started immediately, but did not reach there until after the funeral procession had left the house.

From Hosier Row: W. T. Bates and wife and Orlando Bates and wife and Miss Laura Yinrick made an excursion to the Blue on Friday of last week and came back laden with grapes, enough grapes for several families, but the fish, oh, where are they?

The attention of the commissioners and road supervisors is called to the bad condition of many of the public roads and bridges. While going to Carleton with his oil wagon last week, W. R. Talbot went through two bridges and as a result has a horse laid up for repairs. We hear similarly complaints from various parts of the county. If the commissioners do not look into this matter, they will have a damage case on their hands.

Carleton: W. W. Lichty has a druggist permit to sell whiskey for medicinal purposes. His register shows that a great many people in Carleton are ailing... U. C. Miller threshed 2150 bushels of wheat raised on 68 acres of ground.

Byron: An immense amount of grain is now coming in and the farmers are beginning to realize a slight return of prosperity... The youngest child of Harmon Hayes has been very low for the past week and at present is not much better... J. O. Sanford's baby died last Friday of cholera infantum and was buried Sunday.

We have always doubted the piety of the man who leaves his horse in the sun and rain with an overhead checkrein while himself singing and praying in a well ventilated church with cushioned pews. --From the Carleton Leader

Davenport: The patrons of school dist. 48 have voted to build a new schoolhouse this fall... Last Saturday while driving J. A. Bogg's team, the tongue dropped and ran into the ground, throwing Herb Welch out and braking his leg just above the ankle.

Belvidere: H. C. McKee, of Creston, Iowa, has been in Belvidere several days, returning home last Tuesday. This is the gentleman who traded for J. Black's farm southeast of town, and also his house and lot just east of the Christian Church.

Byron: After 35 years on the old homestead, Uncle Jim Smith and his good wife decided to move to town.

Liberty Ridge: Mr. Morey shelled corn Wednesday for Will Miller. He runs his sheller with a steam engine.

Pleasant Mound: Mr. Jake Flower joined the militia in Belvidere and the militia is known in Lincoln for encampment.

Belvidere: It may be of interest to parties residing outside of our school district who have children they desire to attend this school that unless their tuition is kept paid one month in advance, their children will be refused admittance to our schools. Get your receipt from the district treasurer and thus avoid trouble.

Davenport: Two automobiles have been brought into Davenport this week. J. H. Eberman purchased a two-seated car belonging to Henry Wearin of Carleton, and Dr. Snowden purchased a new physician's single seat auto. Both are elegant machines of the Cadillac make.

Miss Ambel S. Heller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Heller of Hebron, was married at Idaho Falls, Idaho, on June 26, to Mr. Cloyd LeRoy Iden of Rigby, Idaho, at the Presbyterian Church, the bride's pastor, the Methodist minister, being out of town.

The Hebron golf club won permanent possession of the Jay-Husker golf trophy by placing both finalists in the annual tournament here Tuesday. L. E. Thomas and W. H. Roselius will meet in the finals, and since both represent the Hebron club, it will be the third time Hebron has won the Jay-Husker tourney.

Everybody and his cousins and his uncles and his aunts came to the M.W.A. picnic last Friday. The deluge the night before instead of ruining the celebration, increased the crowd, for farmers "couldn't do anything but come to town." There was something doing every minute. The person who couldn't find amusement and entertainment, ought to be buried--and he will be, some day, too! The parade was beautiful and elicited applause all along the line.

The most successful fair in the history of Thayer County closed Friday with an estimated attendance of 20,000. Three hundred and twenty-five head of hogs, representing eight breeds were shown and one hundred and twenty-five head of cattle, selections from seven breeds were shown. The boys and girls clubs showed baby beeves and dairy heifers, poultry, cooking and clothing. Forty little girls took part in a style show. The education exhibit was up to the usual high standard, as was the agricultural exhibit and the fancy work in the woman's department. --Deshler Rustler

A very large crowd of friends, including many from various parts of the county, gathered to pay solemn respects to the late Thomas Lahners last Friday afternoon. Funeral services were held at the residence and at the Lutheran Church in Bruning. The floral tributes were beautiful and numerous. After the death of Thos. Lahners, his son, Oltman, found in a drawer at the residence the following life history in Mr. Lahners' own writing, and a memoranda to "Please hand to the Hebron Journal." The life history then follows, which is quite lengthy. Mr. Lahners served as senator from Thayer County in the Nebraska Legislature for several years and introduced the first good roads dragging bill, which brought about the movement for good roads in Nebraska. He was also

Perhaps some of the farmers of Thayer County would be interested in learning that the War Department has returned an unfavorable report on the preliminary examination of the Blue River watershed with a view to control of floods. The reason given by the department upon its adverse conclusion is that the benefits to be derived from flood control construction do not justify the expenditure necessary in building the same.

(The Bruning Banner) Vernon Branzon, who farms southwest of here, is telling about the electrical storm which could have burned down his home early last Thursday morning. The storm, which was accompanied by .31 of an inch of rain here in town, produced some wild lightning. A bolt struck a pole in front of Vernon's house and followed the wire to the building. The telephone was knocked out and the lightning went down the ground wire. It hit a propane pipe and punctured it, causing sparks and flames to jump three feet in the air. Vernon turned off the gas and the first died out. If he hadn't been able to see this incident, it could have left him burned out. As it was he had to call servicemen the next day for all of his utilities.

If you've driven west along Highway 136 at all this summer, you've no doubt noticed the Rockies Express pipeline construction as it meanders its way across Thayer County. Soon, the only visible site acknowledgment of the pipeline will be a 125-foot wide swath of dirt jutting through corn, soy beans, wheat and grazing fields. In Thayer County, the swath starts at the southernmost edge of the Jefferson/Thayer County line, angling one mile south of Hebron, and exiting two miles north of Highway 136 at the Nuckolls/Thayer County line on the western edge.

Ohiowa man sentenced for drugs

An Ohioa man will spend three to five years in prison for selling drugs in Fillmore County.

Lyle S. Lee, 54, of Ohioa, was sentenced by Fillmore County District Court Judge Vicky Johnson to not less than three years nor more than five years with the Nebraska Department of Corrections for the Class 2 felony charge of Unlawful distribution of an exceptionally hazardous drug.

Lee was given credit for seven days time served and his court costs of $227.22 were deemed satisfied.

At his Aug. 15 sentencing, Johnson noted the pre-sentence investigation indicated Lee had numerous convictions from 1978 through 1989 including 11 misdemeanors, 10 infractions and one felony.

In an earlier plea agreement, Lee pleaded guilty to the charge, which stems from the sale of methamphetamine to a confidential informant on Main street in Strang in January of this year.

"He and his wife are selling methamphetamine in this county," Johnson said prior to sentencing. "The defendant also minimizes his actions."

Lee's wife, Tamara S. Lee, will be sentenced Sept. 12.

Hintz and Koch selected as members for UNL band

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln's 300-member Cornhusker Marching Band makes its 2017 debut Sept. 2 at Memorial Stadium with pregame and halftime performances at Nebraska's football season opener against Arkansas State.

This year's band includes representatives from nearly every region of the country; however, 78 percent of the students are from Nebraska. Twenty-two percent of the students are music or music education majors. The rest are studying in more than 60 other degree programs across campus. Each band member passed two auditions to gain admittance to the group.

Anthony M. Falcone, associate director of bands in the Glenn Korff School of Music, is the director of the Cornhusker Marching Band. Douglas W. Bush is the assistant director of bands and assistant marching band director. Carolyn Barber, Ron and Carol Cope Professor of Music, is director of bands. Other band staff members are graduate teaching assistants Sarah Aymond, Christopher Brandt and Ruben Gomez. Mike Roe is the percussion instructor, and Michaela Vestecka is the color guard instructor. Rose Johnson is the administrative technician, Jan Deaton is the office associate, and Nolan Schmit is the "voice" of the band.

The drum majors for the 2017 marching band are sophomore Jacob Coughlin and senior Megan Coughlin, brother and sister from Omaha, and junior Rachel Hoffman of Beatrice. The twirler is junior Hannah Kollmann of Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

The Cornhusker Marching Band, which resides in the Korff School, was founded in 1879 as an ROTC unit and is one of the oldest marching bands in the nation. The band has received many honors throughout its 138-year history, including a Distinguished Recognition Trophy presented by John Philip Sousa in 1927 and the John Philip Sousa Foundation's Sudler Trophy in 1996 for high musical standards and innovative marching routines. The Sudler Trophy is the highest honor given to collegiate bands.

The Pride of All Nebraska has been seen by millions of viewers on television. The band was the first collegiate ensemble to perform at all of the major football bowl games (Rose, Orange, Fiesta, Sugar and Cotton).

The following area students were selected as 2017 Cornhusker Marching Band members:

Benjamin Hintz of Hebron, trombone, senior, agronomy, agribusiness, horticulture and mathematics.

Ryan Koch of Hebron, trumpet, freshman, political science.

Obituaries

Steven Hoffmeyer

Steven Ray Hoffmeyer of Grand Island, formerly of Deshler, passed away peacefully at his home in Grand Island, on August 24, 2017, at the age of 70. Steve was born on May 27, 1947, in Deshler, to Ernest and Rose (Ray) Hoffmeyer.

He attended Deshler High School and graduated in the class of 1965. During his summers in high school, Steve worked for Miller Land Leveling surveying land and operating heavy equipment. Steve went on to receive his associates degree in drafting technology at Southeast Community College in Milford.

After graduating, Steve moved to Seattle, Wash., where he was employed as a draftsman at The Boeing Company where he performed drawing revisions and electrical wiring checks on aircraft. Steve moved back to Deshler where he went to work for Reinke Manufacturing performing design and production on center pivots, fertilizer trailers, churches and banks. After working for Reinke's, he managed the family business, Ray Mausoleum Company.

In January of 1970, Steve was united in marriage with Pam (Drews) Hoffmeyer in Hebron. Together they had five children, Ross, Ryan, Preston, and (twins) Amanda and Drew.

In 1996, Steve moved to Grand Island where he worked for Hornady Manufacturing until 2012 when he retired.

Steve was a warm, thoughtful soul with a great sense of humor. He enjoyed hunting, shooting, collecting guns, camping, boating and had an overall love for outdoor activities. Steve always looked forward to visiting with his kids, grandkids, family and friends. He also appreciated and had a fine eye for motorcycles, hot rods, and classic cars, whether it was riding his motorcycle, going to car shows or simply talking with other enthusiasts.

Someone recently said, "Steve was a really great guy with a big heart. Every time I was around him, he always had a funny remark or anecdote that made me laugh. He genuinely cared for us and even more for his grandkids. His funniest moments were always his answers and observations to questions or stories... more than a few caught me off guard."

Steve was member and council member of Peace Lutheran Church, life member of the NRA, life member of North American Hunting Club, member of the Beatrice Gun Club, member of the Grand Island Skeet Club, past President and member of the Spring Creek Gun Club, member of Quail Unlimited, Pheasants Forever, past vice-president and member of Ducks Unlimited, member of the Elks club and member of the Izaak Walton League.

Steve was extremely loving and proud of his children, Ross and wife Kristen (grandson, Gabriel) of Norfolk, Ryan and wife Theresa (grandchildren Kelton, Ella, Broderick) of Phoenix, Ariz., Preston and wife Michaela (grandchildren Kaius, Berkeley, Zeplin) of Omaha, daughter Amanda of Lincoln, and Drew and wife Megan (grandsons Kingston and Beckham) of Lincoln. He is also survived by his sisters, Cynthia and husband Lee Taylor of Hot Springs, S.D., and Kimberly and husband Dave Pace of Council Bluffs, Iowa, Pamela (Drews) Hoffmeyer of Lincoln; as well as nieces, nephews, cousins, and many friends.

Titans win over Tri-County

The Thayer Central Titans answered to a 70-0 loss in their first game of the season with a 30-20 win over Tri-County in the second game Sept. 1.

"This was an elite response by our kids, especially after our starting running back/corner back got hurt early and didn't return," Coach Jereme Jones said. "We had a lot of guys see huge improvements from last week."

Scoring for the Titans was junior Phillip Price, who was good for two touchdowns; senior Tim Schulte, who stepped into running back for the first time and was good for another two in the end zone; and junior Zach Koss with his sole touchdown.

Price also had three fumble recoveries and 19 tackles. Schulte had 74 yards in rushing to his credit and Koss was third in line for yards at 46 for receiving. Senior Max Madsen had a total of 125 yards between rushing and passing.

"Our O-line and D-line made big plays as well," Jones said.

Senior Seth Mumford tied

Price for the 19 tackles. He was followed by junior Gabe Haase, who had 15 tackles; junior Jarod Hergott with 14; and Schulte, 11. Haase also had two sacks.

In fumble recovery, Schulte, Haase, junior Keith Hergott and senior Brendan Fangmeier all logged one each.

"Tri-County is a very physical, well-coached team and made it a tough game. I couldn't be prouder of our guys for showing the resolve they did in getting this win," Jones said.

Zach Koss takes Tri-County's Cooper Smith to task at an away game Sept. 1. Racking up tackles for the night were Phillip Price, Seth Mumford, Jarod Hergott, Tim Schulte, Gabe Haase, Brendan Fangmeier and Koss.

The Titan defense made big plays against the Trojans to help win the game 30-20.

Off-season practice pays off

In the final game of the Eagle triangular with Exeter-Milligan and Hampton Aug. 31, the Bruning-Davenport Shickley Lady Eagles faced E-M players, who had defeated Hampton.

The Eagles took the first set 25-18, dropped the second, 25-20, and won the third, 25-22.

Leading in scoring for the E-M game were Caitlin Mosier with nine points and Regan Alfs with eight.

Carley Elznic knocked the ball for eight kills. Alfs had seven.

Kim Ardissono and Jadyn Kleinschmidt rounded out with five blocks each. Macy

Kamler had four blocks.

In assists, it was Kleinschmidt with 14 and Alfs with 12.

Kamler topped out with 14 digs.

Coach Kari Jo Alfs was impressed with the Eagles' two victories over the two rated teams in the state.

"It was very honoring as the girls put in a lot of time in the off-season, however, we still have a lot of room for improvement," Alfs said.

Alfs said the girls came out tight and nervous, and that was the reason they dropped the first set 25-18 to Hampton.

"We settled down and played like I knew we were capable of. We came back and won the second set, 25-11," Alfs said.

The girls pushed forward and went on to take the third set as well, 25-15.

Alfs scored seven against Hampton; Kleinschmidt, six with two aces; and Megan Grote made four points.

Elznic was hot on the kills with 15. Alfs had six kills and Kleinschmidt, five.

Digs went to Grote, who had 15; Kamler followed with eight; and Elznic went seven on the digs and she led in blocks with seven as well while Schardt slapped six.

Alfs logged 14 assists. Kleinschmidt was at 13.

Boys run to win in Superior

The Titan boys team garnered a win in their first cross country meet of the season.

"Being our first meet, the boys did a fantastic job," Coach Andy Long said. "I was hoping that we could get five boys in the top 20, so it was very exciting to see them finish within 35 seconds of each other, second through sixth."

All improved their times from last year as well, Long added.

Aubrey Fangmeier, 3rd place

Keegan Casey was the first to come in for the Titans in second place in a time of 18:32.9. Aubrey Fangmeier followed for third place in 18:46.8. Damian Stewart was fourth at 19:01.4; Dylan Fischer, fifth, with a time of 19:04.3; and Trey Fischer had a time of 19:07.4 for sixth place.

"If the boys can run in this pack throughout the year, they will be very competitive in upcoming meets," Long said.

The girls did well, too, Long said.

"I was very happy with our girls. Kylie and Kaizley both ran faster than last year on this course," he said.

Kylie Pachta was ninth in 23:42.9. Kaizley Krupicka was next in 16th place in a time of 24:17.4. Remaining times were McKenzie Johnson, 26:56.5, and Jo Jo Cercic at 43:03.9.

Back to the boys, Long said with five freshmen out and 124 runners in the race, Andrew Heinrichs, Luke Templin, Andrew Landsmann and Wyatt Wiedel ran well.

"Juda Acuna is a first-year member on our team and turned in a steady race for his first time. Isaac Friesen and Gabe Elting both improved their times from a year ago and Malik Pfingsten ran about the same time as he did last year," Long reported.

The remainder of results are as follows:

Keegan Casey, 2nd place

Heinrichs, 31st place, 21:01.9; Templin, 35th place, 21:36.3; Landsmann, 68th, 23:29.1; Wiedel, 78th, 24:12.8; Cooper Casey, 100th, 26:28.7; Friesen, 108th, 27:56.9; Acuna, 114th, 30:29.9.

Titan girls win season opener

The Thayer Central Lady Titans took their season opener over the Tri-County Trojans, 25-23; 25-23; and 25-17 for the match.

"We started slowly, but we were able to overcome our jitters to prevail over a scrappy and persistent Tri-County team," Coach Amy Harris said. "We need to do a better job right out of the blocks."

The last set saw 11 kills, eight assists, 15 digs, five aces and two blocks as the team settled in, Harris added.

In kills, it was Emily Welch with 14. Maggie Harris racked up 10.

Team captain Jena Cottam, who helped the team stay focused and excited, along with co-captains, Hailley Wilshausen and Grace Souerdyke, led with Harris in serve assists for 14.

Emily Welch and Souerdyke followed with 13 and 11, respectively. Maddison Williams and Katelyn

Richardson had nine assists each.

In ace serves, Harris pounded three, Welch and Cottam hit two each and Williams, one.

Welch also got under the ball 16 times for digs. Cottam had 11.

For blocked shots, Harris gated two and Welch, one.

"The Lady Titans put together a team effort to make improvement throughout the evening," Coach Harris said.

Seniors score against Santee

The 77-12 score for the Deshler Dragons over Santee Sept. 1 wasn't about the win - everyone contributed, Coach Carson Klute said.

"Everyone got some much needed experience in a varsity game," Klute said. "If we want to have the type of season we are capable of, we will need everyone to contribute in some way."

Klute was pleased with the Dragon recovery of the kickoff and scoring on the next couple of offensive snaps.

It was a good day for the seniors as Corben Jacobe, Grant Hansen, Brady Fangmeyer and Ryan Brandt were able to find the end zone in a variety of ways.

The team had just two completed passes, giving

Peyton Dubbert a perfect rating for the season thus far.

"Our primary focus is stopping the run, so we did that pretty well, although there were a handful of plays, where we took off and forgot our assignments," Klute said.

The Dragons are looking forward to their homecoming game against Maywood-Hayes Center Sept. 8.

Ryan Brandt ran the ball while Peyton Dubbert kept an eye out. The Deshler Dragons won their first game of the season, 77-12.

Belvidere

By Linda Hudson

The legacy of Dr. Walter Reiss, graduate of Belvidere High School, was recently honored by the Lodi, California, Salvation Army Corps by sponsoring a golf tournament in memory of Dr. Walter E. Reiss for all that he did for their community and the Salvation Army.

He was a longtime practicing physician and was very aware of the medical needs of the poor and homeless. He started a clinic virtually out of a medical bag offering free services on the streets for the homeless. He began doing this in 1988.

Walt became involved with a group called "Fellowship in Action" who opened a homeless shelter with a clinic where he provided medical care for those without insurance. In 1996, the Salvation Army acquired the clinic and moved it into the Salvation Army where Dr. Reiss continued his incredible dedication to those without medical care. This evolved into the Walter E. Reiss Medical Clinic, which is alive and well today at 300 Oak Street in Lodi.

He was a Salvation Board member for many years and received many awards for his work and dedication to the sick and injured. Walt's life was based on his strong faith and his credo was "To whom much is given, much should be returned in giving back."

Walt remained true to Nebraska, Thayer County, the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers and to his hometown of Belvidere. His legacy lives on throughout our lifetime. His early death was due to cancer. If he were still living today, it is for real that he would be supporting the upcoming Cattlemen's Ball in June 2018 dedicated to finding the cure for cancer. Whipping it down the Road!

If the first week of September is any indication of what is to come, everyone's calendar is probably already full. Labor Day came and went. As the old saying goes, no more wearing of white after this weekend. So the white shoes, purses, jackets, will be tucked to the back of the closet for another year. The sweatshirts will soon be making their debut.

The Nebraska volleyball team got back to their winning ways over the weekend.

The Husker football game didn't disappoint with the ending score. However the critics will probably still have their say. After the game, the prediction of the Husker-Oregon game has already changed. Before the game, the point spread was only about six points. Now it has edged up to 14 points in favor of Oregon.

The media was unhappy with Diaco as he didn't take time to talk to them after the Arkansas game. However, Mike Riley said that this happened because there was a communication gap between him and the defensive coordinator. Can you imagine the feeling Mike Riley had when he saw the on-side kick fail and Arkansas had a chance to win the game?

This weekend has been a good one but it is no match for the upcoming one. Coming are high school games, York Fest (where the BD band plays) and of course Carleton's Milo Day, a wedding and the Miss America pageant. The town of Belvidere will all be rooting for Chester's Miss Nebraska. Good luck is being wished to our Thayer County girl. Can you imagine our rural county in Southeast Nebraska being represented on the big stage?

The Thayer County Livestock members gathered at the Community Center last Tuesday evening to continue to plan for their big gala the Cattlemen's Ball to be held June 1-2, "Whip Cancer Down the Road." Some of the Feeders fried hamburgers and prepared the beans. Audrey Else and Linda Dudgeon, friends of the Feeders served the meal.

Belvidere was adorned with the iron replica of spurs denoting the coming of the biggest affair of the coming year. It was reported that soon tickets can be purchased online.

On Sept. 3, volunteers of the history committee for the event met at the Hergott building in Hebron. The meeting was called by Greg Wiedel so plans could be started to implement the history tent at the fund raiser. Linda Simonsen was appointed chairman. She will begin investigating information of the Oregon Trail and other history that is pertinent to this southeast area of our state. It was also mentioned that as of now there are five other counties contributing to the event's success.

The annual meeting of the Belvidere Community Center board will be held at the Community Center on Sept. 12, at 6:30 p.m., to discuss items of business. Then at 7 p.m., they will meet with the attorney to set the budget for the upcoming year. Officers are Linda Hudson, Carol Aude and Bob Else. Other members include Kent and Jackie Williamson and Tom Priefert. Anyone else is invited to attend.

The Thayer County Historical Society met last Wednesday evening at the museum where they finalized the plans for the museum's Fall Festival Sunday on September 24.

It was reported that the Mercantile room on the third floor has been repainted and ceiling fixed. When school was being carried on, this was known as the Assembly Room. It is now full of many historical items such as you would find in a General Store, meat cutter, cash registers, typewriters, old advertising, bank window, barber chair, antique beauty shop items and many items from Dr. Penry's office in Hebron.

Mike Thieme, car show manager reported that he had much interest in the car show on that day. Anyone interested should call the museum.

The Gene Dudgeons visited their daughter's family in Colorado last week. They are managers of several fast food venues in areas around Loveland, Colorado.

Larry and Suzanne Avers, their daughter Sierra, and children returned to Nebraska on Friday to visit Larry's mother, LaDonna Avers.

Ardys and Jeff Dunsmoor of York had a family party on Saturday evening. Those attending were Larry and Audrey Mathiesen of Lincoln, Nic Dunsmoor of Hebron, Nathan Avers and Nathaniel of York, Annie and Nick Korth and children of Newman Grove and Linda Hudson. Some of the evening was spent watching the Nebraska game. The Avers family left for their home at Spirit Lake, Idaho.

Many game goers enjoyed the Cornhusker marching band which has local youth participating. For certain, Ben Hintz, the Ray Asche's granddaughter and Dean Baker's grandson. Sure there are more but these names came to mind.

Thoughts are still with the suffering people of Texas. It sounds as if the East Coast of our country might be having to get ready for the next hurricane, Irma. It all matters whether it curves toward the land or stays out to sea. All this going on, but we here in Nebraska can't seem to catch a rain.

Wonder what this next week in the neighborhood will bring? Will we all be winners? Hope so!

See what's cooking every week

Economic Development News

By Diane Wettstein, Executive Director
Thayer County Economic Development Alliance

It seems like the months are just flying by, and there is never enough time in the day to catch up with or get all the things accomplished that are on my to-do list. My list seems to just keep growing which is a good thing, I think!

The past few weeks I have had many events, professionally and personally. Mama Am's Daycare held their Open House on the 9th of August. It was a nice day for watermelon and snacks. If you were unable to stop by during the open house, give Amber a call, she would love to show off the accomplishments that have been made at her childcare facility.

Since Amber opened she has had no problem with filling her spots with children, and is currently full with 12 children. TCEDA is very happy with the success she and her family have had with Mama Am's. As anyone knows, the time you put into starting a business is not all glory, but the end achievement is outstanding.

Wade and Amber have put in long hours to meet state requirements in order to have the facility licensed for Home II certification. The facility showcases the love that Amber gives to the children she takes care of. Each day time is scheduled to work on age appropriate curriculum, along with fine motor skills, and just down right fun. Step inside and you will see that Dr. Seuss is the main theme throughout the learning center. Most of the artwork was painted by Amber along with friends, and prior teachers and mentors. Alice in Wonderland lines the eating/craft area.

Amber has her Associates degree in Early Childcare Learning and has been providing childcare for over nine years. Branching out on her own was a big step, but she is very proud of what has been accomplished. Her husband Wade, though he has put in many hours of sweat equity himself, pulled off a surprise for Amber when he unveiled the new signage for Mama Am's Early Learning Center at the Open House event. It was great to see Wade, Amber and their kids surrounded by family and friends to be there and support this event. I myself felt privileged to be a small part of the Open House and to have represented TCEDA at the event and along the way.

Each week I try to post updates to the TCEDA Facebook page and our website, TCEDA.org. The website is up and running thanks to the awesomeness of Art Whitton. I am still adding information and making changes and hope to soon have it where the updates are the only thing that is being made.

A bulk of the recent page updates have been for Nebraska Shrimp Company. Dietrich gave me a tour the last two times I have been out to the site, and I cannot believe the changes that are happening so quickly now. Last time I swung by, the electrical for the lighting was being installed, the tin was being finished up on the building, and the color for the gutters and trim is picked out, thanks in large part to Grandma Brinegar. Dietrich is hoping to be able to have shrimp in by harvest time. Let's keep our fingers crossed.

TCEDA Vice President Heather Ramsey and myself attended a webinar hosted by Nebraska Community Foundation along with Red Cloud Community Foundation to better understand just how Red Cloud was able to put together a plan and a fund for a new community center/daycare learning facility. This facility will be completed in December of 2017, and it will host a preschool, daycare, and community events area.

When looking at working on a daycare center in the northern part of the county, something that we deal with is that time does not move quickly when working on such a large project. Red Cloud spent five years in making their dream of a quality early childcare and learning facility come true. Even though their facility is a lot more than what we are hoping to accomplish, it still takes the same amount of time, devotion, and volunteers to see the dream come true. I can speak for myself and Heather that we have been diligently working on the daycare for the past five months and remain dedicated to the goal at hand of having a quality early childcare facility in the northern part of Thayer County which includes Davenport, Bruning and Carleton and anyone in and around those communities.

At this time, we have explored several site locations, and had many conversations with persons interested in working at a quality childcare facility. With any childcare location, the Fire Marshall is at the top of the list to contact in determining whether a site is viable and if so what may need to be added or corrected to meet state codes.

The Fire Marshall is just one of many steps to get started on the foundation of a daycare. Money is also a large portion of the planning process. Where are the funds going to come from? What can be donated? Who will operate the daycare? How many staff will be needed? These are the questions that pop up time and time again to be asked and often we just don't have the answers to give out yet. Just remember we are still in the early stages of determining site and going from there. The first stage was the easiest, an idea, from there on all we can do is grow the idea and make it happen.

We have had several meetings to present the data that Heather Ramsey has gathered and the numbers that are affected currently by lack of daycare in the area to interested parties. With that being said, we are not limiting our venture to just one site location. You always need a backup plan to continue to strive to see a project accomplished. I know personally how many hours Heather has put in and why she is determined to get this done. When you are in need of daycare in your area and there just isn't enough, it makes it hard to keep your children together at the same location. TCEDA and supporters want to see this project succeed and believe that it can be done, but it does take time.

Update on the Bruning Fire Department's new hall: The station at the site that will be used for the new facility has been leveled and cleaned up, tanks unearthed and removed from the ground, any contaminated dirt has been removed, and new fill dirt laid. It does make a change to that corner from seeing the old station that was a special landmark to many, to now having an empty lot waiting for a new venture. Fundraising is in the process to help reach monetary goals and information on how you can donate will soon be coming out.

The Cattlemen's Ball of Nebraska coming to Thayer County in June 2018 is the biggest news I know in the county. What an honor for this area to be able to help make an impact on finding a cure for cancer! Randy and Becky Hergott are hosting the event. Rob and Natalie Marsh are co-hosting, with assistance from so many people and businesses near and far. I am super excited to see what this brings to the county. Thayer County itself is on a mission to get in top notch condition for the event along with the surrounding towns and counties. The goal for The Cattlemen's Ball of Nebraska for 2018 is to host 5,000 people in attendance and raise 1.5 million dollars.

Next article I hope to report on a few other projects in the works and always remember TCEDA is here to help answer questions and assist when possible, just give us a call or email.

Speaker visits Bruning

Jeff Yalden, a nationally-recognized motivational speaker, discussed everything from depression to life skills to kick off the school year with Bruning High School students. Yalden is known for his blunt approach with teenagers and targets three points: teens should value themselves, watch their attitudes and make good choices using the four "T's," Take Time To Think.

National Epilepsy Awareness Month

November is National Epilepsy Awareness Month. Epilepsy affects about two million people in the United States. Epilepsy is a disorder in which a person has two or more unprovoked seizures. Unprovoked means the seizures are not brought on by a clear cause such as drug withdrawal, heart problems, or extremely low blood sugar. In other words, epilepsy is a condition of recurrent, unprovoked seizures.

Epilepsy is more common than you might think. According to the Epilepsy Foundation, millions of Americans are living with the condition. Although it can strike either sex at any age, epilepsy is most often diagnosed in children and in older adults. As you age, your risk for epilepsy also increases. The seizures may result from a hereditary tendency or a brain injury, but often the cause is unknown. Many use the term "seizure disorder" instead because "epilepsy." However, almost all seizure disorders are epilepsy.

People with epilepsy experience brief disturbances in the normal electrical functioning of their brain. This can affect the entire brain, which is called generalized epilepsy, or just part of it, known as partial epilepsy. When these strong surges of electrical activity occur, they affect the consciousness, movement patterns, and sensations during episodes called seizures. Although many people have seizures, not all of them are epileptic.

The source of epilepsy is the human brain. Although the symptoms of a seizure may affect any part of the body, the event that produces the symptoms occurs in the brain. Where in the brain the event happens, how it spreads and how long it lasts all determine the type of seizure and its impact on the individual.

So why do people develop epilepsy? Unfortunately, researchers don't have all of the answers, and for the majority there are no known causes. Because the causes of epilepsy are so varied, establishing a medical history is usually one of the first steps a physician will take when diagnosing the condition.

Epilepsy isn't like heart disease or cancer, where certain lifestyle habits can affect your level of risk and allow you to take preventive measures against developing these conditions. Epilepsy can affect anybody. Because one of the causes may be a brain injury, it is important to protect yourself and your family from a head injury as much as possible. You should always wear a helmet when doing certain activities. This means the whole family, not just the kids.

Managing a condition like epilepsy can be complex and frustrating. Sometimes, seizures make it hard to work, go to school, drive, and take part in social activities. Sometimes epilepsy treatment makes these activities harder, too. How epilepsy is perceived or how people are treated can often be a bigger problem than the seizures.

The Chelsea Hutchison Foundation that serves individuals and families affected by epilepsy, is hosting a "Stomp Out Epilepsy" 5K on Sunday, September 24, starting at 2 p.m., at the Fire Hall in Hebron. For more information visit STOMPNebraska.org.

Wehrbein...

When she graduated as an LPN in 1967, nurses wore dresses, white support socks and lace-up shoes, topped off with a cap.

"They wanted women to look very professional back then. I was told no earrings and the only jewelry we could wear was a wedding band and watch with a second hand," Wehrbein said.

The home-health nurse also remembers a black pen was used to chart for the dayshift, a green pen was used for the afternoon shift and red for the nightshift.

Patients were admitted the night before their surgeries and very few men were nurses. Cancer was a "death sentence."
 Wehrbein has been on both sides of the health world — she was diagnosed with colon cancer.

"They got it all and I didn't need treatments," she said.

They find out what's wrong sooner, she added.

What has impressed Wehrbein over the years is the advancements in cataract surgery.

"They used to put sandbags on the sides of your head. They wanted you perfectly flat," she said, which led her to the cranking of the beds.

"Now, it's automatic. They can weigh you in bed," she said.

Test results to become a practical nurse used to take weeks. Those testing in today's world of computer tests immediately know if they passed or not.

Wehrbein said she would tell young people who want to be nurses what a great career she has seen.

She said there is a shortage of nurses in Nebraska and Roseann Wehrbein in 1967 as a licensed practical nurse.

2,000 are needed to replace the retiring nurses.

"So much of the stuff you learn you use with your family. It's rewarding to see patients come in and not feeling well and they just need someone to say, 'It's going to get better,'" she said.

She loves the learning. Every day she is at work she learns something.

"It keeps your mind active. You just feel good about seeing that patient do well and recover. This is a very rewarding profession," she said.

In addition to celebrating 50 years, Wehrbein also rang in her 70th birthday and a new grandson born Aug. 10 via a surprise party.

A friend told her they were going to garage sales in Chester and said she had to stop by the Hebron Country Club, but needed Wehrbein to go inside with her.

"It was a surprise and an exciting time for me and very emotional," she recalled.

Officer...

his passenger fled the car in different directions.

LaVernway went after the driver under Hall's lead. Hall pursued the passenger, 20-year-old Manual Mondragon, who ran up a flight of stairs behind a building to the second-floor landing and hid behind a stack of wood. During the pursuit, Hall fired a warning shot.

As Hall reached the landing, Mondragon suddenly jumped out and fired three times at Hall, hitting him in the stomach, left chest and hips, from a little more than an arm's length away.

Hall managed to club Mondragon over the head with his shotgun. It is unknown why Hall chose not to fire. He may have not been able to considering his proximity to Mondragon and the narrow landing. It's also possible the gun wasn't recharged after Hall fired the warning shot.

Instead of using his shotgun and not removing his sidearm from its holster, Hall hit the man and thought he was down, so Hall turned around and started down the stairs. But Mondragon got up and went after Hall, who spun around and fired, fracturing Mondragon's pelvis, wounding him in the head, chest and arms and causing him to drop his gun.

Hall then went in search of his partner.

LaVernway had heard the shots and was heading Hall's way. He heard Hall say he'd been shot and could see Hall had been wounded at least twice when Hall was back in the police car before he was rushed to Denver General Hospital.

The shooting went out over the airwaves at 1:20 a.m. Officers in seven police cars responded, along with two cars of detectives.

The man LaVernway had chased, Charles Montoya, age 20, literally ran out of his low-cut moccasin type shoes. He hid out at a truck body company and stashed one of two stolen guns. Montoya and Mondragon had broken into a car three days prior and took two handguns. Mondragon had the other gun, the one used to shoot Hall.

Mondragon was taken to the hospital for his wounds. He was interrogated during treatment and the two lead investigators discovered a third person who had participated in an aggravated robbery.

When asked if he knew Hall was a police officer, Mondragon said yes.

"I recognized his uniform all right," he told investigators.

Mondragon was charged with second degree murder. He was already a felon for burglaries. This time around, Mondragon was also charged with being a habitual offender, which carried a mandatory life sentence.

Mondragon's first trial was over in a flash because

a defense attorney erred in outlining to prospective jurors the penalties for murder and manslaughter.

The second trial saw Mondragon's attorneys basing their defense on self-defense. Prosecutors were going for first-degree murder.

Montoya and the third person to partner with he and Mondragon, Robert Kimball, were transported from their cells to testify. Each had been sentenced to 25 to 35 years for the robbery. In testifying, both either invoked the Fifth Amendment or claimed they didn't remember anything.

Eventually, the jury was taken to the crime scene, where the shooting was reconstructed. Entered into evidence was Mondragon's signed confession.

After the trial, the jury deliberated for six hours and found Mondragon guilty of second degree murder. The judge's immediate sentence was 25 to 50 years in prison. A surprise from the conviction was Mondragon didn't receive the death penalty, court officials said.

The same day Mondragon was found guilty, a minor accused of slaying a police officer in a Denver community was also convicted. He was sentenced to life in prison.

Mondragon had to return to court for the robbery and the habitual offender charge. He ended up receiving life in prison plus 25 to 35 years for the robbery. The sentence was later reduced to 25 years to life. He was sent to the state hospital two years later and diagnosed with schizophrenic hrenic reaction, chronic undifferentiated type. Mondragon was at the hospital until his release. He died in 1995.

Hall's funeral service was held at Olinger's Mortuary Chapel in Colorado and he was buried at Crown Hill Cemetery in Wheat Ridge, Colo.

His mother, Daisey Hall, died in 1974 and is buried across from Hall. Mary Hall never remarried and is buried next to her husband. She died in 1978.

The year Hall was killed, 104 other officers were killed in the line of duty. Hall was the 46th Denver Police officer to die while doing his duty and the 10th to die in the area where he was shot, dating back to 1891.

To contact Hesse on any leads for relatives of Hall, call 303-495-9718.

Officer...

his passenger fled the car in different directions.

LaVernway went after the driver under Hall's lead. Hall pursued the passenger, 20-year-old Manual Mondragon, who ran up a flight of stairs behind a building to the second-floor landing and hid behind a stack of wood. During the pursuit, Hall fired a warning shot.

As Hall reached the landing, Mondragon suddenly jumped out and fired three times at Hall, hitting him in the stomach, left chest and hips, from a little more than an arm's length away.

Hall managed to club Mondragon over the head with his shotgun. It is unknown why Hall chose not to fire. He may have not been able to considering his proximity to Mondragon and the narrow landing. It's also possible the gun wasn't recharged after Hall fired the warning shot.

Instead of using his shotgun and not removing his sidearm from its holster, Hall hit the man and thought he was down, so Hall turned around and started down the stairs. But Mondragon got up and went after Hall, who spun around and fired, fracturing Mondragon's pelvis, wounding him in the head, chest and arms and causing him to drop his gun.

Hall then went in search of his partner.

LaVernway had heard the shots and was heading Hall's way. He heard Hall say he'd been shot and could see Hall had been wounded at least twice when Hall was back in the police car before he was rushed to Denver General Hospital.

The shooting went out over the airwaves at 1:20 a.m. Officers in seven police cars responded, along with two cars of detectives.

The man LaVernway had chased, Charles Montoya, age 20, literally ran out of his low-cut moccasin type shoes. He hid out at a truck body company and stashed one of two stolen guns. Montoya and Mondragon had broken into a car three days prior and took two handguns. Mondragon had the other gun, the one used to shoot Hall.

Mondragon was taken to the hospital for his wounds. He was interrogated during treatment and the two lead investigators discovered a third person who had participated in an aggravated robbery.

When asked if he knew Hall was a police officer, Mondragon said yes.

"I recognized his uniform all right," he told investigators.

Mondragon was charged with second degree murder. He was already a felon for burglaries. This time around, Mondragon was also charged with being a habitual offender, which carried a mandatory life sentence.

Mondragon's first trial was over in a flash because

a defense attorney erred in outlining to prospective jurors the penalties for murder and manslaughter.

The second trial saw Mondragon's attorneys basing their defense on self-defense. Prosecutors were going for first-degree murder.

Montoya and the third person to partner with he and Mondragon, Robert Kimball, were transported from their cells to testify. Each had been sentenced to 25 to 35 years for the robbery. In testifying, both either invoked the Fifth Amendment or claimed they didn't remember anything.

Eventually, the jury was taken to the crime scene, where the shooting was reconstructed. Entered into evidence was Mondragon's signed confession.

After the trial, the jury deliberated for six hours and found Mondragon guilty of second degree murder. The judge's immediate sentence was 25 to 50 years in prison. A surprise from the conviction was Mondragon didn't receive the death penalty, court officials said.

The same day Mondragon was found guilty, a minor accused of slaying a police officer in a Denver community was also convicted. He was sentenced to life in prison.

Mondragon had to return to court for the robbery and the habitual offender charge. He ended up receiving life in prison plus 25 to 35 years for the robbery. The sentence was later reduced to 25 years to life. He was sent to the state hospital two years later and diagnosed with schizophrenic hrenic reaction, chronic undifferentiated type. Mondragon was at the hospital until his release. He died in 1995.

Hall's funeral service was held at Olinger's Mortuary Chapel in Colorado and he was buried at Crown Hill Cemetery in Wheat Ridge, Colo.

His mother, Daisey Hall, died in 1974 and is buried across from Hall. Mary Hall never remarried and is buried next to her husband. She died in 1978.

The year Hall was killed, 104 other officers were killed in the line of duty. Hall was the 46th Denver Police officer to die while doing his duty and the 10th to die in the area where he was shot, dating back to 1891.

To contact Hesse on any leads for relatives of Hall, call 303-495-9718.

Foundatin for Blue Valley Lutheran Homes golf tournament raises more than $7,000

The 12th Annual Foundation for Blue Valley Lutheran Homes Golf Tournament was held August 18 at the Hebron Country Club in Hebron, Nebraska. With a beautiful day and 76 golfers, the Tournament was a success; raising more than $7,000.

"We are so appreciative of the support we receive, particularly with the participation in our annual golf tournament," says Megan Hinrichs, Director of Development. "Everyone from individual donors, to players, sponsors, and volunteers step up to help make a difference. It's extremely gratifying, enabling us to address the needs of our residents."

The Foundation for Blue Valley Lutheran Homes Golf Tournament began in 2004, as a way to raise funds for remodeling and upgrade projects that normal operating expenses do not cover. This year's funds are earmarked for a handicap accessible golf cart. The golf cart will assist in transporting residents to appointments or shopping in Hebron, provide easy outings for residents to experience the outdoors more and look at local sights.

A beautifully sunny day with a nice breeze set the stage for a wonderful day with golfers enjoying the scramble competition, food and beverages, flag prizes, and a great golf experience. Golf teams came from Hebron, Daykin, Ruskin, Bruning, Deshler, Nelson, Davenport, Lincoln, Omaha and surrounding areas to participate in a day of relaxation and golf.

The tournament champion this year was the Dave Klauman, Gunner Mumford, Eric Krupicka, and Ryan Butler team with a score of 52. The first flight winners were the Crop Production Services of Chester team with members Jacob Wit, Trevor Wit, Tyler Wit and Adam Tipton with a score of 63. The second flight winner went to The Garbage Company and Norder Supply team with members Conner Hissong, Jake Feulner, Chad Priefert, and Tony Baines with a score of 72. Each flight winner was awarded a commemorative double walled mug.

We had wonderful sponsorship of the entire event and appreciate all that sponsored. Additionally the evening was capped off with a wonderful grilled hamburger and polish dog supper that was donated and cooked by NuStar Energy of Geneva, Nebraska.

The Foundation for Blue Valley Lutheran Homes would like to thank all of the sponsors, players, volunteers and donors for the tournament this year.
